Scenic Road walkway may be ready in a year

By MICHAEL GARDNER

IF ALL goes according to plan, about one year from now Carmel residents will be able to take a leisurely stroll along beachfront Scenic Road without battling cars every step.

The city will release the environmental impact report (EIR) for the approximately one-half mile walkway along the west side of Scenic Road next Thursday, Dec. 12.

A color rendering of the proposed walkway also is to be posted in the Carmel Post Office for public view.

And the Carmel Planning Commission will conduct a public hearing on the walkway plan at 2 p.m Wednesday, Dec. 18.

The walkway plan will be unveiled nearly 10 years after one was first proposed in the mid-1970s as part of a comprehensive Forestry and Beach Management Plan for the city.

"The roots of this project are in the Forestry and Beach Management Plan of the mid-1970s. Even back in those days the plan talked about an eventual walkway," explained Greg D'Ambrosio, director of administrative services.

The walkway idea never really materialized until after the winter storms of 1982-83 demolished the beach banks and threatened Scenic Road. As part of a long term beach repair plan, the city began to develop the walkway through studies by the Carmel Beach Rehabilitation Task Force.

The proposed walkway and accompanying landscaping is expected to cost about $870,000. The city also paid consultant Robert Royston $75,000 to prepare the plans and draft the environmental impact report.

The key issue in the EIR is expected to be parking and traffic because the walkway plan will shrink the width of Scenic Road and also eliminate about 54 parking spaces.

The walkway in several areas includes landscaped buffers between the pedestrian way and street. Spaces also are eliminated at the foot of Eighth and 13th avenues and replaced by landscaping.

"When they're coming down we didn't want their first views of the ocean to be a parking lot," explained consultant David Shonman.

Parking areas along Scenic Road also are spaced and interrupted by curves and landscaping so that there are not long rows of parked vehicles spoiling the scenery, he continued.

The plan will not detail whether the parking spaces will be timed.

"THAT'S UP to the council. That's an issue all to itself," D'Ambrosio said.

There will be two special handicapped spaces between Eighth and Ninth avenues.

The city will push sand up to those spaces so those who cannot easily walk or are in wheelchairs can enjoy the beach, Shonman said.

The design plan does not include any new trees for now because that responsibility has been assumed by the forestry commission,

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Letters to the editor are welcome. Views on all matters are acceptable, following the guidelines of good taste. While there is no limit on length, brevity is encouraged. Letters are subject to editing for style and length. Each letter must contain name, address and signature. A phone number is needed for verification only. Anonymous letters are not accepted, but names of letter writers may be withheld upon request.

Breakthrough in cooperation

Dear Editor:

Congratulations to the International Physicians for the Prevention of Nuclear War for winning the Nobel Peace Prize and to the co-presidents, Bernard Lown, professor of cardiology, Harvard School of Public Health, and Evgueni I. Chasoff, director general of Cardiological Research National Center, U.S.S.R., who were televised by PBS satellite accepting the prize on "Spacebridge," a real breakthrough in cooperation with the Soviets.

To hear "Where Have All the Flowers Gone," our great folk song made famous by Joan Baez, sung by a popular Soviet singer leading a large Soviet audience, answered by Etta James, our black singer, with the beautiful song, "Blue Green Hills of Earth," also leading a large audience, was a joyful experience. A videotape of "Spacebridge" is available by Beyond War.

The IPPNW consists of 135,000 physicians in 41 affiliated countries. Their medical prescription for survival is for every one of us to urge President Reagan to agree to a mutual test moratorium.

There are so many better ways of investing our money, resources and scientists than in more overkill. We are bankrupting ourselves as well as the world by this arms race.

Let's follow the medical prescription of 135,000 physicians. Send a postcard or letter to President Reagan to seize this opportunity to lower the threshold of nuclear extinction.

A memorable concert

Dear Editor:

I am not one who usually writes letters to an editor of a newspaper but after reading the poison pen of Ms. La Torra's review of the performance of the Monterey Bay Symphony Orchestra on Nov. 13, at Sunset Center, Carmel, I felt compelled to answer her rather inaccurate observations to the concert.

I still cannot believe that I attended the same concert Ms. La Torra professes to have attended. Surely if she did, she must have been in a truly ugly mood. She should have stayed home or refrained from taking her anger out in the form of an unfavorable commentary.

She insults just about everything and everybody in her review. The acoustics were "an unpleasant surprise"; the orchestra is "plagued with problems," and lastly she implies that the audience is stupid because they gave a standing ovation at the end of the concert. This, I feel, is irresponsible journalism and I think has no place in any publication with responsible nature.

I obviously feel that practically all of Ms. La Torra's observations were misfounded. The "Haffner" Symphony enjoyed a lovely reading by Maestro Kovalenko with a clean, crisp sound and was hardly "limpid." The tempo was brisk enough for anyone's taste rather than "on the slow side."

Kodaly's "Peacock Variations" are a wonderful display of orchestral colors, textures, and rhythms. The orchestra conveyed each of these different modes beautifully. Whatever rehearsal time was spent on this piece was well spent.

The Brahms Violin Concerto was one of the best readings I have ever heard in live performance. Violinist Dylana Jensen put all of her own bravura into this concerto. She is truly a great artist and I think we will be hearing a lot more of her as she becomes one of the major artists of today. I can only marvel at Maestro Kovalenko's accompaniment that allowed Ms. Jensen to display her individuality.

I think the audience responds to the overall spirit and energy of the performance and never should be criticized for showing its appreciation by standing at the end of a memorable concert. This orchestra has improved to such a degree that all the recognition and encouragement is well deserved. Bravo to the Monterey Bay Symphony and Oleg Kovalenko for a wonderful concert!

Fun-filled afternoons

Dear Editor:

My husband and I wish to thank Mr. Steve Taylor and the City of Carmel for coordinating the Winter Recreation Program at the River School.

Our grandson attends the program every day. He is provided with a supervised fun-filled afternoon. Whenever I have to pick him up he always wants to stay "just five more minutes."

Hopefully this program will become permanent this year. We are very fortunate to live in a city that realizes the needs of all age groups.

Unsightly 'barns'

Dear Editor:

How could the city allow those unsightly "barns" at the library? The library gardens cannot be viewed from the street level at Ocean and Lincoln, there are the same newspapers available at Dolores and Ocean and last, but not least, it was a wonderful spot to sit in the western sun and people-watch.

Where is the city council when we need them, or does someone have more than a passing interest in the "fishwrap" business? Please Help!

And yes, I know I capitalize when it's not correct, I'm trying to make a Point!

Saving water in Carmel

Dear Editor:

During a recent visit to Carmel I noticed considerable concern about the city's lack of water for future development.

I believe a huge amount of water could be saved by the motels and lodging facilities throughout the entire city of Carmel. I am directing attention to the water used to take showers in the bathrooms. Water-conserving shower heads would save a huge amount of water. You should check this out because the place where I spent the night could only be turned on at full force to get hot water!

Get on with annex

Dear Editor:

I think Mr. Greenwood correctly senses that perhaps no detached annex can solve many of the important library problems.

But, since the city council and the library board are at last agreed, let us encourage them to proceed with the across-the-street annex first, and thus solve many problems, and satisfy planning, mostly unconnected with a better main library.

Then, with the money out of the way, patrons can hope attention will concentrate on studies of the real problem — the most effective low-cost use of the present building, and, maybe, the garden. A good start has been made with the rearranged facilities at the library entrance, and the computerized book lending. And enormous space will be released when the children's library leaves.

Disagrees with critic

Dear Editor:

Jo Ann La Torra has lost all credibility — I shall not bother to read her column in the future. In the Nov. 21 Pine Cone, she wrote that the Monterey Bay Symphony played the Haffner "on the slow side," and with "poor intonation and sloppy attacks."

On the contrary, the orchestra played a most exciting Haffner under Kovalenko's fine direction. They played with great expression and shading, with good intonation and with considerable speed. I heard the rebroadcast on KBOQ also, and can't imagine how she could say those things.

In another review of hers (Nov. 28 Pine Cone) she criticized I Cantori Di Carmel, saying the singing at their recent concert was "adequate" and the orchestra "slightly less so." Egad — I Cantori is superb, and the orchestra made the Lord Nelson come alive in that wonderful old mission. Ms. La Torra — I disagree!

Spirit of reconciliation

Dear Editor:

As the recent controversy at the Mid Carmel Valley Fire Department concludes, I would like to try to put the situation in perspective.

Ed Haber has contributed many hours of his life toward creating and working for the department. His fellow board members have given a great deal of service to the community through the department. A spirit of reconciliation between all involved in the department dispute was in evidence by the end of the Nov. 14 meeting. I hope that we can move forward in this spirit, recognizing that many years of cooperation outweigh a few months of turmoil.

It was to everyone's credit at the meeting that those involved were working toward a solution which would benefit the community and were willing to put personal feelings aside to reach that goal.

Only 20 more shopping days left

CAN YOU believe there are only 20 more shopping days until Christmas?

I can. I'm reminded of it every day, in the newspapers, on the radio and television, on the streets, on billboards and handbills, even from my so-called friends...could skywriting be far behind?

Is it just me or does the "Christmas season" start a little earlier each year? I think the rule of thumb is that for every inch that California slips into the Pacific Ocean we celebrate an hour earlier, or something like that. I could have sworn that I heard "Jingle Bells" the day after Halloween, and speaking of Halloween I did see a few people dressed as Santa Claus during that week-long bacchanal. What do these people do on Christmas Day, dress as witches or bats?

Come to think of it, it's just around Halloween that I start feeling a bit Scroogish because I know that at any moment someone's going to come up to me and say "Happy Holidays!" or some such inanity, and ask me what I want for Christmas. Next we'll probably be hearing a disgustingly cheerful "Seasons Greetings!" on Labor Day.

I have a couple of ideas; we should either make Christmas a year-long celebration (the kids ought to like that one, although parents may have to sell the car, the cat and any loose kitchen appliances to make ends meet), or pass laws making it illegal to even think about uttering the words "Merry Christmas!" or (shudder) "Noel!" or buy silly ornaments and colorful wrapping paper until at least, say, the 20th of December. Make Christmas a one week-long holiday season instead of the current two-month and assess heavy penalties for early celebration and revelry, sort of like they do when you withdraw funds from your IRA early or rip the "Do Not Remove Under Penalty of Law" tag off your new mattress.

You may also have noticed that all those gratingly sunny holiday greetings are punctuated by exclamation marks; that's because you can't say those words without [illegible] effervescent and obssessively cheery. It just doesn't work with a phrase like "I'm feeling depressed!"

SO THERE you have it. Don't you think the world would be a much better place if we didn't all have to be so darn polite, cheerful and giving during the interminable Christmas season? Let's just get it over with and get on with 1986. Let's also pass up that artificial celebratory bummer called New Year's Eve, too. So what if the next day is going to be Jan. 1 of the next year? Do we celebrate May 31 or Feb. 28 too? No way, Jose. While we're at it, why don't we just skip all of 1986 and get on with 1987? Whattya say?

Now if anybody out there subscribes to (or even believes a word of) all of the above, you're a bigger Scrooge than old Ebeneezer ever was, so snap out of it, this is no dream. Remember, there are only 20 more shopping days until Christmas. Happy Holidays!!

City's Mission Ranch offer: folly or genius?

By MICHAEL GARDNER

A CARMEL City Council plan to buy Mission Ranch Resort is either the best proposal since the acquisition of Sunset Center or a foolhardy waste of the taxpayers' hard-earned money.

It just depends on who you talk to.

Although a previous $3.75 million offer — kept secret until a source disclosed the proposal to the Carmel Pine Cone/Carmel Valley Outlook last week — was rejected by Mission Ranch Corp. the council is continuing negotiations with the owners.

Reaction among some of the businesses, residents and ex-mayors in town is mixed, with most of the concern focused on how the city would pay for it, and why the council chose not to reveal the offer earlier.

"I might ask you the question, what do they need it for in the first place?" said former Mayor Barney Laiolo.

"And in the second place when are they going to stop throwing away taxpayers' money? They talk about getting grants from the government. Hell, that's the taxpayers' money too," Laiolo continued.

Actor and Carmel resident Clint Eastwood, just finished with a two-year-old battle with the city to get permission for a downtown building, was just as harsh as Laiolo in his criticism of the city plan.

"It's another in a long line of blatant disregards of the taxpayers' money. They do things behind closed doors. If the residents of this town tolerate it, I feel sorry," Eastwood said.

Eastwood added that he was "very interested" to read the council comments in last week's Pine Cone because of the diversity of statements.

Councilman Robert Stephenson called the offer "a bluff" while others said they didn't think the offer would be finalized until there were full public hearings and disclosure.

"And yet any kindergarten student could read that letter (City Administrator Doug Schmitz' letter that offers the $3.75 million) and know that it's a firm offer and not contingent on ratification by the public," Eastwood said.

If Mission Ranch Corp. had accepted that offer "they (the council) would have been obligated to perform," he said. "They must think we're stupid. Maybe we are because we voted them in in the first place."

Joan DeMers, vice president of the Carmel Business Association, said the council should have let the public know about a potential purchase before an offer was made.

DEMERS said that the business people she has talked to are concerned that the council continually uses tax monies for these projects and yet refuses to cooperate with merchants.

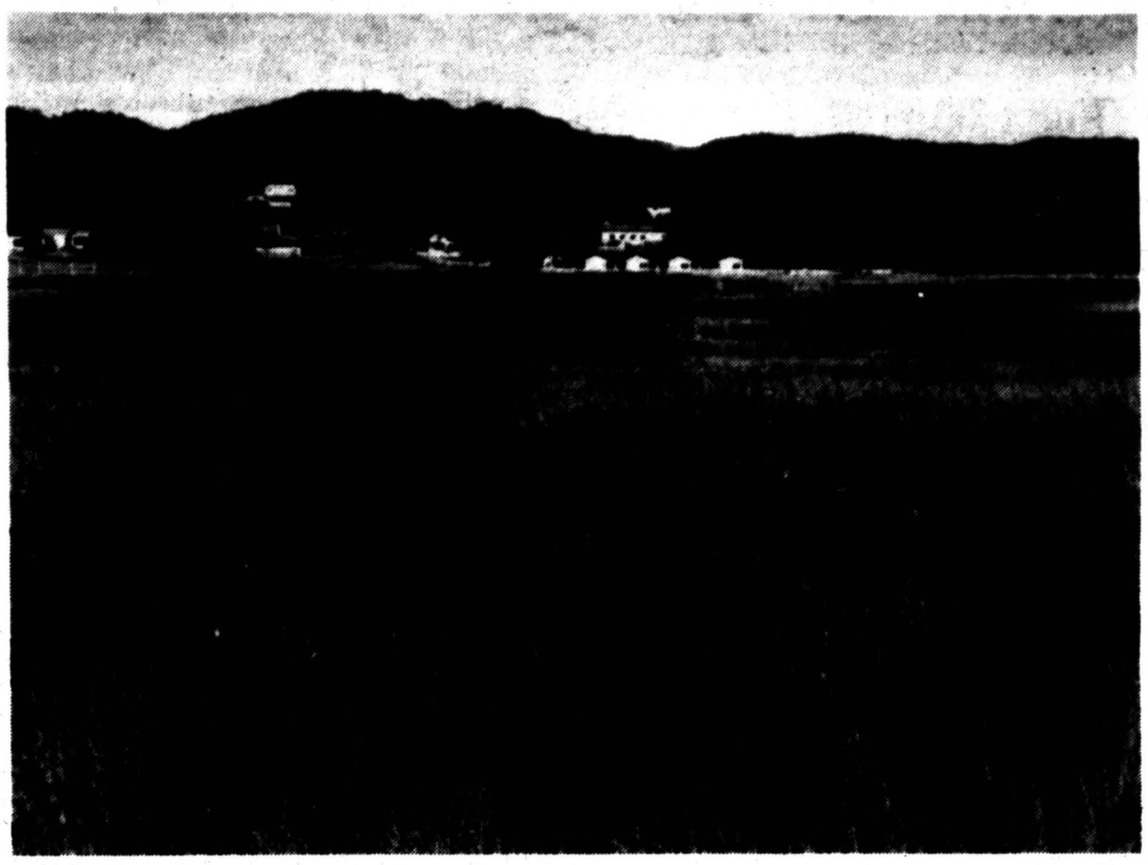
"It's a real dichotomy because if they had to depend on the residents to bring in the budgets they wouldn't be able to do this kind of thing," she said.

"Most people are outraged by it," DeMers added.

Matt Little, president of the Carmel Property Owners Association, said he has not seen full details of the proposal so it's difficult to comment. "I can't say I support it. I can't say I don't support it."

Little did say that "my personal opinion is the city sets the tone of residents versus business. I don't see how they can expect much cooperation with that kind of attitude. The communciation has to be there."

The property owners have a meeting scheduled for Dec. 13 and probably will discuss the proposal then, Little said.



THE WETLANDS area of Mission Ranch is a focal point of legal controversy. However, the city in its attempts to settle litigation with the Mission Ranch Corp. through purchase of the entire 20-acre site has created an uproar in town with some members of the community charging the council with wasting taxpayers' money while other members of the public embrace the idea wholeheartedly. (Photograph courtesy of Roger Fremier.)

Restaurateur Greg Cellitti said he wants to know what kind of long-range financial commitment the city would have to make after a purchase.

Cellitti said he could probably support the plan as long as "it pays for itself" and the city doesn't have to pump in dollars each year like it does with Flanders Mansion.

"I'm all for it being open space," he said.

Former Mayor Gunnar Norberg said he has "no decisive view" on the purchase proposal, but added "that's one way to deal with the problem" of development there.

Eleven-year resident Jane Shedlin said, "I think it's the most desirable piece of property

Carmel school administrators receive pay hike

By MICHAEL GARDNER

WHEN Carmel Middle School Assistant Principal Karl Pallastrini was hired this fall, his starting salary was $37,750 for 215 working days.

While at the same position in Pacific Grove, Pallastrini was paid $42,376 and about $45 monthly mileage for 210 working days plus 40 additional hours by arrangement.

This is just one of the pay discrepancies between the Carmel Unified School District and other local districts that was pointed out by the Carmel administrators during contract negotiations.

The school board apparently agreed with the administrators' sentiments that their salary was not keeping pace with other districts.

Trustees Nov. 26 unanimously approved a 4 percent salary increase retroactive to July 1 for the administrators: the school principals and assistant principals, district pyschologist and director of educational services. Teachers received a 4 percent pay hike in September.

Associate Superintendent Vance Baldwin is represented by the California School Administrators Association but had negotiated a two-year contract when he was hired earlier this year so the new package does not affect him until 1987-88. Supt. Robert Infelise negotiates directly with the board on his contract.

Also by a 4-1 margin with board President Doyle Clayton dissenting, trustees decreased the number of work days for most school administrators.

Previously all school administrators worked 215 days per year, but under the new contract only high school Principal Joe Feldeisen retains that requirement. New total work days are 212 for the high school assistant principal and middle school principal; and 210 for the middle school assistant principal and all elementary school principals.

The administrators had prepared a study of the Monterey Peninsula and Pacific Grove Unified School Districts that indicate Carmel administrators work more days for less pay than their local counterparts. (See accompanying graph.)

Administrators also hope in the future to rework the salary schedule, which they say their starting pay and top-scale are lower than most other similar districts. Administrators are conducting a salary survey of "like" districts for presentation to the board in April.

IN OTHER action Nov. 26, the school board had a lively discussion on the parcel tax and lottery issues, talked about the need for long-range enrollment projects and also received a proposal to open the Carmel High School campus at lunch for seniors.

The school board is continuing its look at a possible parcel tax to raise funds. A similar measure failed July 23 because it failed to garner the necessary two-thirds vote for passage although a majority (about 55 percent) supported the $45-per-parcel tax.

A committee has been formed that includes staff and parents to determine the feasibility of another try.

But during the report from Supt. Bob Infelise, most of the discussion soon began to center around the potential lottery income, which district officials project will add about $50,000 to the budget when the first payment is delivered from the state sometime in February.

Assistant Supt. Vance Baldwin told the board that for every $100 million in lottery sales the Carmel district will receive an extra $6.18 per student.

In addition to public K-12 schools, the lottery money is being divided among the community colleges and state college and university systems, Baldwin pointed out.

Baldwin suggested that trustees allocate the approximately $50,000 for the 1986-87 budget.

Carmel Red Cross chapter gains an emergency shelter

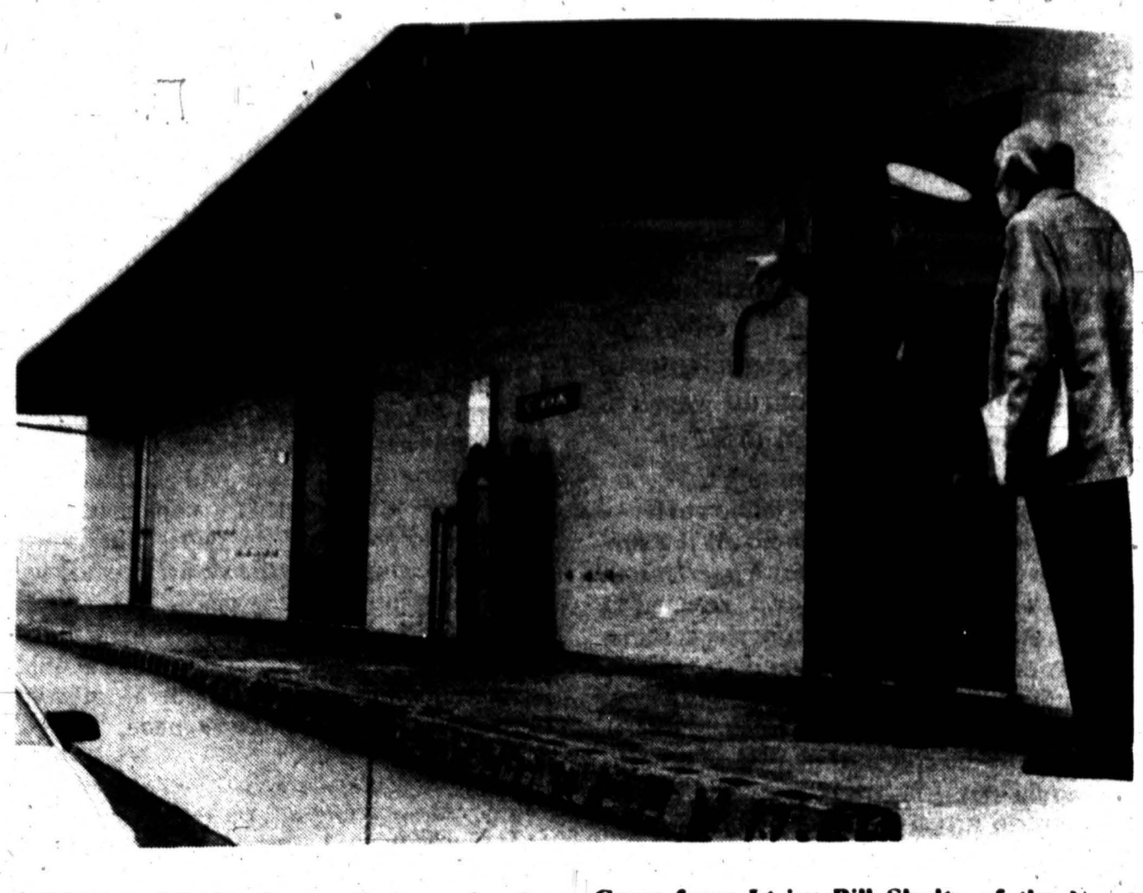
THE CARMEL-by-the-Sea chapter of the American Red Cross has obtained permission to use a building on the Pt. Sur U.S. Naval Facility to be used a shelter and command post in an event of an disaster or emergency.

The use of the building was obtained through the efforts of Rep. Leon Panetta and Lt.j.g. Bill Shultz, officer in charge at Pt. Sur, as well as the commanding officer of the naval facility in Ferndale.

The Red Cross may also be using other shelters along the Big Sur coast, including the Grange Hall, Capt. Cooper School, Pacific Valley School, and the Cal-Trans Willow Springs maintenance station.

Establishing shelter agreements is a crucial part of Red Cross disaster relief planning, according to Sue "Ad" Addleman, Carmel chapter director. Because by their very nature disasters are unpredicatable, the Red Cross cannot pre-designate specific shelter sites for specific areas. The shelter site's effectiveness can be affected by a variety of factors, including disaster-caused obstructions, inaccessibility, structural damage or further threats from the disaster, she said.

Red Cross shelters are established — and announced — as soon as possible following disasters. Shelters are usually staffed by shelter managers, nursing services, mass feeding workers and any necessary supplies, she added.



PHILIP S. GRAY, disaster chairman for the Carmel-by-the-Sea Chapter of the American Red Cross, accepted keys for a building that will be used as a disaster shelter by the Red Cross from Lt.jg. Bill Shultz of the Naval Facility Point Sur. The Navy recently donated the use of the 5000 sq. ft. building. (Diana Crockett photo.)

THE UGLY wire fence that has been stretched along Scenic Road for the past two years to help the Carmel Beach banks will be removed as part of a walkway plan now under consideration by the city. The environmental impact report for the walkway will be released Thursday, Dec. 12 and the planning commission will conduct a public hearing on the path design Wednesday, Dec. 18. (Holly McFarland photo.)

which will be making recommendations later this month or in January, Shonman said.

As many residents will be relieved to find, the design has eliminated all plans for a fence and the existing ugly wire fence will be removed.

However, in a couple of stretches where the walkway is within five feet of the banks the city by law must install a 42-inch-high wood guardrail as a safety precaution.

All of the access stairways damaged or destroyed in the storms will be repaired or replaced. Several in vulnerable areas also will include "wave deflectors" to protect the walkway.

At the foot of each walkway there will be a rinse off area.

The path itself will be made of decomposed granite. It will be mostly five to six feet wide. In places where there are benches the walkway could be as wide as 10 feet.

All of the benches will be on the beach side of the path so those sitting to admire the view will not have people walking in front of them, Shonman said.

Residents' reactions mixed on Mission Ranch offer in the area. I like the way the city proposed to buy it. I think it would make a fabulous community center...It could be like a little local Asilomar."

The Carmel Heritage Society also has wholeheartedly endorsed the proposal through a resolution adopted last week.

The Heritage Society, which has talked about putting a museum on the site, feels that the proposal is a "worthwhile project" as long as the city handles the purchase like it did with "the Gamble estate and not Piccadilly Park," explained Treasurer Jim Rotter.

However, the Heritage Society has taken no position on financial involvement, Rotter added.

THE COUNCIL appears to have been within its purview in negotiating behind closed doors because the city and Mission Ranch Corp. are in court over the proposed development of the wetlands.

California open meeting law allows for litigation discussions to be kept from public scrutiny.

Since the news broke the council has insisted that the offer would have been contingent on a final vote after full public disclosure and hearings.

And the council has said that not all of the funds would have to come out of city coffers.

Finances are available from the Frohman Academy, which wants to use part of the facility for its musical theater classes; the Coastal Conservancy, which had indicated a willingness to grant more than $500,000 to buy the wetlands; the state, which has special bond act monies available for historical site preservation; and the Heritage Society, which has expressed an interest in opening a museum on the site.

Acquisition would also be a benefit to residents, the council says, through staving off over-development that leads to more traffic congestion and strains existing services such as water supply and sewage capacity.

And since the property is just outside the south city limits, the council believes that a purchase could lead to annexation. The tennis courts could be used as a recreation center and there is space for additional public sports facilities.

Councilman David Maradei said Schmitz' letter with the offer was "an effort to get the ball rolling. We hoped it would be accepted."

Maradei did not see the letter as a legally-binding offer to buy the property.

"It was my understanding that it was a starting point for the potential purchase of the property The idea was we wanted to put together a sound fiscal package," he said.

Maradei said the council never would have finalized the offer without first going public.

"The city cannot write a check in closed session. This city council does not do that. We just don't ram things through the process."

Maradei said Mission Ranch "is an important piece of property in controlling development in and around Carmel. The property now is earmarked for intensive residential development."

The purchase is just part of a master plan of the city to bring under its control — probably through annexation — two other major under-developed sites: Pescadaro Canyon and the Briarcliff Academy property.

MARADEI defends the city from complaints that the city should not be in the real estate business.

"All of our problems are basically land use issues. If this city had control of all the lands we wouldn't have the problems we have today. The Gamble estate is an example of how the city can work with private interests and be a benefit to the residents."

Maradei also pointed out that if the city hadn't been in the real estate business two decades ago, the city would not have Sunset Center, which was purchased from the school district.

Maradei also is concerned that the people who leaked Schmitz' letter to this paper did it out of political motivation and not out of concern for the public's right to know..

"I'm a realist. I believe the only reason this information was released at this time was for political reasons.

"I sense this is a kickoff to the elections. The only possible reason for releasing the information was to embarrass the city council. If they had the information before, they should have released it before."

Mission Ranch Resort spokesman Doug Tuck has said the corporation's first priority is to build about 61 homes on the property, but city officials say that Tuck has countered the $3.75 million with a selling price of more than $5 million.

City officials report that the Mission Ranch Corp. — a group of professionals mostly living in the San Francisco Bay Area — bought the property several years ago for approximately $2.5 million.

Mission Ranch consists of about 24 motel rooms, a restaurant and popular piano bar, a "barn" for social events, tennis courts and cattle grazing land just outside the city limits southwest of Carmel Mission.

Pay hike, parcel tax tops agenda for CUSD trustees

But Trustee Hilton Bialek questioned the shrewdness of not spending the lottery money immediately.

Bialek's point is that it would be difficult to convince voters to approve a parcel tax when it would appear that by not spending the lottery money the district has no real pressing need for additional financing.

"It would not be good politics," he said.

Infelise said where to spend the lottery funds is a "sensitive area" because the school board in its contract commitments has promised to consider allocating some of that additional revenue for staff pay hikes in 1985-86.

There also was discussion about drawing up a "wish list" for projects to be funded by the lottery and potential parcel tax monies.

But the board was uncertain whether to try and discuss specifics at this early a date.

And Infelise seemed to agree with Baldwin that it would be more prudent financial management to set aside lottery monies for the next fiscal year.

'I DON'T think the board would look bad and decide not to decide," Infelise said.

Infelise added that he anticipates "lots of discussion, debate and disagreement" on how to spend the extra revenue.

Baldwin also reminded the board that — although still unclear — there probably will be numerous restrictions placed on how districts can appropriate the lottery funds.

Baldwin also did not think the district should avoid pushing the parcel tax as a means to provide for better staff pay.

The district needs the extra funds to attract and keep the best teachers and administrators, Baldwin said. Without the staff, the programs will not be as effective.

"Salaries may be the number one thing we have to look at. It's very legitimate," Baldwin said.

Board President Doyle Clayton agreed. "Do we really want the very best or do we just want the lottery money to come along and help us maintain and that's all it's going to do."

Baldwin discounts the school of thought that voters will not support a tax for salaries. "I say baloney," Baldwin said.

Baldwin also said that the "deteriorating" school facilities may be another argument for the parcel tax.

"What will cost us a dollar today will cost us $5 tommorrow," he said.

Trustee Claudia Daniels said, "A lot of what we're talking about really is public relations...It's not what you're asking for, it's how you present it. You have to sell."

Teacher Jim Agan pointed out that the lottery money is not the financial savior of schools.

"It's going to be a drop in the bucket for this district," he said.

And Daniels added: "It might not even keep up with inflation."

In a separate matter, trustees received a report from Infelise on a proposal for a private firm to conduct long-range enrollment studies for the district.

Infelise stressed that he was not endorsing the firm, but he did want to get the opinions of the board before a final recommendation is developed.

California Management Advocates of Sacramento proposed to undertake the four-month study for $4,500.

Dec. 9 meeting

Water board to discuss tainted septic tanks

The potential of supplying Fort Ord and Marina with water from an enlarged dam, and presentations by the Monterey County Health Department on toxics monitoring and potential septic contamination in Carmel Valley will be considered by the Monterey Peninsula Water Management District board at its December meeting.

The meeting will convene at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 9 at the Monterey City Council Chambers, Colton Hall. Members of the public are encouraged to attend.

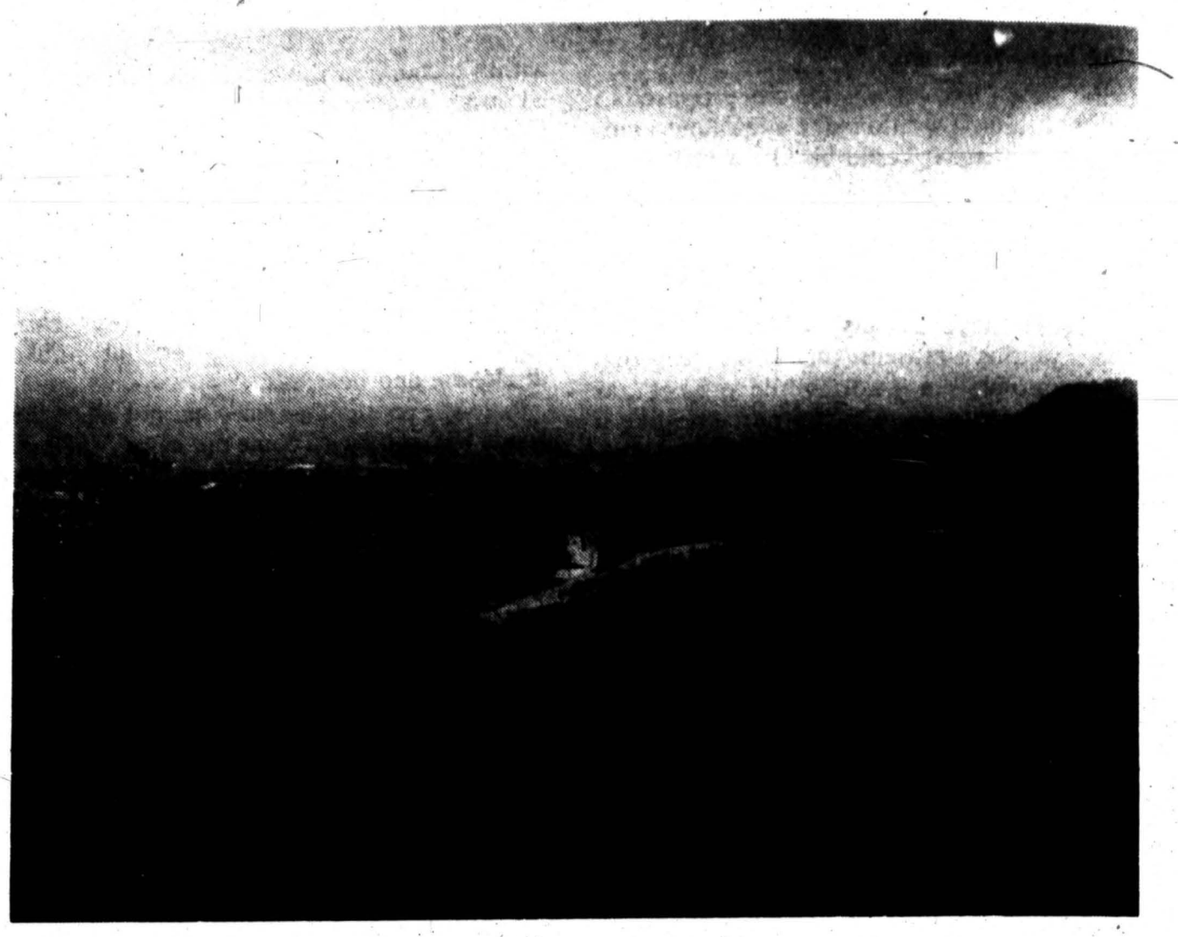
At the request of the U.S. Army at Fort Ord and the Marina County Water District, the board commissioned a "joint use study" which analyzed the cost and feasibility to divert an additional 12,000 acre-feet of water to Fort Ord and Marina from a dam larger than the San Clemente dam durrently under discussion.

Fort Ord and Marina presently obtain water from wells, and are faced with increasing contamination from saltwater intrusion. The report concluded that a 45,000 ac. ft. dam could meet the water needs of the peninsula, Fort Ord and Marina, but the cost of transporting the water from the Carmel Valley was prohibitive. The enlarged dam would cost $55 million to construct, but an additional $58 million would be necessary for water treatment and distribution alone. Projected annual water costs could be as high as $1,700 per ac. ft. for Ford Ord and Marina residents.

Another drawback to an enlarged dam to supply Fort Ord and Marina would be the necessity for a federal Environmental Impact Statement and funding authorization, which could delay the project for two more years. District staff is recommending that the board not pursue a joint use due to the cost and time factors involved. However, the board may consider selling water to Fort Ord and Marina in years with surplus capacity.

Representatives from County Health will present their findings on potential ground water contamination in Carmel Valley from leaking or non-working septic systems. Their report summarizes results from a door-to-door survey initiated last July integrated with ground water data provided by water management district staff. A monitoring program to track potential contamination by hazardous materials (toxics) will also be reviewed.

The first order of business will be the seating of newly-elected director Nick Lombardo on the district board. Lombardo replaces director Nancy McClintock, who was defeated in the Nov. 5 election.



THE PRISTINE, rural beauty of Carmel Valley — here looking west to Shulte Road — may hide an increasing danger to its residents: its water quality. The Monterey Peninsula Water Management District board will hear a presentation by the county board of health Dec. 9 on the effects of the septic tanks leakage on the underground water supply in the Valley.

Use permits for bookstore, Sprouse-Reitz to be heard

By NANCY HILLS

MEMBERS OF the Carmel Planning Commission and Carmel Board of Adjustments will once again don their respective official city hats in rapid succession Wednesday, Dec. 11.

The two review boards, consisting of the same members, will meet back-to-back starting at 4 p.m. in the Carmel City Council chambers.

Possibly due to the holidays, both agendas are relatively short.

The board of adjustments will lead off the double session with five items, including the plans to divide in two the single Sprouse-Reitz Variety Store space on Ocean Avenue.

Carmel architect George Brook-Kothlow and businessman Roxy Rapp, owner of Roxy on the corner of San Carlos Street and Ocean Avenue, have submitted plans to turn the approximately 6,000 sq. ft. Sprouse-Reitz space into two retail spaces. Sprouse-Reitz is expected to vacate by Dec. 31. The plans include a remodeling of the building exterior. The management of the Sprouse-Reitz chain decided not to renew the lease because of a substantial increase in the rent.

The Brook-Kothlow and Rapp application is accompanied by a use permit request by Donald Saxby, manager of Books, Inc., for one of the new Ocean Avenue spaces created by the division of the Sprouse-Reitz store space. Books, Inc. should move from its current location in the Carmel Plaza to the new location early next year, according to Lewis Lengfel, owner of Books, Inc.

The land use committee has recommended approval for both applications.

A working arts and crafts studio on Dolores Street also received a recommendation for approval from the land use committee. Doney Pavik and Diana Knight have applied to put the studio into the space vacated by Nell's Plum Tree earlier this year.

In other business, the board will review:

• A use permit for a real estate office on Dolores Street. This item is a continuation of an application made by Zigmont LeTowt. The land use committee has recommended denial.

EIR given tentative OK

Work begins on Spanish Bay resort next week

By MICHAEL GARDNER

WORK ON Spanish Bay resort hotel probably will begin next week, Pebble Beach Co. officials announced just 24 hours after they won another major victory before the Monterey County Board of Supervisors.

Steve Eimer, real estate development manager for the company, told the Carmel Pine Cone/Carmel Valley Outlook Wednesday morning that foundation work on the 270-room hotel will begin "in a week to 10 days."

The company was issued a use permit from the county building department earlier this week, Eimer said.

Eimer reports that the company has fallen a few months behind schedule on construction of the golf course, hotel and condominium project at Spanish Bay, however, there is optimism that by speeding up work the resort will be open by the fall of 1987.

Fifty-one weeks ago Pebble Beach Co. received its use permit from the board of supervisors, which included former members Bill Peters and Michal Moore. The Coastal Commission in March granted the use permit.

The city of Carmel was the lead agency in a lawsuit filed to block the development, but the city lost in Monterey County Superior Court. The city has 60 days from the time the final judgement is entered to file an appeal or 180 days after the notice of intended decision.

Since no final entry of Judge John Anton's August notice of intended decision has been recorded, the city appears to have until February to file an appeal.

But another roadblock to the development apparently has fallen as supervisors Tuesday afternoon unanimously gave notice they intend to certify the supplemental environmental impact report for a conveyor system.

The system will transport up to 530,000 cubic yards of sand from Sawmill Gulch to the resort construction site nearly two miles away. The project has been opposed by residents of the Del Monte Park neighborhood. (See story, page 9.)

Supervisors are to formally adopt the "findings" to support certification of the supplemental EIR for the conveyor system when they meet at 4 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 10 at the county courthouse in Salinas.

After formal certification, supervisors are to open the public hearing on the use permit for the conveyor system.

The hearing before supervisors Dec. 3 was designed to give Pebble Beach Co. an opportunity to present its arguments why the supplemental environmental impact report should be certified.

BUT SOME of the best arguments for the company came from the county planning staff.

Staff planner Cathy Stein had prepared a series of answers to some questions raised by supervisors Nov. 30 on the adequacy of the supplemental EIR.

The planning staff report basically supported the contention of Pebble Beach Co. that the supplemental EIR contains sufficent information and mitigation measures to meet the requirements of the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA).

Planning Director Robert Slimmon and Pebble Beach Co. Attorney Tom Jamison had indicated that the crux of the issue is whether the supplemental EIR provides enough information for supervisors to make a decision on the use permit application.

As Jamison said, the EIR "doesn't have to be perfect...It's an informational document...They may disagree with the conclusion. That does not affect its adequacy as a legal document. The impacts are noted."

Several Pebble Beach residents also spoke in support of the EIR certification and stressed that the project is temporary (six to nine months).

William McClintlock, former president of the Del Monte Forest Property Owners, said that group endorses the plan.

"We are firmly convinced that the long-term benefits outweigh the short-term problems," he said.

McClintlock also called the company "honorable, responsible and cooperative."

Tom Bruce said the project is "temporary and the effects temporary. The hearings have been held, the requirements met and it's time to get on with the project."

Dirk Van Der Burch said "it staggers me" that Pebble Beach Co. has had to put in "this much time and this much work and this much money" for a temporary project.

He called complaints by Del Monte Park residents "an exercise in nit-picking" and "petty harassment."

Van Der Burch complained that none of the residents voiced opposition to the project at the Coastal Commission hearing in March.

On the noise issue, he added: "There are pickup trucks in Del Monte Park that make more noise."

Sydney Lee of Carmel was angry that some protestors called Pebble Beach Co. 'money grabbers" when actually the company has donated lands and sponsored charity events such as the Concours d'Elegance and the former Bing Crosby National Pro-Am golf tournament.

"No organization is as sensitive to the environment as the Pebble Beach Co., Lee said.

THE DUNES of Spanish Bay will be transformed into a golf course as construction begins soon on the hotel complex. A use permit for a conveyor belt to bring sand to the site (above) will be considered by supervisors Tuesday. (Michael Gardner photo.)

Opponents blast proposed Spanish Bay conveyor belt

By MICHAEL GARDNER

THE SPANISH Bay resort conveyor belt system will sound like a Sunday morning lawnmower all day long, keep fire trucks from the neighborhood, destroy property values and lure young children into exploring a dangerous facility.

Those are just a few of the complaints lodged by opponents as they spoke to the Monterey County Board of Supervisors Nov. 26 on the adequacy of the supplemental environmental impact report (EIR) on the conveyor belt.

Because of the lengthy testimony, supervisors set aside Tuesday, Dec. 3 for the Pebble Beach Co. officials and their supporters to argue that the EIR is adequate. (See related story, this issue.)

Pebble Beach Co. plans to use the nearly two-mile-long conveyor belt to haul sand from Sawmill Gulch to its Spanish Bay resort construction site. The sand is to be used for the golf course and dune restoration phase of the project.

In the public hearing Nov. 26, there was a standing-room-only crowd in the board chambers as residents of the Del Monte Park neighborhood in Pacific Grove clamored for supervisors to require new EIR studies.

One of the key points argued by attorney Janet Gray, representing the Pacific Grove residents, is that the EIR does not address the "no project" alternative as required by the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA).

As part of that argument, Gray contends that the county planning commission refused to allow the group to present the no project alternative during earlier public hearings.

"There is a viable no project alternative," Gray said.

According to Gray, the Del Monte Forest Land Use Plan requires a minimum of 18 to 24 inches for the dunes while Pebble Beach Co. is rebuilding the area to a height of 20 feet, which obviously necessitates more sand.

The conditions of the Coastal Commission use permit also require that the company use sand from other projects on the peninsula or from the resort development itself before excavating Sawmill Gulch, Gray said.

But Pebble Beach Co. has stated that other sand sources "will not be pursued" if local approval is granted for the conveyor belt, she said.

And Gray claimed that the use of Sawmill Gulch is a "misnomer" since another 5.8 acres of property will be excavated as part of the sand haul project.

'CEQA REQUIRES a study of alternatives to the route. This was never done," Gray pointed out.

"Had there been another alternative that did not wrap around Del Monte Park maybe we would not be here today," she said.

Gray also complained that all the maps of Sawmill Gulch included in the EIR "whited out" the Del Monte Park neighborhood.

"There was no discussion of the impact to residents in Del Monte Park even though some homes are within 115 feet.

"We call ourselves the whited out neighborhood...We simply were not considered," she said.

CEQA requires that project EIRs address the environmental effects on surrounding neighborhoods, but the conveyor system document excludes any report on the Del Monte Park area, she said.

It would be "a dangerous precedent for the county to ignore a neighborhood," Gray said.

Gray said many neighbors are concerned that the fence to protect them from fire will slow firefighters in the event of an emergency.

The Coastal Commission permit states that the sign-off authority on fire danger rests with the local agency, in this case the Pebble Beach Community Services District.

Gray pointed out that PBCSD is an agency that stands to benefit from excavation at Sawmill Gulch because it plans to develop a wastewater reclamation plant on the property once Pebble Beach Co. has hauled away the sand.

The Del Monte Park neighborhood also is protesting the wastewater reclamation facility.

"I have substantial doubts whether Pebble Beach Community Services District will look after (our) fire interests when we're actively opposing their sewage plant," Gray said.

The EIR also does not include information about a day care center and convalescent hospital adjoining the conveyor belt route, she said.

Gray also cited a recent court case whereby economic effects must be part of any environmental impact report.

"It's mandatory to study the economic impacts of a project. It is not discretionary," she charged.

Gray said that property owners cannot sell or rent the homes for full value because of the impending seven-month conveyor belt operations.

With the tree removals views will be lost, which will decrease the value of the property. "That is a permanent loss," she said. An estimated 715 trees will be removed for the project.

GRAY ALSO questioned whether the EIR adequately addresses the safety issue.

Other points she made included the disruption a fence will have on migratory wildlife and the loss of recreational opportunities for those who walk in the area — all aspects that are required to be studied in an EIR.

After Gray spoke, a parade of Del Monte Park residents reiterated many of her comments and added a few emotional outbursts of their own.

Cam Schure called the conveyor system a "danger to our children."

Weinachtsmarkt

Every year on Dec. 6th, the beautiful gardens of The Barnyard are transformed into a European style village fair, a "Weinachtsmarkt', in celebration of the arrival of St. Nicholas. Shop owners spread their wares on tables in the poinsettia-filled Barnyard gardens, the aroma of holiday foods fills the air as children and adults search for that special Christmas gift, anticipating the appearance of ol' St. Nic.

As evening draws near and the cool dusk settles over the mouth of Carmel Valley, the gathered crowd listens anxiously for the sound of the bells on St. Nic's great white horse. Suddenly, appearing from the darkness and led by Black Peter, the looming figure rides into the center courtyard red-caped with a flowing white beard. He raises his golden staff, and as if by magic, the magnificent 24-foot Christmas tree explodes in color, festive lights blaze from every roof top as a choir joins in song.

Truly this is one of the most memorable Christmas celebrations anywhere and should not be missed by any one on the Monterey Peninsula. There is live music each weekend in December and the famous Barnyard gardens are decked in holiday finery.

Spanish Bay conveyor belt EIR blasted by opponents

for the profit motive of the Pebble Beach Co."

Discussing fire danger because the fence will block access, Schure said, "I don't even want to think about it at night."

And, comparing the noise to a lawnmower, Schure said if a private resident caused that much noise the police would come with a "cease and desist" order.

Carol McCarthy complained that there is no provision for a sprinkler system at the loading site near the homes.

Karin Perling also reiterated many of Gray's comments and she especially cited her concerns for the safety of children.

"A fence is not going to stop them from exploring this brand-new giant toy," Perling said.

The city of Carmel also protested the adequacy of the EIR through a letter signed by Mayor Charlotte Townsend and read to supervisors by staff Planner Brian Roseth.

In the letter, the city questioned whether Pebble Beach Co. actually had exhausted available sand from other sources as required by the Coastal Commission.

This is an important point because part of the contention related to the adequacy of the EIR is based on belief that the document did not thoroughly study alternatives to the Sawmill Gulch site.

"To our knowledge, the county and the public have never been provided with information that demonstrates why the first (sand from other sources in the area) and the second (sand from the Spanish Bay resort site) priority measures are not sufficient for completion of the golf course and dune rehabilitation project," the city's letter states.

"This issue seems critical in explaining why the conveyor belt project is being pursued. Yet the response provided in the certified EIR to our inquiry was: 'the county has already given approval to excavate sand from the Sawmill Gulch area; that approval is not the issue for consideration of this conveyor system,' " the letter continues.

PART OF the city letter also questions why the EIR did not fully address the noise issue, dust impacts and a complete accounting of the number of trees to be removed.

Supervisor Sam Karas of Seaside, a constant critic of the Spanish Bay resort development, commended the residents for "fighting legally" and he urged them to "stay involved."

Supervisor Barbara Shipnuck of Salinas said it would be hard for the board to make a clear decision without obtaining "neutral testimony" from staff on a variety of issues raised by the neighbors.

Shipnuck asked that staff report back to supervisors on the individual complaints raised by the residents, including: safety, noise, dust, economics, impact on wildlife and the validity of a "no project" alternative.

Supervisor Karin Strasser Kauffman agreed with Shipnuck and added two points of her own. She wanted verification of the amount of sand needed; and whether it is significant that the EIR "consistently contrasts the conveyor to trucks rather than considering the conveyor itself."

Supervisor Marc Del Piero added that he wants a report on the adequacy of the noise study. One resident had complained that the noise levels were taken on busy David Avenue during commute time rather than in the quieter Del Monte Park neighborhood.

Del Piero also wants a report on county policies on oak tree removal prompted by one citizen's slide show that indicated large numbers of old oak trees will be demolished by the project.

CFD starts food-toy drive

The Carmel Fire Department is conducting a drive to raise food and toys for needy families on the peninsula this Christmas.

The drive begins Friday, Nov. 29 and will continue until Christmas Eve, Dec. 24.

The department will be accepting donations in the form of canned and non-perishable foods, workable toys, money and other appropriate gifts. Once collected, the donated items will be distributed by the Salvation Army.

Donations can be dropped off at the Carmel Fire Department on Sixth Street between San Carlos and Mission, daily from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

'Oldtimers' win for pride, 58-46

Story and photographs by Michael Gardner

TOM DIGIROLANO hauls down a rebound as Steve Wiesner looks on.

THE HAIR is thinner and grayer, the legs may move a little slower, the leap is more like a bounce, the breathing quickens sooner, and the shots are air balls more frequently than swishes, but for 48 minutes Saturday night the hands of time went backward for 36 former Carmel High School basketball standouts.

Now freshman basketball coach John ("Earl the Pearl") Lucido taking younger brother Mike to the hoop and was fouled for a three-point play; Bob ("Nate Thurmond") Weiss jerking down a rebound in a crowd, Chip ("Jerry Sloan") Aronson, sprawled on the floor after diving for a loose ball; and John and Tom Frincke ("The Van Arsdales") reunited after their undefeated two-time CCS Region Four championship years.

It was quite a special occasion as the alumni from the 1950s, 1960s and 1970s closed strong to outdistance a younger 1980s squad, 58-46. The team of the 1970s, which included MTAL and CCS Region Four champions, was just too much for the 1980s squad.

Under familiar signs of "Sock Hop Tonight" and "Go Padres," the 1950s-60s-70s jumped to an early 8-0 lead. What used to be their friends and sweethearts cheering were now their wives and children in the stands, but just as vocal.

However, the 1980s regrouped and rallied to knot the score at 16-16 before the buzzer sounded.

The pace did not let up as fresh troops for each squad were sent in for the second quarter. The see-saw battle continued as the two teams swapped baskets. A traveling call against 1985 graduate Chip Aronson as he drove for a layup was the only thing that prevented a halftime tie. The 1950s-60s-70s went into the locker room with a 26-24 lead.

The break proved beneficial to the oldtimers as they continued to nudge slowly ahead, taking a five-point 37-32 advantage going into the fourth quarter.

The championship teams of the 1970s then took over and built an insurmountable lead for their squad and then coasted down the stretch to a 58-46 final.

Ballhandler Lucido for the 1950s-60s-70s was a standout and crowd favorite in the game, rolling over on the floor a few times, taking 25-ft. jumpers and hamming before the audience.

Of course, had one of his freshmen players took a few of those shots, Lucido probably would have the kid on the bench in no time.

"I guess it's do as I say not as I do," Lucido added about his long-range gunning.

Chris Smith, 1970; Todd Gebhart, 1972; Kim Carter, 1975; Bill Colohan, 1977; John and Tom Frincke, 1978; Steve Sepersky, 1978; and John Lucido, 1979.

Chippewa jewelry shown

Chippewa Indian Dorothy Young, who learned Chippewa handicrafts from the age of five from her grandmother, will be the featured artist at Reyna's Gallerias on Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 7-8.

The exhibit will feature many examples of beadwork, including authentically styled neck chokers, beaded earrings, bracelets and ankle beads. Reyna's Gallerias is at 108 Third St. in San Juan Bautista. For details, call 623-2379.

Vigil for human rights planned

Local groups of Amnesty International, the organization which won the Nobel Peace Prize in 1977 for its work on behalf of victims of torture and illegal detention, will sponsor its third annual Vigil for Human Rights on Sunday, Dec. 8.

The candlelight procession will begin at 5:30 p.m. at the American Tin Cannery, 125 Ocean View Blvd. in Pacific Grove. It will then wind its way through the Cannery Row area to Custom House plaza where speakers will address human rights issues.

Free film on addiction scheduled

A free film about addiction, Cocaine: The End of the Line, will be screened at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 11.

The film is part of the regular weekly series of films about chemical dependency and recovery shown at the Recovery Center of the Monterey Peninsula. A discussion will follow the film.

The film will be shown in the Education Center behind the Recovery Center, 576 Hartnell St., Monterey. For details, call 373-0924.

PINE WHISPERS

A happy 60th birthday

THE CARMEL Woman's Club celebrated its 60th birthday party with a festive luncheon Dec. 2 at the group's clubhouse on San Carlos and Ninth.

On hand were the oldest member of the club, Mrs. Alton Walker, who has been a member since 1938, and Fay Biddle, who joined just last year. The birthday was celebrated with a lunch, birthday cake (of course), door prizes and entertainment by Bruce Fargo, a one-man band.

In addition, the group dedicated the very room they were celebrating in to the memory of Sophie Burgdorff, who had been a member since 1945 until her death in 1981, and was the sister of Carmel artist Ferdinand Burgdorff. In her will she left a fairly sizable bequest to the club, which received its share this year.

Presiding over the festivities, which drew more than 100 members, were Margaret Philbrook, club president, and Dr. Dorothy Danno, party chairwoman.

The club was founded on Dec. 6, 1925 and moved into the building it now occupies in January, 1949. The building was paid for in 1956 when club members held a mortgage burning.

CAN-DO ON CHRISTMAS CANTREE

The Monterey Peninsula Board of Realtors plans to build a 20-foot Christmas tree made entirely of canned goods donated by the community Dec. 7-14. The finished tree (to be displayed at the American Tin Cannery in Pacific Grove) will then be dismantled and the cans of food donated to needy families on the peninsula through the Salvation Army's Holiday Food Basket program. Canned food donations can be made at any peninsula realty office displaying the "Christmas CanTree" poster, or at the board of realtors office at 856 Munras Ave., Monterey. The project expects to "raise" more than 100,000 cans for the needy. For more information call Niki McGee at 375-4100 or Tom O'Meara at 372-5580.

CHRISTMAS IN MONTEREY

The City of Monterey plans a whole raft of Christmas events in the historic downtown area, starting with the annual Festival of Trees, featuring 30 beautifully decorated trees, at the Monterey County Fairgrounds, Dec. 5-8, but the real kick-off comes at 6:30 p.m. Friday, Dec. 6 when the mayor and city officials gather to light the Christmas tree on the Colton Hall lawn.

Other events include the traditional Posada, a candlelight procession through downtown Monterey, Friday, Dec. 13; a two-day open house tour of Monterey's historic adobes, "Christmas in the Adobes," Thursday and Friday, Dec. 19 and 20; and a special exhibit of participatory art at the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art.

For more information contact the Monterey Peninsula Chamber of Commerce at 649-1770.

JUST A REMINDER

Remember the Artisans Give Thanks to the Animals Eighth Annual Christmas Gift Show (whew!) Saturday and Sunday Dec. 7-8 at the La Playa Hotel (Camino Real and Eighth), a benefit for The Friends of the Sea Otter, The American Cetacean Society and the Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society, featuring 25 different crafts. A special wine preview will be held the previous evening from 6-10 p.m. at $5 per person. (See in-depth story in Arts & Leisure.)

REPUBLICANS GATHER FORCES

Two well-known Republican challengers to Sen. Alan Cranston's seat in Congress will make rare visits to the Monterey Peninsula: Rep. Robert K. Dornan will be a special luncheon guest at 12 noon, Saturday Dec. 7 at the Carmel Highlands home of Patricia Ramsey Smith, a benefit for Assemblyman Eric Seastrand; while a "meet and greet" reception for Rep. Bobbi Fiedler will be held from 5-7 p.m. at the Toro Park home of Jonathan Price, chairman of the Monterey County Republican Central Committee, Monday, Dec. 9. For more information call 624-3905.

annual Great Bid-A-Long auction benefiting the museum at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 10 at the museum on Pacific Street in Monterey. Chairwoman Irene Crispo and co-chair Peggy Compton are hoping as many members as possible will attend the meeting for this event, scheduled for March 1, 1986. There has been one orgainizational meeting so far and groundwork laid, but participation by all Jesters interested in getting involved with the auction is important. Besides, Mel Loop will be there. For information call 375-1347.

CHRISTMAS AT THE INNS TOUR

Five of Pacific Grove's unique and charming bed and breakfast inns will open their doors from 7-9 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 10 for an evening "Christmas at the Inns" tour. Inns on the tour, sponsored by the Pacific Grove Heritage Society and the Pacific Grove Art Center, will include the Centrella Hotel, Gosby House Inn, Green Gables Inn, Martine Inn, and the Old St. Angela Inn. Refreshments will be served in the inns' yuletide-decorated parlors while sounds of the season will entertain visitors. Tickets are $7.50 each. For more information call the heritage society during business hours, 372-2898.

HAPPENINGS IN THE VALLEY

The Carmel Valley Chapel Guild will hold a Christmas tea at its monthly meeting, 12:30 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 11 in the Fellowship Hall of the chapel on Village Drive. Stephen Tosh, music director, will provide Christmas music for members and guests. Hostesses for the event will be: Jeannie Miller, Jean Steckley, and Kathryn Tregea...The Carmel Valley Library will host a story hour and Christmas party for pre-school children at 10 a.m., Wednesday, Dec. 11, at the library, 65 West Carmel Valley Road, Carmel Valley Village. All pre-school children are invited to the event, which will include story-telling and Christmas decoration making. For information call 659-2377.

WORLD'S LARGEST OFFICE PARTY

The world's largest paycheck, ball of red tape, aspirin and martini will all join together in what's dubbed "The World's Largest Office Party," 5-11 p.m., Tuesday Dec. 17 at the Hyatt Regency Monterey, benefiting the Monterey Peninsula Jaycees' Underprivileged Children's Shopping Tour program. Local comic Chicago Steve Barkley is guest emcee, with the Bo Williams Band providing the dance tunes. Focal point of the evening will be appearances by local celebrities and civic and business leaders as guest bartenders. There are 66 Hyatt hotels nationally hosting their own WLOPs, making it truly a "world's largest." For more information call 372-1234, ext. 6910 or 6000.

SHORT SHORTS

French and Russian films shown

The Return of Martin Guerre and The Duel are the next offerings of the Monterey Peninsula Film Society.

The Return of Martin Guerre tells of a young peasant who, in 1557, returns to his wife and family after nine years' absence. The 1983 film, in French with subtitles, won three French Academy Awards. It will be shown Friday through Sunday, Dec. 6-8.

A 1962 Russian film of Anton Chekhov's The Duel will be shown Wednesday, Dec. 11. Tatiana Berezantseva directs The Duel, shown in Russian with subtitles.

All films begin at 8:15 p.m. in Morse Auditorium, 440 Van Buren St., Monterey. Tickets are $3.50 general, $3 students, $2.75 senior citizens and $2 for film society members. For details, call 659-4795 between 5 p.m. and show time.

BUSINESS BEAT
BY NANCY HILLS

A bit of this and that

I HOPE you all had a nice Thanksgiving holiday and gained lots of weight like I did.

Holidays are nice, but rough on us newspaper folk because here at the Pine Cone the "beat goes on" and the paper must come out.

I have found it difficult to find things to write about this time of the year. It seems like fewer leases are signed and businesses that are on the market, well, have a tendency to stay on the market. However, one person who buys and sells businesses I talked to says he is very busy. Anyone care to make their own observations on business right now? If so please don't hesitate to call.

The Christmas season is not usually regarded as the most active time of the year in Carmel, according to most retailers I have talked to. That's probably typical of seaside cities. I would really like to know if that's true for the Carmel area.

FRUIT OF THE VINE

I had a pleasant chat with Charles and Sandra Chrietzberg, part-time residents of Carmel. They divvy-up their time between here and Houston.

Part-time certainly does not mean uninvolved in the Chrietzberg's case. They recently started the La Reina winery ("The Winery of the Queen"), and Charles said he also just bought a major interest in Monterey County Bank. He now sits on its board of directors.

The bank may seem more of natural for Charles Chrietzberg since he is a certified public accountant and former owner of Sam Houston Mortgage Company. The company, he said, was "one of the top ten residential lenders in Houston." (It still could be but I didn't ask.) Chrietzberg sold the company to a Houston savings and loan in 1982.

After the mortgage company, Chrietzberg said he became the chairman of the board and a "major" stockholder in the holding company of Union of Texas Bancshares.

Now he has invested in the Monterey County Bank. "I was looking for an investment in the banking area and this opportunity presented itself. The Monterey County Bank had to seek additional capital because of loan losses due to prior management," Chrietzberg said.

He provided some of that capital and became a new member of board of directors along with Sharon Bates, Kenny Fukumoto and Gerald McFarland, also new directors on the board.

"With the addition of the new board members and new capital, the bank is well," Chrietzberg said.

It was not banking , though, that brought Chrietzberg to his other Monterey County investment, La Reina winery. The vineyard grew out of his other great interest (investing is his first) and that is of California wines, he said.

For those who still buy wine because it has a twist-off cap can take heart from Chrietzberg. In 1975, he said, he didn't know anything about wine. But he remedied that and became a collector of California wines. His and Sandra's interest and involvement with those wines led to them to start their own winery.

We aren't talking about a typical walk-through look-at-the-casks type winery, however. In fact, La Bodega De La Reina doesn't have a building at all. One should be on its way soon — maybe even next year. Until then, it's a product, La Reina Chardonnay, that the Chrietzbergs have put together with grapegrowers Gerald and Myron McFarland (yes, the same Gerald McFarland who sits on the Monterey County Bank board.) The winery will specialize in chardonnays, often called the queen of white wines.

Chrietzberg explained that La Reina is able to choose the best grapes from the McFarland lands, a flexibility that can produce a better wine.

"You are not dependent on quality of the grape grown on your own land," Chrietzberg said. If it's a bad year, you can choose from other crops, he added.

They chose chardonnays to specialize in, Chrietzberg said, because white wines — and especially chardonnays — are increasing in popularity.

Between the wine venture and the bank, the Chrietzberg's will be spending a lot more time here in Carmel, they both said. I'm sure that won't break their hearts any.

ANTIQUE UNIQUES

Carmel Valley resident Joan Hildebrandt has brought it all back home, in manner of speaking. She has moved her Antique Uniques from Moss Landing to the Valley Hills shopping center in Carmel Valley.

Antique Uniques (I love that name), Hildebrandt said, carries almost everything from jewelry and crystal to large furniture pieces and European and Oriental antiques. She even has Persian burial beads for those little unexpected problems.

The shop was located in Moss Landing for two years, but Hildebrandt said she just could not take that 70-mile round trip anymore. (This woman is not an intrepid commuter.)

DOES IT COMPUTE?

It is not quite Silicon Valley, but it will do.

Randolph Bills and Michael Lehman are indulging in the computer software business right above Mediterranean Market on the corner of Mission Street and Ocean Avenue. Maxisoft is the name of the business they have set up to create and sell software for the Amiga computer, a new personal and business computer put out by Commodore. Those things don't run by themselves, you know.

Lehman develops the programs, Bills said, while Bills handles "all the rest," in other words, he's the business manager.

The programs they develop will be distributed by Electronic Arts out of San Mateo, which, according to Bills, is the largest computer software distributer in the country.

Bills said he is also looking into developing a computer system that can be built into a house or office and is voice activated.

"The biggest problem with people using computers is that it's inconvenient to turn on and 'boot-up.' There's also using the keyboard, which means that you have to be a pretty good typist. With the hardware and software available, the computer can be voice programmed to 'remind me of...' and things like that," Bills said.

Bills, who is probably better known is this area for his hotel/motel real estate business connections, said he will continue doing that, also from his multi-function user-friendly office.

SHELL FISHER GALLERY GOES FISHING

A "Gone fishing" sign will not exactly be hanging on the door of Shell Fisher's Gallery when it temporarily closes down maybe...possibly...could be...at the end of the year. There won't be a door to hang the sign on.

Artist Shell Fisher and his partner and gallery director Laveta Smith are preparing the gallery to close in preparation for the building's demolition now that Clint Eastwood's building project has received the green light from the city council. The gallery building sits right in the middle of the site where the new structure is to be constructed.

Why all the qualifiers on when this event will happen? Because nobody knows yet. The date for the gallery building to bite the dust is still up in the air. There are still a few permits that must be obtained before the building can be demolished. So far, the gallery is aiming at the first of the year, 1986, to be out of the space.

Fisher plans to reopen the gallery in the new building when it is completed, which he expects will take at least a year.

All his work is done at his studio, Fisher said, so the closing will not effect him too much, "except we won't have a gallery." People shouldn't be too concerned about being able to reach him, either. He will be available by phone.

His partner Smith said she will spend the time off searching for new art for the gallery.

The demolition did not come as any surprise to him, he added. Eastwood told him that he was planning to build on the lot five and a half years ago when the gallery first opened. It just has taken a lot longer than anyone expected.

WHY IS IT STILL EMPTY?

Some time ago I printed that Sunset Shoes on San Carlos Street was going into the St. Albans space on Ocean Avenue. Well, that space is still a rather large, empty hole on the main street of town. That's because, as I understand, the lease is locked up in a court case. The less said about court cases the better.

NEW DESIGNERS?

Another spot that has remained empty for a while should be filled soon. The building on the corner of Seventh Avenue and Monte Verde Street is being sold to Elizabeth Martin, who plans to put a "women's full-line dress shop ... with original fashions" in the space that Lilli's designer fashion occupied for years. Martin and her daughter, Mary, told the Carmel Licensing and Code Review Board that the business will operate much like Lilli's did, but the details have not been worked out yet. Stay tuned.

OPEN TO THE PUBLIC

Perry and Joyce Dunsmuir, two "long-time Carmel residents" and owners of Built-in Distributors, have announced that things are goind so well that they are opening their stores to the public. Built-In Distributors supplied kitchen and laundry appliances to contractors.

The Dunsmuir's have stores in Seaside, Capitola and recently opened a new store in Salinas.

FOR YOUR CALENDAR

The Management Institute of Monterey will sponsor a seminar called Contemporary Options for Small Business Management. The seminar is from 10 a.m. to noon Thursday, Dec. 12 at Estrada Adobe, Tyler Street, Monterey. The cost per-person is $8.50 if pre-registered or $10 at the door.

Guest speakers are Candace Snow and Bill Riggs, of Data Base, a business consulting and management firm in Carmel Valley.

The focus of the seminar is current problems and perspectives in starting and/or maintaining small businesses. Two of the questions the seminar will address are why do small businesses fail and what are cost-efficient ways to acquire "survival expertise."

For more information, call the Management Institute of Monterey at 372-0859.

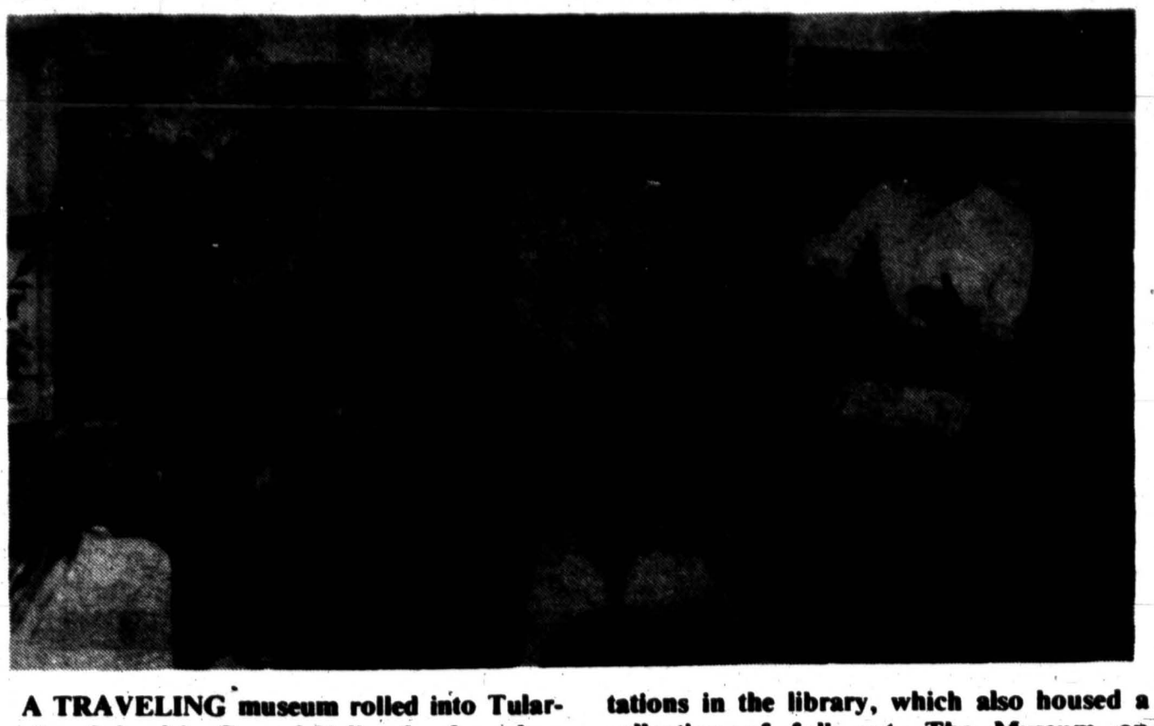
Traveling museum brings folk art to Tularcitios



A TRAVELING museum rolled into Tularcitos School in Carmel Valley for four days just before the Thanksgiving holiday bringing examples of folk art from throughout the world. The "Museum on Wheels" is sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art. At Tularcitos School students were treated to two assemblies on the history of folk art and then each class was given presentations in the library, which also housed a collection of folk art. The Museum on Wheels then spent time in the classes on crafts projects for the students. Above, Kay Cline (center) and Dorothea Audet (left) give a presentation to teacher Marilyn Bjonerud's class while Sherri Latone (right) signs. (Michael Gardner photos.)

Host families needed

Interested in sharing your home to learn more about the world?

By hosting a teenage student aged 15-18 from another country, you and your family can do so. Youth Exchange Service (YES), a non-profit organization, is seeking families to share their homes with students due to arrive in mid-January 1986 and stay for six months (second semester program).

They have medical insurance and bring their own spending money. Families may claim a $50 tax deduction for each month they provide room and board for the student.

For further information, please contact: Youth Exchange Service, World Trade Center Building, 350 South Figueroa St., No. 257-P, Los Angeles, Calif. 90071, or call 1 (800) 533-0656.

Poster child sought

The Quota Club of Monterey-Pacific Grove, a member of the Council for Better Hearing and Speech Month, joins with the council in announcing the opening of its seventh annual Poster Child competition.

The 1986 Poster Child, along with a celebrity chairman, will serve as a spokesman for the council and the more than 22 million Americans with communication handicaps which it represents, during Better Hearing and Speech Month in May.

The month-long public information campaign is sponsored annually by the council, a consortium of the nation's leading organizations in the field of speech, language and hearing.

Winner of the Poster Child contest will be featured in television, radio and magazine public service announcements, and will come to the nation's capital to help launch the May 1, 1986 kickoff campaign. While in Washington, the child and his or her parents will visit the White House and the Capitol.

Poster Child nominees must be at least 3 years old but not older than 6 as of May 1, 1986, and must have a significant speech, language or hearing problem. Contestants may be sponsored by parents, friends, teachers, professionals in speech or hearing, or organizations.

Quota International, as a member of the council, is making available to Monterey Peninsula residents the official Poster Child entry form. To obtain entry forms, contest rules or additional information, contact the Bavarian Shop in Carmel or Eureka Federal Savings, attention: Ruth Courtney, Alvarado Street in Monterey.

Entries must be received by the Council for Better Hearing and Speech Month no later than Monday, Dec. 2, 1985.

Contact with schools

By JOE FELDEISEN
Carmel High School Principal

Just recently, I had an irate parent in my office who believed her child had been treated unfairly at school. This parent's contact with our school was great appreciated. I do not like conferences like the one mentioned above, but it allows us to make positive changes. She chose to seek some resolution to the problem by contacting the school.

Unfortunately, experience shows that many parents avoid contacting the school. Why don't we contact the teacher to learn the details of the situation and work out the problem? Many parents say, "I won't contact the school because if I do the teacher will 'take it out' on my child." This could happen, and perhaps it has happened in rare instances. But that is not the way the vast majority of teachers in the Carmel Unified School District would handle the situation. Once again, a call to the building administrator would immediately rectify this problem.

Please, make no mistake, parents should contact the school when they have a concert about their child's education. If contact is avoided, the problem is unlikely to be resolved. Worse, both the parents and the child may develop negative attitudes about teachers and schools. Negative attitudes and resentment are never conducive to good school experiences, much less school success. Students have an opportunity to receive an excellent education at Carmel High School.

When you have a question or concern about your child's education at Carmel High School, you have an obligation to your child and to yourself to contact the school. Your first contact should be with your child's teacher, so that you can discuss the problem and hear the teacher's explanation. Questions and comments should be made in a clam and reasoned manner. If your concern is legitimate, a calm and reasonable demeanor will most likely secure cooperation, help, and a resolution to the problem. And if your concern is not warranted, the teacher will feel good about both you and your child after you leave the conference, for your reasonable behavior has set the stage for better communication in the future.

If the conference with the teacher does not result in a resolution to the problem to your satisfaction, the next step is to contact the principal. Then, if you should feel that the principal has not solved the problem to your satisfaction, you can contact the central office personnel, or even the board of education.

Teachers, principals, and central office personnel are not always right in dealing with students' educational problems, even though they try to be. But remember this as well: parents are not always right either. Parents sometimes jump to the wrong conclusion and make mistakes when considering their child's education.

But overriding these realities is a firm truth. Both the teacher and the parents have an obligation to do what is best for the child. Fortunately, most teachers and parents understand this obligation. However, unless parents and teachers fulfill the responsibility by talking and sharing their concerns, the child is the one who will lose.

When you are concerned about your child's experience at Carmel High School, exercise the best option. Contact teachers and school officials so that you can discuss and resolve the problem. But do so with the idea that both you and the teacher are committed to the same goal: to help your child. Together we will continue to make Carmel High School a great school.

I hope that all of you will have a happy holiday season.

P.S. If your child received a grade of D or F on the quarter report card, I would highly recommend that you contact the teacher immediately.

Changes at Carmel Valley High

By BLAKE FUESSENICH
CVHS Principal

The Board of Trustees has recently adopted substantial increases in the graduation requirements at Carmel's continuation high school. This improves the educational quality of the program and insures students will acquire a stronger preparation in the basic skill areas (reading, writing and computation) offered at the Shulte Road site.

Thirty additional credits are now needed to graduate from CVHS. This is an increase from 200 to 230 credits. These additional credits must be earned in academic areas. The raises each subject area requirement (except P.E.) five credits: English (to 40), social studies (to 30), math (to 20) and science (to 20).

The remaining 10 credits fulfill two new areas of student responsibility: health/first aid and computer education. In these five credit areas students will learn life saving techniques (e.g. CPR) in health and will develop computer literacy, word processing and computer programming in computer education. Credits are granted when the students demonstrate mastery of a specific lesson. This individualized, proficiency-based, skill acquisition approach to education insures a diploma is earned, not merely awarded. No credit is issued for "seat time." Credits are given only when the student has made measurable gains in learning.

The arts of photography, ceramics and graphics are also being emphasized this year. Thanks to FOCUS (Friends of Carmel Unified School), money and materials are available to start these new programs. Jack Savage, an instructor at Carmel High School, works at CVHS each Wednesday. While an early teacher retiree takes his classes at CHS, Jack helps our students develop their individiual art projects. CVHS staff then monitors their work during the week.

This is virtually a no-cost program to the Carmel school district. It provides students with an important program otherwise unavailable to them. Moreover, it creates a needed balance between the increased academic requirements and personal artistic development and expression.

These two areas — stronger academic requirements and a new arts program — provide new enthusiasm at Carmel Valley High School this year.

'Wash one for Lori and Brenna'

WINTER WEATHER got your car feeling those muddy blues or was it just a sudden outbreak of pigeon attack?

Well, no matter because the Carmel High School cheerleaders have just the remedy for you: a quick, inexpensive $3 car wash and you can help a worthy cause at the same time.

The Carmel High School cheerleaders will sponsor a car wash from 10:30 a.m. to 3:30 Saturday, Dec. 7 in the school parking lot near Ocean Avenue and Highway 1.

The car wash is being billed as a "Wash One for Lori and Brenna" event because the funds raised will be used to defray the expenses of two cheerleaders who will participate in the Aloha Bowl halftime activities Dec. 28.

Lori Palma and Brenna Gardner were selected from among 100,000 candidates nationwide to participate in the football game festivities in Honolulu, Hawaii.

Cost of the trip for the cheerleaders is $1,200 each.

The entire squad, their families and friends will be at the car wash to help out. Larger vehicles are welcome, but the price is negotiable.

A rain date of Dec. 14 (times remain the same) has been scheduled.

With hemodialysis treatments

By DEBRA E. DIX-MARTIN

BOB HENDERSON wasn't expecting a crisis in his life at the age of 28. No one ever does.

All his life he had been very active and healthy, except for a few minor problems with his kidneys. He knew those problems could become serious someday...perhaps by the time he was 50.

But at the age of 28, Bob Henderson's kidneys finally shut down.

"I was very sick. I had migraine headaches frequently and tiredness," Henderson says. "My kidneys could not keep me from being sick."

Dressed in a red Izod sweater and blue sweatpants, barefoot and relaxed, the 34-year-old Carmel resident spoke as he handed tape to the nurse who was securing a tube in his arm.

Beside him was a machine that looked like a computer with monitors and tubes: Henderson's hemodialysis machine.

Henderson is one of 37 patients who visit Carmel's New West Dialysis Clinic every week for hemodialysis treatments.

A hemodialysis machine uses an artificial kidney to remove waste products from the blood, Earlene Owings, a registered nurse at the clinic, says. The removal of waste products is one function that a normal working kidney performs.

"The blood is kind of like clothes in a clothes washer," Owings explains. The kidney "takes the dirt out."

Henderson was working as a computer programmer's aide at McGraw-Hill in 1978 when his kidneys failed. He said he began hemodialysis treatments a few times a week and tried to keep working part-time. In 1979, he received an artificial kidney transplant. With the hope that his body would not reject the kidney, he went back to work full-time at McGraw-Hill.

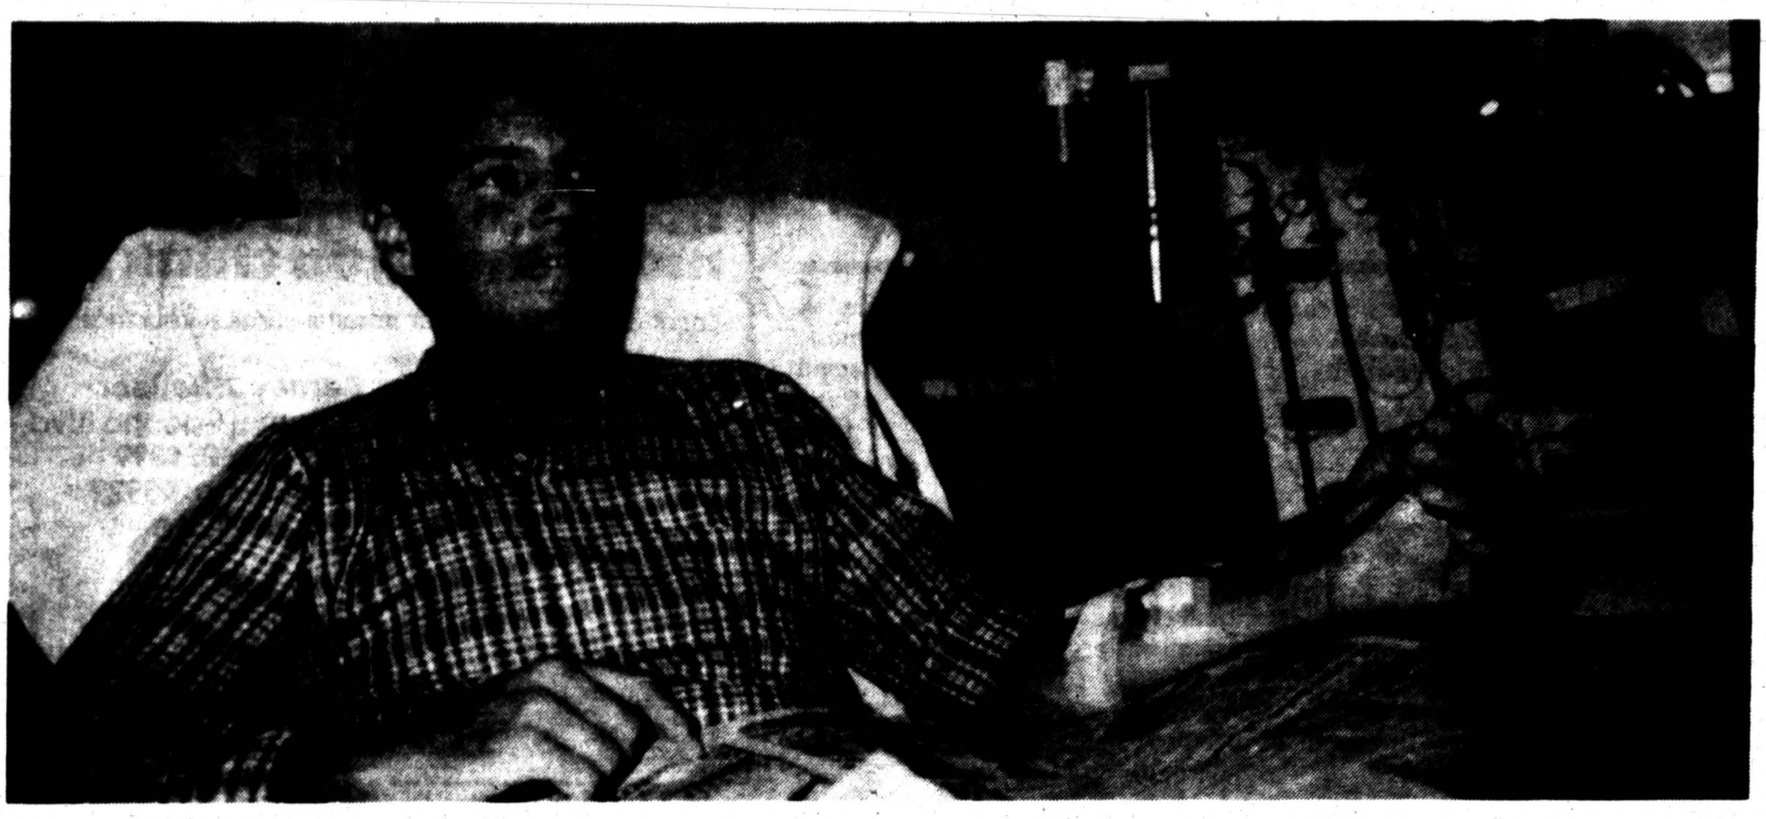
"The following spring, my body was rejecting the kidney, so in July 1980 I had the kidney removed," he says. "So I had to go back on dialysis."

In September 1980, Henderson had to quit his job and go on long-term disability. But Henderson hasn't let the loss of his kidneys destroy his life. He still keeps active by playing tennis once a month with his doctor and has gone on a trip to Maui.

"The best thing I can recommend is to keep busy...do something you enjoy to take your mind off your medical problem," he says. "There are times when you're having fun that you don't ever think of your kidney problem and those are the best days."

The New West clinic serves patients ranging from age 25 to those well into their 70s, according to clinic social worker Marjorie Atkinson.

"These people would be dead if they didn't go on dialysis," she says.



BOB HENDERSON of Carmel goes through three to four-hour kidney dialysis treatments three times a week at the New West Dialysis Clinic, but he still remains active, recently returning from a vacation trip to Hawaii in which he swam and skindived. (Mac McDonald photo.)

ATKINSON SAID dialysis (artificial kidney treatment) has been used on kidney patients since the 1960s.

"There still are people alive who started on that dialysis back in those days," she says.

Though dialysis can keep patients alive, kidney failure greatly changes the lives of its victims. "The diet changes, activities change, financial and social status change," Owings says.

"There is a psychological reaction," Dr. Vahe Ashton, 76, a patient at the clinic, interjects.

Ashton, who says jokingly that he is a "retired, broken-down dentist," says it took him one month after he was told of his kidney failure to realize it.

"You have to adjust your life...but life can still go on for you."

Ashton had been on a home dialysis machine called a peritoneal dialysis prior to utilizing the hemodialysis. The peritoneal, which does basically the same thing the hemodialysis does but works through the abdomen, did not work well for Ashton so he was forced to switch treatments.

Where the peritoneal had to be used every day, four times a day, according to Ashton, hemodialysis treatments take three to five hours, three times a week.

"I'm so happy and delighted we have a facility like this in our area," Ashton says.

Kidney disease a serious issue

Kidney disease can be a very serious matter.

Earlene Owings, a registered nurse at New West Dialysis Clinic at the mouth of Carmel Valley, warned that people with high blood pressure or diabetes should frequently see a doctor.

"High blood pressure and diabetes are by far the largest causes of kidney failure," she says.

"But you can get your high blood pressure and diabetes controlled," she says.

According to When Your Kidneys Fail, a handbook written by Mickie Hall Faris, there are six major warning signs of chronic kidney disease.

These are: "A change in the frequency or pattern of urination; burning during urination; bloody or coffee-colored urine; swelling of your face, feet, or abdomen; lower back pain; and high blood pressure."

Those who have complete or almost complete kidney failure may either go on an artificial kidney machine or, if they are eligible, hope for a successful kidney transplant.

The hemodialysis treatments cost the patients about $140 per treatment at New West. Medicare usually pays for most of the treatment and private insurance or Medicare may pay for the rest, clinic social worker Marjorie Atkinson said.

DR. VAHE Ashton, 76, a retired dentist from Monterey, makes regular visits to the clinic for dialysis treatments, something he favors over the peritoneal treatments he once tried. (Mac McDonald photo.)

CBA COMMENTS

CARMEL BUSINESS ASSOCIATION

Give us a break

IT WASN'T too long ago when Mom, apple pie and owning your own home made up the American Dream; so did owning your own business. Not like Henry Ford or John Rockefeller, but maybe just a stationery store or a gift shop — and not necessarily to make a fortune but just a living or even a supplemental living.

Let's say it was an American dream except here in Carmel where it appears that city hall has a terrible misconception of what this business community really is. The majority of small businesses here in the village do a mediocre volume of sales. A very small percent might do well, but it is hit-or-miss for most.

'City hall is coming across with a far too heavy hand that has a growing tendency to kill the patient rather than heal him.'

The opportunity to make a lot of money with a small business in Carmel just isn't there. In fact most of the businesses here couldn't continue to even survive if their owners didn't have some kind of retirement or other supplementary income.

There may be some exceptions on Ocean Avenue, but just a few, and their success is being threatened by escalating land values which in turn are causing unrealistic rent increases, something that will eventually endanger the Ocean Avenue biggies as well as the other small businesses on the village's side streets. There is just no way a candy store can make it paying $4,000 a month rent.

In spite of a number of store owners who may have other income and whose businesses are more hobbies or perhaps something to keep occupied, a great number of village businesses are owned and run by wives whose husbands are working in other professions, and who provide the basic family income. And there are some of us in the middle of all this whose businesses must provide the sole income for our families, and we are here putting in our 10, 12 or more hours per day, six and seven days a week.

We're here because most of us recognize the value to us and our families of living in this community, and it seems to be a fair trade for the higher incomes we once enjoyed in the big city. But there is no doubt about it, it is a difficult place to make a living in the face of extremely high rents, tough competition, and a city government that literally fights you at every turn and openly resents your existence.

Most of us understand and appreciate what city hall is trying to do in its efforts to keep Carmel Carmel, but it's coming across as a far too heavy hand that has a growing tendency to kill the patient rather than heal him. People in our position can't help but wonder what the members of our City Council did for a living, or what they did prior to moving here, to be able to live and survive here.

We think it's time the powers-that-be recognize the fact that we are contributing members of this community just as they are and will fill a need just as they do. No city can live without a certain degree of commerce, especially one that enjoys a $6 million city budget. With a population of only 4,700 it seems wonderful that we can all enjoy — and the village can afford to have — a Sunset Center, can afford to build a $750,000 addition to the library, can afford a $500,000 mini park, can afford to re-build and completely modernize city hall, and can afford an extremely experienced and educated city hall staff.

All we ask is that next time you feel you are about to get carried away with a new mandate regarding the business community, take the time to walk around town, visit the shops, talk to the owners, and get to know them and their problems. We hope you'll discover that the business community loves Carmel just as much as you do, and we'd all like to stay if we can continue to afford to.

(Editor's note: This column is the first in a series of commentaries written by members of the Carmel Business Association that will appear occasionally in the Pine Cone.)

'Unlearning racism' workshop set

The Monterey County Cultural Council plans a workshop about "Unlearning racism." Ricky Sherover-Marcuse will lead the workshop, to be presented from 12:30 to 4 p.m., Thursday, Dec. 12 at Cypress Community Church.

Workshop focus includes uncovering racist conditioning, learning to change actions which result in unintended hurts to people of other backgrounds and increasing abilities to intervene when we encounter racism.

Preregistration is required for this workshop in order to prepare handouts for all participants. To sign up, call 646-4251.

Vivaldi performed at monastery

"The Credo" by Antonio Vivaldi will be performed by a 12-voice chorale Saturday, Dec. 7. Admission is free to the 3 p.m. concert, presented at the Carmelite Monastery, Highway 1 south of Carmel. For details, call 625-6688.

OBITUARIES

Margaret C. Hastey

Services took place for Margaret C. Hastey, a 55-year Monterey Peninsula resident who died Nov. 5 at Community Hospital. She was 72.

Born May 7, 1913 in Clovis, she made her home in Pebble Beach. Survivors include her husband, LeRoy; two sons, Edward of Sacramento and Robert of Clovis; two sisters, Rose McKay of Pacific Grove and Nell Crossland of Fresno; a brother, Robert Mainwaring of Daly City; five grandchildren and one great-granddaughter.

Inurnment took place at Clovis City Cemetery. The Mission Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

The family suggests memorial contributions to the Monterey city trust fund for improvements to Dennis the Menace Park.

Polly Bowhay

Cremation took place for Polly Bowhay, a 30-year resident of Carmel, whose 50 years as a school teacher was followed by another 20 years as a volunteer teacher, who died Nov. 19 at Community Hospital. She was 91.

She was born Sept. 17, 1894 in Iowa City, Iowa; her given name was Mary. She spent the last 10 years of her teaching career at Robert Louis Stevenson School, retiring in 1965.

She was a member of the Tor House Foundation and the Lyceum of the Monterey Peninsula.

Survivors include a daughter, Jane Howells of Pebble Beach; four grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren. Her husband, Arnold, died in 1971.

Following cremation, ashes were scheduled to be scattered at sea. The California Cremation Society was in charge of arrangements.

The family suggests memorial contributions to the Monterey Bay Symphony, 1340 Munras Ave., Suite 308, Monterey.

Pearl G. Pike

Funeral services took place Nov. 21 at the Church of the Wayfarer in Carmel for Pearl G. Pike, retired secretary of the Church of the Wayfarer who died Nov. 16 at her home in Monterey. She was 75.

Born Dec. 11, 1909 in Ashland, Wis., she moved to Carmel in 1957 and lived there until two years ago when she moved to Monterey. She was secretary at the Church of the Wayfarer from 1958 to 1980, when she retired.

She was a member of the Carmel Foundation, Monterey County Symphony Association and United Methodist Women. She was twice the past president of the PEO Sisterhood and was a driver for Meals on Wheels.

She and her late husband, Albert, were married in 1936 and lived in Chicago for many years. Mr. Pike died in 1958 and Mrs. Pike leaves no survivors.

Burial took place at El Carmelo Cemetery in Pacific Grove. The Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Memorial contributions are suggested to the Scholarship Fund, Church of the Wayfarer Foundation, P.O. Box 2205, Carmel 93921.

Emily Brown

A memorial service took place Nov. 25 at the Little Chapel by-the-Sea for Emily Brown, longtime resident of Carmel, local journalist and retired chief librarian at the Monterey Peninsula Herald who died Nov. 20 at the Community Hospital. She was 70.

Born Dec. 31, 1914 in Galveston, Texas, she earned a journalism degree at the Colorado Women's College in Denver. From 1944 to 1948, she worked as a writer for several agencies in Washington, D.C.

She came to Carmel in 1948 and worked for the Carmel Pine Cone, the Monterey Peninsula Review, and then with the Herald for eight years, retiring in 1984 as chief librarian.

Survivors include a sister, Anne Butler of Dallas, Texas; several cousins, including Mrs. Oliver E. Wood of Carmel; and many nieces and nephews.

Sidney Burch

Memorial services took place Nov. 23 at Congregation Beth Israel in Monterey for Sidney Burch of Carmel Valley who died Nov. 21 at the Hospice of the Monterey Peninsula. He was 65.

Born July 27, 1920 in New York City, he received bachelor's and master's degrees from Iona College in New York. He was an Army veteran of World War II.

He moved to Carmel in 1966 and then to Carmel Valley in 1977. He was a teacher for 25 years, and was working in the special education department at Monterey Peninsula Unified School District at the time of his death. He taught in the district since 1972; and before that, he taught migrant laborers in camps in upstate New York.

Survivors include his wife, Helga; two sons, Peter of Oakland and Larry of Carmel Valley; and two brothers, George and Robert, both of New York City.

Cremation took place at the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea with the Paul Mortuary in charge of arrangements.

The family suggests memorial contributions to Congregation Beth Israel.

John D. Steiner

Memorial services took place Nov. 27 at the Little Chapel by-the-Sea for John Donald Steiner of Pebble Beach who died Nov. 24 at Community Hospital. He was 66.

Born Jan. 1, 1919 in Quincy, Ill., he was an Army veteran of World War II.

He worked as a contractor and nurseryman in Riverside before moving to the Monterey Peninsula, where he continued to work as a contractor until he retired in 1980.

Survivors include his wife, Patricia C. Mahan-Steiner; a son, Stephen S. of Pebble Beach; a stepson, Henry Halle of Georgetown, Tenn.; a sister, Janet Shoopman of Quincy; a brother, George Steiner of Warwick, R.I.; and two grandchildren.

The family suggests memorial contributions to the American Heart Association.

Messiah sing

The 13th annual "Messiah Sing" will be held Dec. 8 at 4 p.m. at the Pacific Grove Methodist Church on Sunset and 17 Mile Drive in Pacific Grove. This event is co-sponsored by the Church of the Wayfarer in Carmel and the Pacific Grove Methodist Church. Choral director is John Farr, with accompaniment by organist Judy Midgley.

The one-hour sing includes highlights of Handel's greatest oratorio. There are no soloists, so the entire section sings the selected solo parts. All participants are urged to bring their own music, although there will be several copies available at the door.

This tradition is open to the public and there is no fee. We encourage all to come and sing, not just to listen. For further information, please contact Rob Klevan at 625-2097 or 624-1257.

REMEMBER WHEN???

From the Carmel Pine Cone
Dec. 2, 1920

FROM THE SANCTUM

Residents of Carmel are wondering whether the action of San Francisco newspapers in printing announcements of the motion picture projection "Foolish Wives," staged at Point Lobos last Sunday, refer to it as being produced at Monterey, is because their writers are ignorant of the fact that Point Lobos adjoins Carmel and is more than eight miles distant from Monterey, or because of the fact that Carmel is steadily becoming more popular as a winter and summer resort than San Francisco's much exploited suburban resorts. Newspaper readers are entitled to facts in news items.

CARMEL GETS BIG UTILITY CHECK

Carmel this week received $1,564.77, its share of $86,458.92 paid by the Pacific Gas and Electric Company to cities of Monterey County in taxes, for the first installment on its property located in Monterey County. The county received $62,455.39, Monterey city got $5,974.40 and the balance was divided as follows: King City, $864.15; Pacific Grove, $3,042.61; Salinas, $16,408.83 and Soledad $148.77.

This is the company's first payment under the new Riley-Stewart tax law, says A. Balchin, district superintendent. By this payment the Pacific Gas and Electric Company becomes the county's largest taxpayer.

COUNCIL GIVES ITS BLESSING TO 36 MORE PINES FOR CARMEL

At last night's city council meeting, the lands and improvement committee (Francis Whitaker and Eben Whittlesey) asked for and got council approval for the city street department to plant:

Twenty pines around the city-owned block bounded by Junipero, Torres, Fourth and Fifth; eight pines on Dolores Street, Fifth to Third; and six pines for Dolores Street, First to Vista. These will be 8-feet-tall young trees. Also, 10-feet-high (gallon container) pines, 10 wild lilac and 10 toyon bushes to cover and hold the fresh fill at the Mission and First street park site.

COUNCIL TO CONSIDER PROPOSAL FOR FISCAL AND BUDGET STUDY

The Carmel City Council will consider an offer by Melvin Steckler to provide Carmel with a fiscal planning and budget preparation support service for $15,000.

At Tuesday's meeting, Steckler told the council his proposal aimed at isolating half a million worth of possible savings for the city and that the city could realistically hope for a minimum expenditure reduction of $250,000 in the 1976-77 year.

FUNDING IS URGED FOR YOUTH PROGRAM

Monterey County Sheriff Bud Cook said he will urge county funding to preserve the youth diversion program at Carmel High School.

MONTEREY COUNTY Sheriff Bud Cook — five years ago — asked that the diversion program at Carmel High School be retained. (Alan McEwen photo.)

The program, hailed by school and law enforcement officials as an innovative success and cost-saver, will end next year unless its three-year federal grant is replaced with county funds.

Raymond George, a former deputy sheriff, has run the program from its inception in December 1978 with an annual budge of $19,000. Chief purpose of his work is to keep youth offenders out of the juvenile justice system. George views his work as double-edged, saving court and probation costs while providing positive alternatives to a youth who is arrested, tried and put out on probation.

New Alzheimer's center open for county residents

The Monterey County Board of Supervisors and Central Coast Visiting Nurse Association have put final signatures on the contract that will place a new Alzheimer's Day Care Resource Center in operation in Seaside.

Phase 1 of the program, contracted between the California Department of Aging and Monterey County Department of Social Services Office for Aging and Adult Programs has already begun.

The county has subcontracted with VNA to provide services through expansion of the current VNA ASSIST program, which has been serving Alzheimer's victims and other frail elderly for the past two years. The facility and partial staffing for the ASSIST program is provided through the Monterey Peninsula Unified School District's Adult School and will now serve the current Alzheimer's program, as well.

Phase 1 of the Alzheimer's Day Care Resource Center involves expansion of ASSIST hours and staff to make way for new clients.

"The victims of Alzheimer's disease are the entire family, and that's where the program is targeted," says Vicki Shepard, director of the Monterey County Office for Aging and Adult Programs.

Care for the person who has the disease will be provided at the Seaside facility, which will also serve as respite for the family member or loved one taking care of the Alzheimer's victim. The Department of Social Services will screen and refer applicants, and will coordinate services that will help the family cope with the problems surrounding Alzheimer's disease.

A main goal of the program is to help victims of Alzheimer's disease to function at optimum level. Activities, exercises and various classes will be provided at the Seaside facility, along with occupational and physical therapy, ongoing nutritional and health monitoring, and a psychosocial component.

In addition, the program has been implemented to assure centralized access within the community to Alzheimer's-related services and information, to provide family members with respite, support and information.

"It's also important that we enhance the current development of a coordinated community-based, long-term care system in Monterey," says Shepard. "Community resources are banding together in this project as a community effort."

The family support group will be administered by county mental health staff. The library will be established at the Seaside site and will serve as an information center on Alzheimer's disease and related disorders. Educational events are planned with attention directed toward training opportunities for service providers and caregivers.

"The location for this facility on the Monterey Peninsula is logical," says Ardie Breton, program director for the new Alzheimer's Center, "as about 53 percent of the county's elderly live on the peninsula."

County officials estimate that more than 2,000 Alzheimer's victims, plus family [illegible] mation and support in Monterey County.

For more information about the program call the Department of Social Services at 899-2571 or 757-5905.

TWENTY PERCENT OPINION

BY ROBERT - STEPHENSON
CARMEL CITY COUNCILMAN

'The times they are a'changin'

Indeed they are. They are constantly changing. The state government imposes new regulations, and the federal government creates new requirements. Society's changing attitudes call for new responses. Technological advances provide new opportunities. The explosion of knowledge calls for greater educational efforts. Population pressures impose new restrictions. Demographic studies point the way to innovative solutions. Hardly anything in this world is static, and Carmel-by-the-Sea is no exception.

The factor of greatest importance to a caring community, as Carmel-by-the-Sea is, is how to adapt gracefully to the myriad changes forced upon us, and how to adapt in ways which will bring the greatest long-range benefit to the citizens of our village.

Nearly all the influences noted above impact on a longstanding issue of considerable concern to some of our citizens and of some concern to nearly all. I refer to our local library. I would like to call it Carmel's library. But because a large portion of the library budget comes from state and county funds, and because less than one-third of the registered card holders are Carmel citizens (see footnotes a and b), and because the benefits of participating in the Monterey Bay Area Cooperative Library System (MOBAC) are essential to a contemporary library operation, it can no longer be considered strictly a Carmel-by-the-Sea institution.

'The Harrison Memorial Library...can no longer be considered strictly a Carmel-by-the-Sea institution.'

True enough, the final decisions regarding the operation and funding rest with the board of trustees and the city council, but their ultimate decisions are tempered and molded by many factors generated outside our village.

The board of trustees has decided, and wisely I believe, not to restrict the library services just to the corporate limits of Carmel-by-the-Sea. We have too much to lose in funding and interlibrary cooperation if we become too parochial and confine our library services just to the city limits.

If we accept the fact that the library does now (and will continue into the future to) serve a much greater area and population base than Carmel-by-the-Sea, and that the present building was designed nearly 60 years ago (1926-c) to serve a small village of a couple thousand people, it becomes painfully evident that the changing times are now forcing a widening gap between what our present library facilities and services are and what they should be.

Space inadequacies were evident when the original building was 20 years old. To satisfy that growth pressure the Maybeck building was enlarged to the north and west in 1949. The continuing growth over the ensuing 36 years has caused such space constrictions that the library functions have boiled over into Sunset Center and the Scout House.

A divided library, or a library with divided functions, is inefficient and uneconomic. Such a library is not serving its patrons as a proper library should.

In 1968 the trustees hired a library consultant (e) to study the problems then existing. The major point of that study was that the existing building, though attractive and beloved by the people, was inadequate and inefficient as a working library structure. The reasons were many and they are still all there. Aside from too little space for the then-existing book collection, the five different floor levels made using book-carts to distribute books impractical, thus requiring extra staff time and effort to carry armloads of books for processing and restocking shelves. The many small spaces confined by fixed walls made flexible space changes impossible. The multitude of stairs, although they are relatively short flights, inhibited circulation, took up valuable floor and wall space, and made access by the handicapped extremely difficult if not impossible. Nothing has changed except the ever-increasing crowding.

The fatal flaw of that report was a recommendation that if a new building were to be built, the Harrison Memorial Library building could be rented or leased or sold for commercial purposes to help finance the new structure. That proposal was unacceptable then, just as it would be today. The city must not lose control of that building. We can find a proper civic use for it so that it can continue to serve the people of Carmel.

In the early part of this year, 17 years later, another library consultant (f) was hired again to study the Harrison Memorial Library to make recommendations for its 20-year future and for immediate interim solutions. Once again the only practical long-range solution was a new structure in a different location. The reasons were all the same as in the previous report with several new inadequacies.

Traditionally library collections were mainly printed

TWENTY PERCENT OPINION

BY ROBERT - STEPHENSON

materials, books, bound and single magazines and reference volumes. Later came phonograph records. Then came microfilm material and viewers. Still later came audio tape cassettes. Soon to come will be video cassettes and audio-compact discs. And into the next century no one knows what sort of material will be available to public libraries and desirable to the patrons. The present library building does not have space for this type of material, and it cannot be effectively enlarged. After the librarian's office, secretary's space, children's area, and activity room are removed to the proposed annex the net gain in the Harrison building will be 1,257 square feet (b) — not even enough to comfortably relieve the present crowding, and certainly not allowing for future growth.

The currently proposed 4,500 square foot (h) annex will not add enough space for the present collection of books, reference material, records, maps, microfilmed material and viewers, and the special collection of California and local history to be properly displayed, and it will effectively preclude any expansion into the 21st century, only 15 years hence.

A graphic presentation of the existing space and several proposals over the years is included here. The graph shows that the currently proposed annex combined with the present Harrison building has substantially less space than what was proposed and considered optimum in 1968, 17 years ago. Not only is the proposed space inadequate for the library's present needs, but this proposal will create a divided facility, will separate the children and young students from the main library collections, will establish duplicate checkout desks and card indices, will double the security risks and costs, will continue the high staffing costs of two buildings, and will almost certainly prevent any further expansion for the foreseeable future.

No one article within the space allowed by this newspaper can cover the magnitude of this issue. I have only opened the subject to further debate. Yet to be discussed is the future use of the present library building. Perhaps the reading room can be returned to the quiet atmosphere that Bernard Maybeck envisioned (g) on his visit to Carmel for an official reception prior to the public opening, with current reading materials and fireplace, a living room in mid-village. The balance might be revitalized as "The Carmel Museum" (music, art, local history), a long-cherished dream and hope of Helen Arnold and many other civic-minded villagers. If the citizens of Carmel-by-the-Sea and library patrons of the larger service area have questions on this subject I will try to find the answers. If you have comments or suggestions I'll be pleased to receive those also.

May we soon have a library worthy of the aspirations and quality represented by Carmel-by-the-Sea.

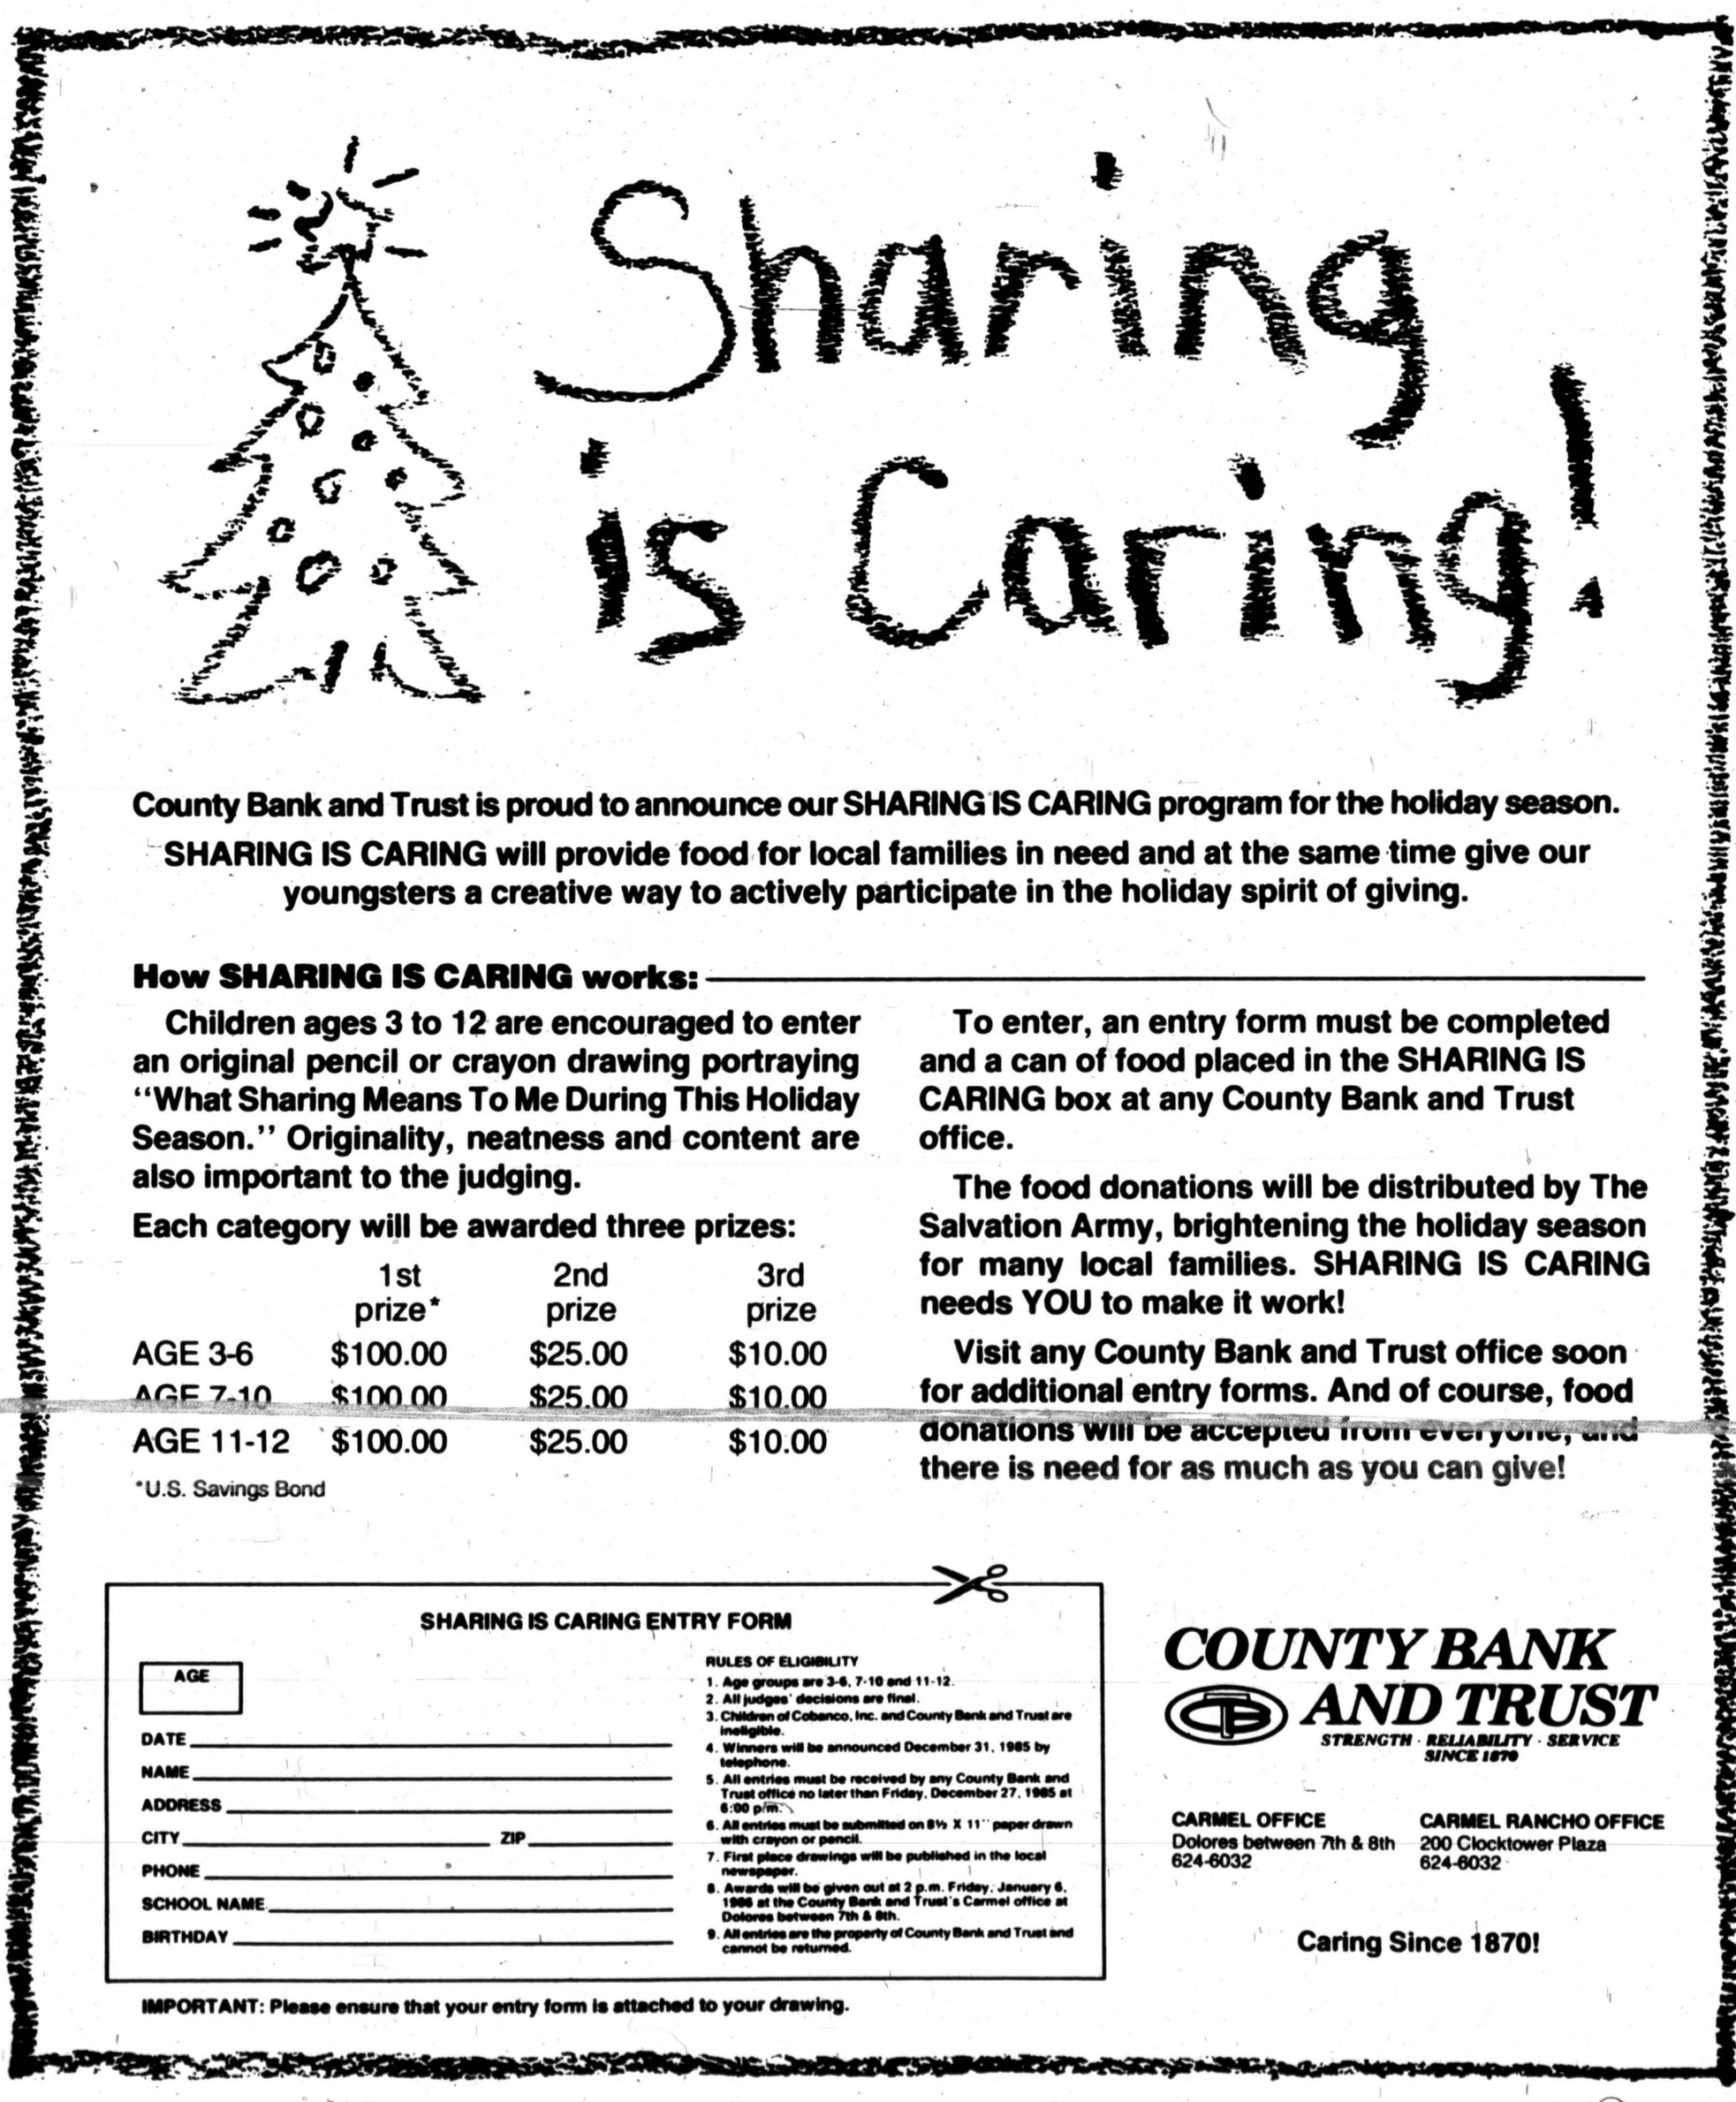
YWCA schedules workshops

The YWCA of the Monterey Peninsula offers workshops on a multitude of subjects. For additional information about any of the following, call or visit the YWCA, 404 Camino El Estero in Monterey, 649-0834.

- Model Mugging: This course trains women in self-defense by reconditioning "freeze" responses and teaching women to fight back. Danielle Evans leads the course, offered on the MPC campus on Monday evenings through Dec. 9.
- Mother/Daughter Evenings: This two-part workshop focuses on ways mothers and their teenaged daughters can build communication. Jeanne Niewenhous and Mary Elise Robertson lead the course, 7 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 10 in the YWCA Library.



County Bank and Trust is proud to announce our SHARING IS CARING program for the holiday season.

SHARING IS CARING will provide food for local families in need and at the same time give our youngsters a creative way to actively participate in the holiday spirit of giving.

How SHARING IS CARING works:

Children ages 3 to 12 are encouraged to enter an original pencil or crayon drawing portraying "What Sharing Means To Me During This Holiday Season." Originality, neatness and content are also important to the judging.

Each category will be awarded three prizes:

	1st prize*	2nd prize	3rd prize
AGE 3-6	$100.00	$25.00	$10.00
AGE 7-10	$100.00	$25.00	$10.00
AGE 11-12	$100.00	$25.00	$10.00

*U.S. Savings Bond

To enter, an entry form must be completed and a can of food placed in the SHARING IS CARING box at any County Bank and Trust office.

The food donations will be distributed by The Salvation Army, brightening the holiday season for many local families. SHARING IS CARING needs YOU to make it work!

Visit any County Bank and Trust office soon for additional entry forms. And of course, food donations will be accepted from everyone, and there is need for as much as you can give!

DMV fees due

Motorists who are thinking of putting off paying vehicle registration fees until next year "because there's an amnesty coming," had better think again. Any fee due now (or since February 28, 1985) is not included in the amnesty and must be paid by the due date to avoid penalties.

"In other words," says Department of Motor Vehicles Director George E. Meese, "the Jan. 1-March 31, 1986, amnesty on registration fee penalties applies only to fees which were already due before March 1 of this year.

The motor vehicle fee amnesty bill, AB 2000 authored by Assemblyman Gray Davis, sets up an amnesty period during the first three months of next year, 1986, during which penalties will be forgiven on registration fees which were payable through Feb. 20 of this year.

When the amnesty ends, penalties will take a steep jump. On registration fees delinquent up to one year, the penalty will remain 20 percent of the fee, as it is now. On registrations overdue one to two years, the penalty will become 40 percent of the fee for that year, and on registrations overdue more than two years the penalty will jump to 80 percent of the fee due then.

In addition, courts will be required to impose a fine of at least $50 and as much as $250 on owners of vehicles which are moved or parked without current registration stickers.

Law enforcement officers will be authorized to impound any vehicle with stickers over one year old until the owner has paid overdue registration fees.

Said Meese, "We are deluged with letters from citizens who pay their annual vehicle fees on time and are angered at seeing so many vehicles with expired license plate tags. The amnesty will give delinquent owners of such vehicles a last chance to pick up their share of the burden before the penalties are increased.

"Registration fees pay not only for highways. The larger property tax portion is returned to cities and counties and is a major contributor to local government operating revenues.

"The amnesty law is designed to build a fire under 5 percent of vehicle owners who for too long have been driving around with expired license plate stickers.

'Artisans Give Thanks' show returns to La Playa

DOZENS OF skillfully wrought and gift-worthy items will be exhibited when the Artisans Give Thanks to the Animals Christmas gift show returns to La Playa Hotel in Carmel.

The show will take place Friday, through Sunday, Dec. 6-8 at the hotel on Camino and Real and Eighth.

Proceeds from the event will again benefit the three Monterey Bay Area groups which focus on protecting marine birds and mammals: Friends of the Sea Otter, the Monterey Bay Chapter of the American Cetacean Society and the Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society.

There will be a wine preview on Friday from 6 to 10 p.m. Donation is $5 at the door. Wines will be donated by Chateau Julien and hors d'oeuvres will be donated by La Playa Hotel.

Admission to the show is free on Saturday, (10 a.m. to 9 p.m.) and Sunday (10 a.m. to 5 p.m.). Since La Playa is providing extra space for the gift show, it will not be serving Sunday brunch on Dec. 8. On Sunday afternoon there will be a prize-drawing with prizes donated by the artists, local shops and restaurants. Monterey Sports Fishing and the Princess Monterey are donating whale watching trips.

Thirty artists will display their crafts. Craftsmen from the Monterey Bay area as well as several outstanding artisans from Northern California will participate in this year's show.

Among Monterey Peninsula favorites will be Randy Puckett's fine wood and bronze whale sculptures, Dawn Cope's whimsical stuffed animals, Rosemary Alvarez's unique pine needle baskets, Dorothy Smith's lovely dolls, Bill and Becki Hunt's stained glass and metal sculptures, Carl Olsen's handsome ironwork and the Carraig Company, whose Salinas-based handicapped workers create cutting boards, television trays, rainbow carry-all boxes and wooden reindeer.

The Artisans Give Thanks to the Animals Christmas gift show began in 1978 to showcase local artists who appreciate living near the shores of Monterey Bay, and who want to make a personal contribution toward protecting the area's fragile marine life.

Friends of the Sea Otter was established in 1968 to help protect the threatened California sea otter — still numbering only about 1,400 animals — and their marine environment. In recent years it has concentrated on protecting the otters from offshore oil drilling and drowning in fishing nets. The group operates an Educational Center in The Barnyard at the entrance to Carmel Valley which is open daily from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The Monterey Bay Chapter of the American Cetacean Society focuses on matters aquatic — primarily whales, dolphins and porpoises. It maintains a volunteer network which watches over beached marine mammals, offers a monthly speaker on marine issues, and contributes to rescue and rehabilitation efforts.

Since 1941, the Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society has worked in environmental education, focusing on the preservation of habitat for all species of wildlife. The society has played a key role in protecting marine birds and mammals from drowning in nearshore fishing nets in Monterey Bay.

Christmas in Carmel: a time of singing, sharing

A COMMUNITY Christmas celebration designed to offer benefits for more than just those in attendance returns Saturday, Dec. 7 during the ninth annual Christmas in Carmel celebration.

Admission is free to the many events that comprise this community-wide event. At 3 p.m., the combined choruses of many local churches will join to present a program of Christmas music from many lands, in addition to traditional American carols.

Carols from Germany, France, Spain and Italy will be sung and everyone is invited to sing these carols in their native language. The musical portion of the afternoon will last about an hour — and the audience is invited to join in the singing.

The celebration can be shared with a needy child or senior citizen by bringing canned food or a wrapped gift tagged for a child or senior citizen to the Salvation Army Christmas Bureau Basket. There will be a Christmas tree in the lobby of Sunset Theater under which gifts can be left.

Another way to take part in Christmas in Carmel is to bring a favorite cookie or sweet for sharing.

Setting for the celebration is Sunset Theater, San Carlos Street at Ninth Avenue in Carmel. For more information about Christmas in Carmel, call 624-3996.

Camerata Singers at Carmel Mission...

Triple 'Magnificats' performed

TRIPLE BIRTHDAYS will be musically celebrated when the Camerata Singers of Monterey County present their fifth annual Christmas Music at the Missions concerts.

The program this season will feature three interpretations of the Magnificat, one by Heinrich Schuetz (1585-1672), Domenico Scarlatti (1685-1757) and Johann Sebastian Bach (1685-1750). Concerts are scheduled for 8 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 8 at Carmel Mission Basilica, and 3 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 15 at the Old Mission Church in San Juan Bautista.

The Camerata Singers will present the premiere performance in the United States of Scarlatti's Magnificat. In 1958, Vahe Aslanian, artistic director and founder of the Camerata Singers, discovered the Abbe Forunato Santini Collection of 18th-century Italian sacred choral music. From this source in the Diozesan Bibliothek in Munster, Germany, Aslanian brings Scarlatti's Magnificat.

The artistic director obtained both a copy of the original manuscript and the published version from Munster, which he further edited by inserting passages for soloists alternating with the chorus and also included an accompaniment for the continuo instruments, such as harpsichord, cello and double bass.

Solo quartet parts will be sung by Vicky Van Dewark, soprano; Page Swift, mezzo-soprano; Gene Albin, tenor; and Alan Gilbert, bass.

Heinrich Schuetz
1585-1672

J.S. Bach
1685-1750

The Camerata Singers will be joined by four recorder players, a string group, two violins, two trumpets and three trombones and a continuo group. The quartet of soloists will also be featured in the Schuetz Magnificat.

A 22-piece chamber orchestra led by concertmaster Vernon Brown will join the singers during the J.S. Bach Magnificat. An addition to the usual performance of this piece will be the four interpolations which he inserted between the verses of the main text for his first Christmas Vespers at St. Thomaskirke in Leipzig in 1723. These are the motets "Von Himmel Hoch," "Freut euch und jubiliert," "Gloria in excelsis Deo" for four-part chorus and the duet for soprano and bass, "Virga Jesse floruit" to be sung by Vicky Van Dewark and Alan Gilbert.

The Camerata Singers were established in 1981, and have since performed more than 60 different pieces of choral music. The group's name derives from two sources, namely the Florentine Camerata and the Camera di Musica (Music Room) where they rehearse. The former was a group of 16th century intellectuals who were poets, composers, singers and instrumentalists who met in the palazzo of Count Giovanni Bardi to resuscitate the ancient Greek drama and combine it with the new style of vocal music.

Tickets to both concerts are $8 general, $5 to students under age 25. Tickets can be purchased in advance by sending a check and self-addressed envelope to Camerata Singers, Box 428, Salinas, CA 93902. For more information, call 624-4598 or 663-3342.

French recording artist featured in piano recital

ON SUNDAY, Dec. 8, Bronson Concerts will present French pianist Cecille Ousset in recital at Sunset Theater in Carmel.

Ousset won a Premier Prix at the Paris Conservatoire when she was 14 and went on to amass a formidable list of competition credits including prizes in the Van Cliburn, Viotti, Geneva, Marguerite Long-Jacques Thibaud and Queen Elizabeth competitions.

Until recently her career centered in Europe and the Soviet bloc countries which resulted in her being unfamiliar to audiences in the English-speaking world.

After the collapse of French Decca she entered into a new recording contract with the London-based EMI, which distributes in America on the Angel label. This ever-expanding distribution of recordings has created recognition for Ousset in the United States and England. The Times of London said of her playing: "It simply makes one fall in love with the piano all over again."

Her program in Carmel will consist of Beethoven's "Appassionata" Sonata, Chopin's F Major Ballade; Images, Book I, by Debussy; Sonatine and Jeux d'eau by Ravel and will conclude with a rarely heard virtuoso work by Saint-Saens called Etude en forme de Valse. The concert will begin at 4 p.m.

Tickets range in price from $4 to $10 and are available at Do Re Mi in The Barnyard, Carmel; Abinante Music in Monterey; Baldwin Music Center in Pacific Grove and at the box office on the afternoon of the performance. For further information call 625-0797.

PREMIER PRIX winner Cecille Ousset will appear in recital at 4 p.m. on Sunday, Dec. 8. Bronson Concerts sponsors this recital at Sunset Theater in Carmel. For information, call 625-0797.

Earthquake prediction addressed at lecture

The Pacific Grove Museum of Natural History Association will present a free lecture on Sunday, Dec. 8 titled "Earthquake Prediction."

Lecturer will be Catherine Poley, geophysicist from the U.S. Geological Survey in Menlo Park. Poley conducts research in the analysis of earthquake data to determine structure and properties of the earth's crust.

Geophysicists have long sought a method for predicting earthquakes because of the potential for catastrophic loss of life and property. Scientists generally agree that a major quake will occur somewhere along the San Andreas Fault within the next 25 years.

The lecture is free. It will be presented at 2:30 p.m. at the Pacific Grove Museum of Natural History, 165 Forest Ave., Pacific Grove.

GroveMont Theatre stages benefit on Dec. 12

The GroveMont Community Theatre, which recently received approval to establish a theater arts center in Monterey, will stage the courtroom drama Nuts in a one-night-only fundraising event on Thursday, Dec. 12 at the Monterey County Courthouse, 1200 Aguajito Road, Monterey.

Advance tickets, which are required for the event, are $50 per person and are tax-deductible. The event will begin at 7 p.m. with a pre-show reception with hors d'oeuvres and refreshments. At 7:20 p.m. an "Auction of the Juror Chairs" will take place, followed by the presentation of Nuts at 7:30 p.m. in Municipal Courtroom No. 1. A reception with the actors, including desserts and refreshments, will follow at 9:30 p.m. Hosting the reception will be the Honorable Michael S. Fields, Presiding Judge of the Municipal Court, and Sam Karas, Fourth District Supervisor.

Tickets can be purchased by calling the GroveMont Theatre at 649-6852 or by writing P.O Box 7174, Carmel, Calif. 93921. Advance tickets can be bought directly through Center Stage, 546 Hartnell St..

Festival of Trees benefits museum association

'CHRISTMAS REFLECTIONS" — those of the silvery, sparkling variety as well as nostalgic remembrances, represent the theme of this year's Festival of Trees sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art Association.

Festival hours are 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Thursday through Saturday, Dec. 5 through 7, and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Sunday, Dec. 8.

The four-day event at the Monterey Fairgrounds features approximately 30 Christmas trees decorated with handmade ornaments. A variety of shops where food, handmade ornaments, and handmade gifts can be purchased will also be open during the festival.

PREPARATIONS for the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art Association's annual Festival of Trees have been in progress since February as such volunteers as Carolyn Cunningham (left) and Helen Mills construct handmade ornaments.

Proceeds from the festival will be used to fund the Museum Association's continuing program of art exhibitions, educational outreach programs for students in Monterey, Santa Cruz and San Benito counties, and lectures and other cultural events.

Preparations for the festival began in February. Representatives of local businesses were contacted and offered the opportunity to buy a tree which would be displayed at the festival. Those buyers were told that the theme of the festival would be "Christmas Reflections" and were asked if they had a particular way they wanted that theme represented on their trees.

Some of the buyers decided on "silvery sparkling things" to mirror the "Christmas Reflections" theme, explained Festival of Trees co-chairwoman Jayne McClurg. Others, she continued, were interested in more traditional holiday memories.

"Nostalgia seems to have more appeal to the buyers. One man who was contacted to buy a tree said it (the theme) meant Hans Christian Andersen's 'Silver Skates' to him."

Also included in the "nostalgic" themes are "Twas the Night..." and "Portraits of the Past," a tree which will be decorated with models of Monterey's historic buildings such as the California First Theater and the Custom House.

The ornaments for all trees have been prepared by a small group of volunteers, including a number of senior citizens, who started designing and constructing the ornaments in February. More than 60,000 volunteer hours will have gone into the making of ornaments and related objects by the time the festival opens, McClurg noted.

McClurg first became affiliated with the Museum Association through the Festival of Trees workshop. She had indicated an interest in doing volunteer work through the museum, and her first contact was with a Festival of Trees representative who talked to her "the minute I hit the door. I've been with it ever since."

What attracted her, she recalled, was "the quality of the decorations and the professionalism (of the volunteers). What attracted her husband, who is serving as co-chairman of the festival, was her continuing enthusiasm, he recalled.

"When Jayne went (to the festival) the first year, I didn't even go. 'Why should I go out and see a bunch of Christmas trees?' The second year, I went out and helped put up the decorations. When it was all put up, I thought it was spectacular. It's indescribable," he said.

Tickets to the festival will be available at the door to the Main Exhibition Hall at the Monterey Fairgrounds. Tickets for adults will cost $2.50; children who are under 12 and are accompanied by an adult will be admitted to the festival for 50 cents.

Further information about the Festival is available through the Museum office at 372-7591.

Youth orchestra schedules concerts

THE YOUTH Orchestra of Monterey County, under the direction of conductor Vince Gomez, will open its fifth season on the weekend of Dec. 6 and 7 with concerts scheduled for Monterey and Salinas.

Musical programs for both concerts will include the following pieces: Canon by Johann Pachelbel; The King's Musicians in four movements by Jean-Baptiste Lully; Ceremonial March by Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart; Rhosymedre by Ralph Vaughan Williams; Gypsy Carnival arranged by Bauernschmidt; Concerto in A Minor, 3rd Movement by Georg Philipp Telemann and Concerto Grosso in D Minor by Antonio Vivaldi.

The orchestra's Friday concert will be performed in the Choral Recital Hall, Room 125, of the Performing Arts Building at Hartnell College, Salinas. Saturday's concert will be presented in the Music Hall (Room M-1) of the Music Building at Monterey Peninsula College, 980 Fremont, Monterey. Both concerts will begin at 7:30 p.m. Admission is free. A reception will follow the MPC concert.

The Youth Orchestra of Monterey County named Vince Gomez of Los Altos as its music director and conductor in September. Gomez, 50, teaches music and conducts at Cabrillo College in Aptos. He has an extensive background in youth orchestra activities that includes eight years as conductor of the Santa Cruz Youth Symphony. He has conducted choirs and orchestras in the Philippines, Ecuador, Texas and California.

A native of San Francisco, Gomez emphasized both music education and performance in his education, taking degrees at the University of Hawaii and the University of the Pacific in Stockton. He has taken advanced study at Claremont College, Occidental College, and the California State Universities at San Francisco, Hayward and Long Beach.

Gomez is also the music director and conductor of the San Francisco Bay Area Chorale.

VINCE GOMEZ will conduct the Youth Orchestra of Monterey County during its concerts on Friday and Saturday, Dec. 6-7.

Multi-faceted 10th anniversary wine fest set

CELEBRATING its 10th anniversary on the Monterey Peninsula, the California Wine Festival returns Sunday, Dec. 8 with an opening gala reception at the Monterey Bay Aquarium.

The spectrum of the state's wine industry will be represented by 100 California wineries, ranging from the small, "boutique" family-owned operations to the world's largest. Every wine-producing area in California will be represented during the four-day festival.

Festival participants will be able to sample hundreds of wines.

"Chances are that one couldn't duplicate this kind of experience even by travelling all over the state," said Festival Director Joan Keisel. "You'd never meet that many wine personalities, nor be able to sample some of the wines they bring to Monterey. Many pre-releases can be counted among the wines. It is the event chosen by many for premiering these latest fine wines."

"Cooking with Wine" demonstrations will be presented by such food experts as Jacques Pepin and Chef Tell Erhardt. The festival will embrace lectures and seminars by more than 20 wine and food authorities.

The California Wine Festival is headquartered at the Monterey Conference Center, 1 Portola Plaza in Monterey. Admission to the festival is $295 per person, which includes registration materials, Sunday buffet reception and winetasting at the Monterey Bay Aquarium, three days of seminars, lectures and cooking demonstrations, gourmet lunches and all winetastings.

For further festival information, call 649-4637.

A FIRST of its kind wine auction, featuring magnums and large-sized bottles only, will highlight the 10th anniversary celebration of the California Wine Festival.

The auction, scheduled for the afternoon of Tuesday, Dec. 10 at the Monterey Conference Center, will benefit the Andre Tchelistcheff Scholarships. All proceeds from the event will be used to further the study of enology and viticulture.

"It has been a privilege not only to be an annual participant in the California Wine Festival, but also to watch its continued growth and improvement over the last 10 years," said Tchelistcheff, dean of California winemakers. "It is indeed a very great honor to have the premiere auction of wines in magnums and larger bottles dedicated to the scholarship fund."

All wineries in California were invited to donate a special or rare wine, explained Richard Peterson, auction chairman.

Only magnums and large-sized bottles will be represented at this auction, open to California Wine Festival participants. For details about the auction, call 372-6211.

Another feature of the California Wine Festival will be the fourth annual Culinary Arts Salon, planned Monday, Dec. 9 at the Monterey Sheraton.

Sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula Chefs Association, the salon is a judged presentation of prepared foods. It is the only festival event open to the general public. Admission is free to wine festival participants, $3 to others. Proceeds will go to the Culinary Students Fund. A no-host wine bar will be available in the hotel lobby.

The show will be presented from 2 to 5 p.m. in San Carlos Room 3 at the Monterey Sheraton. For additional information about the Culinary Arts Salon, call 649-6690.

Also on Monday, Dec. 9, Carmel Valley resident Merv Griffin will tape an episode of his nationally syndicated talk show at the California Wine Festival. His celebrity guests are scheduled to include Pat Paulsen and Wayne Rogers, both California vintners; winemaker Mike Grgich of Grgich Hills Cellars, plus Eva Gabor and author Les Whitten.

Gongs and piano teamed in Monterey concert

The Innerworld of Christmas is the theme for a fashion show and concert at 3 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 8. It will take place at the Church of Religious Science, corner of Franklin and Pacific streets in Monterey.

The program features the Flair Modeling Team with Amanda Benjamin, who will also sing six Christmas songs backed up by "The Younger Generation."

The second half of the program will begin with Terence Dolph playing his Chinese gongs, accompanied by Catherine Elber and Trey Scott in Tai Chi dance.

Joan Cobb Hopkins will then perform piano compositions by Bach, Mozart, Beethoven, Chopin and her mother, Ida Bostelmann-Cobb.

DIANE SWIFT will exhibit hand-painted ceramic tiles during the Marisol Christmas Faire, to take place at the studios in back of the Farm Center in Carmel Valley.

Peninsula craftspeople join forces during Marisol Christmas Faire

LIVE MUSIC and the works of eight local artists join forces during the fifth annual Marisol Christmas Faire, planned Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 7-8.

Rain or shine, the fair is scheduled at the Marisol Potters Studio, located behind the Farm Center, on Carmel Valley Road 6.2 miles east of Highway 1 in Carmel Valley.

Four of the following artists have working studios at the Farm Center. Exhibiting original designs this year will be:

- Hiroshi Ogawa, forms in stoneware — from everyday ware to traditional Japanese forms;
- Diane Swift, hand-painted tile panels and murals that emphasize local birds and sea life;
- Orange Cleghorn, scarves, ties, hangings and banners in handpainted silk;
- Gerrica Connolly, original drawings and watercolor paintings;
- Peter McArthur, sepia tone black and white photographs of local scenery, framed in his own hand-milled redwood;
- Robin Begbie, fine porcelain forms and sculptural forms in stoneware;
- Jennifer Long, functional and decorative stoneware for the kitchen and table, specializing in dinnerware;
- Missy Lofton, handpainted pillows and lanterns.

Fair hours will be 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. both days. For more information, call 625-0140 or 624-7220.

The Seven Nights of The San Domenico Chefs

December 7th through 14th, 1985

The Delfino restaurant in The Grand Hotel On The Bay is pleased to announce that after sold-out engagements in New York and San Francisco, the world famed San Domenico Chefs will present their culinary arts during a limited engagement at Delfino.

Situated in Imola, twenty kilometers east of Bologna, Ristorante San Domenico is one of the few restaurants in Italy to be awarded two stars by the Michelin Guide. Once the home of Domenican priests, the restaurant is now designated an historical landmark.

Sig. Gianluigi Morini, owner of the San Domenico, hired the late Nino Bergese, chef of Vittorio Emanuele III, King of Italy to open a small restaurant on this historical site which was also the Morini family home. Thus the legend began.

A. Cal Rossi, Jr. developer of the Monterey Plaza has invited Sig. Morini, his executive Chef, Pastry Chef and their assistants to present their magnificent classic northern Italian cuisine for the first time on the Monterey Peninsula.

Two seating will be offered nightly at 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. Different menus will be presented each evening, accompanied by Sig. Morini's selection of Italian wines and champagnes.

As we anticipate an overwhelming response to this program, please make your reservations early by calling:

Tickets are $5 for adults, $4 for seniors and teens and $3 for children 12 and younger. For information, call 375-4916 between 1 and 5 p.m. Wednesdays and Thursdays and 1 p.m. until showtime on Fridays and Saturdays.

Barnyard becomes Weinachtsmarkt

FRIDAY, DEC. 6 is St. Nicholas Day, an event celebrated at The Barnyard with the annual "Weinachtsmarkt," a European style open air market. Barnyard merchants display Christmas giftwares on tables in the gardens and walkways. As dusk approaches, clowns, face-painters, carolers and trumpeters assemble to herald the coming of St. Nicholas on his white horse. St. Nicholas will light the 24-foot Christmas tree. The Barnyard is at Highway 1 and Carmel Valley Road in Carmel. Festivities will begin at noon. For more information, call 624-8886.

THEATER REVIEW
BY JOANNE TENENBAUM

'Greater Tuna' redone in Pacific Grove

GREATER TUNA, a comic drama about the citizens of Tuna, a small town conservative even by Texas standards, is onstage at the Frohman Academy's David Avenue School theater in Pacific Grove. The show is produced by John Jay Espino, who is also one of the two actors in the cast, and directed by Michael Cheak of the Fort Ord Cabaret Theatre.

If the show's title sounds familiar, that's because Greater Tuna is essentially the same production that played last summer at the Wharf Theater in Monterey. The most visible difference in the current production is the casting of Jonathan Seydel opposite Espino; each actor plays 10 parts in a fairly fast-moving tour de force of costume and character change to present a cross-section of a Tuna society bedeviled by bigotry, mean-spiritedness and a small-town myopia that admits little of the world beyond itself into its consciousness.

The script, by Jaston Williams, Joe Sears and Ed Howard, is funny and clever, building from character to character some complicated running gags and even a couple of important thematic statements. Michael Cheak's direction is brisk and smooth; as in last summer's production, news reports and recorded music that advance the action or comment on it issue from an old fashioned radio placed center stage and occupy the audience for the necessary moments the actors spend changing costumes.

Greater Tuna's antique radio is a symbol for the world of Tuna itself — resolutely old fashioned and proud of it. The show is framed by local newscasts by Thurston Wheelis (Espino) and Arles Struvie (Seydel), which reveal the essential character of the town, for Wheelis and Struvie gossip shamelessly about their advertisers and the subjects of the newsbits they read. Gossip and slander emerge as typical Tuna traits throughout the evening, with almost every character revealing tidbits about another.

Espino is fine as Bertha Bumiller, the frustrated mother of three and shepherd of her youngest's 10 puppies; as Aunt Pearl (presumably Bertha's sister) a crusty old lady with a vendetta for the town's judge and a proclivity for dog poisoning; and as the Reverend Spikes, a parody of the fast-talking, fire and brimstone preacher. In very small bits, Espino is most convincing as Hank Bumiller, Bertha's indifferent husband, and as Sheriff Givens, another popular southern stereotype — the loudmouthed, dimwitted lawman.

Seydel is most effective as Stanley Bumiller, Bertha's menacingly punkish delinquent son, spewing hatred and disgust wherever he stomps; and as Petey Fisk, the homely bleeding heart of the community who, as president of the locl humane society, has the hopeless task of raising the local consciousness regarding cruelty to animals. Seydel's Charlene Bumiller (Stanley's twin sister) is a southern belle with grit, and his Vera Carp (a proper Tuna matron trying to stamp out smut in the dictionary, as it were) is appropriately prissy and wrongheaded.

More than a parade of types, Greater Tuna's fast pace builds finally to a clever plot twist and a generally satisfying resolution, a sort of cockeyed Waltons ending that treads the precarious edge of pathos and manages to avoid falling into farce.

C.V. tree-lighting ceremony planned

That 40-foot tree on Saddle Mountain overlooking Carmel Valley will again be illuminated starting 6 p.m. Friday, Dec. 6.

The ceremony will take place at the Mid-Carmel Valley Fire Station, 8455 Carmel Valley Road in Carmel Valley. Refreshments will be served following the brief ceremony, which is open to all. Volunteers of the Mid-Carmel Valley Fire Department have overseen the lighted tree, visible for miles, since 1976. For details, call 624-5907.

MUSIC CORNER
BY JO ANN LA TORRA

Mirecourt Piano Trio exhibits stellar skill

FOR CHAMBER music lovers, especially those who are partial to the piano, the piano trio is highly regarded, perhaps even challenging the string quartet. It is a noble combination — piano, violin and cello — and it has a large repertoire of excellent music.

Haydn's piano trios are among the earliest; the emphasis is on the piano, with the strings accompanying. Many of the 40-odd works are delightful pieces but are unfortunately neglected, largely because of cellists who confuse the number of notes with the importance of the part. Mozart added eight trios to the repertoire; Beethoven's contributions include several masterpieces. Virtually every major composer (and not a few minor ones) thereafter contributed to the genre.

The members of the Mirecourt Piano Trio covered a considerable expanse of time in their concert at Sunset Theater on Nov. 26. They chose a relatively late trio of Mozart to open, K. 542, written in 1788. This was Mozart in a droll mood, playing with rhythms in a way that suggested the influence of his friend Haydn. The formally unusual second movement, Andante grazioso, was Mozart at his lyrical, heart-melting best.

Brahms' Op. 87 followed, one of his great pieces of chamber music. From my personal point of view, this work represents Brahms at his peak. It is profound without the heaviness that occasionally overcomes him. The writing is grateful to all the instruments and the interplay of parts is simply masterful.

After intermission, the trio returned for the Ravel Trio, a 20th century masterpiece. Like much Ravel, the piece has beastly difficulties in all parts, and if you don't think that makes the ensemble more difficult, you have probably never played trios. It is soaring, it is witty, it is intense. It is Ravel.

One could talk extensively about the playing of the Mirecourt Trio, but it is unnecessary. Its members are excellent, the ensemble is sensitive, responsive, tight. Their Mozart was objective, but not detached; in Brahms, they were restrained, choosing to emphasize the classical qualities of the work, but without sacrificing drama. In Ravel, they exhibited a great variety of sound in their tense and exciting interpretation.

Naturally, I groaned when they returned for an encore, but I was delighted with their choice — a movement by Henry Cowell. Hardly "new music," but we are grateful for any contemporary music we can get. The trio has made something of a specialty of contemporary American music, so it was an extra treat to hear this. Cowell, along with several of his contemporaries, especially Riegger and Ruggles, are shamefully neglected. This native Californian wrote some very good, and important, music.

End of sermon. The Mirecourt Trio (John Jensen, piano; Kenneth Goldsmith, violin; Terry King, cello) is splendid.

Tel-Med library provides information on AIDS

A new tape on acquired immune deficiency syndrome (AIDS) has been added to the library of medical information tapes available by calling Tel-Med, operated by the Auxiliary of Community Hospital of the Monterey Peninsula.

The new tape was written by Dr. Geraldine Taplin, an infectious disease specialist who is a member of the Community Hospital medical staff. It explains the disease mechanism and discusses diagnosis and prevention of AIDS.

"It's a Tel-Med priority to keep all medical information current through the cooperation of Tel-Med, Inc. and local physicians," said Isabel Ale, coordinator of the Community Hospital Tel-Med program.

The latest tape in the Tel-Med library substitutes for an earlier tape which had become outdated, and was written and produced at Dr. Taplin's initiative, Ale said. There are now 320 tapes in the Tel-Med library.

The AIDS tape, and a wide selection of other tapes on medical and health subjects, may be heard by calling 624-1999 from 9 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday and from 10 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. Sunday.

To hear the AIDS tape, ask for tape number 571.

19th century photographs document railroad environs

NINETEENTH-century photographs by Edouard Baldus that illustrate the landscape and towns along French railroad lines will be featured at the Friends of Photography Gallery.

An opening reception is planned 8 to 10 p.m. on Friday, Dec. 6 at the gallery, in Sunset Center, San Carlos at Ninth, Carmel. The exhibit continues through Jan. 12.

The photographs were commissioned by Baron James de Rothschild in honor of the 1855 state visit of Queen Victoria and Prince Albert to Paris. They were selected from two of Baldus' albums that illustrate the landscape and towns along French railroad lines — Chemin de fer du nord: Ligne de Paris a Boulogne (1855) and Chemin de fer de Paris a Lyon et a la Mediterranee (1859).

The prints have been loaned through the courtesy of the Fraenkel Gallery, San Francisco; Harry Lunn, Ltd., Paris and David Robinson, San Francisco.

Edouard-Denis Baldus has been described as one of the most important, yet least known 19th-century photographers. Robert Sobieszek, director of photographic collections at George Eastman House, has noted that Baldus' work "suggests a thoroughly modernist approach to photography," yet he has also written that, "Baldus' work of the 1850s was a summation of the ideals of the Second Empire; the images portray grandeur, monumentality, philosophical disinterestedness and official power."

Baldus was born in Grunebach, Prussia, on June 5, 1813. He moved to Paris around 1838 and studied painting. There he exhibited portraits, genre scenes and religious subjects at the salons. It is believed that his camera began to replace his paint brush around 1848, and by 1851 he was one of the founding members of the Societe Heliographique. Around this time, Baldus also invented a variation of Talbot's calotype, using gelatin coated paper, and published the process in his book Concours de Photographie. He was also instrumental in perfecting an early version of photogravure.

A LATE 1850s albumen print by Edouard Baldus captures the Toulon Gare. The Baldus exhibit, to be displayed at the Friends of Photography Gallery in Carmel, was commissioned by Baron James de Rothschild in honor of the 1855 state visit of Queen Victoria and Prince Albert to Paris.

The Friends of Photography: Portfolios of 19th-century lensman Edouard-Denis Baldus, opening reception 8 to 10 p.m. Friday, Dec. 6 in The Friends' gallery in Sunset Center, San Carlos at Ninth, Carmel. Through Jan. 12.

'Aquarium Conspiracy' will open in Carmel

THE UNDERSEA world posed just long enough for Louise Cardeiro Boyer to capture many of its elements on canvas for "An Aquarium Conspiracy." The exhibit opens Thursday, Dec. 5 in the Carmel Art Association Center Gallery, Dolores Street between Fifth and Sixth avenues in Carmel.

The artist made several visits to the Monterey Bay Aquarium and Cannery Row, and reports that the shapes of sea life influenced these current abstractions. The title "Conspiracy" refers to the fact that fish insisted on being in the paintings.

Boyer is a graduate of the Boston Museum School and has studied with Carlos Merida in Mexico and Xavier Gonzalez and Hans Hoffman in New York.

She has exhibited in solo and juried group exhibitions on the East Coast, in California, Oregon, Mexico and Guatemala. In 1979 her work was the subject of a retrospective show at the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art.

The Carmel Art Association exhibition will remain on view through Jan. 2. Gallery hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily, except Christmas and New Year's Day.

MOONLIT VIEWS of a kelp forest are included in Louise Cardeiro Boyer's "Aquarium Conspiracy" collection of oil paintings. The exhibit continues through Jan. 2 at the Carmel Art Association.

Songs of the Christmas Season

Sunset Theater, 3 p.m., Saturday, Dec. 7

(Take this page with you to the community sing)

Deck The Hall

Deck the hall with boughs of holly
Fa la la la la. la la la la.
'Tis the season to be jolly.
Fa la la la la. la la la la.
Don we now our gay apparel. Fa ...
Troll the ancient Yuletide carol. Fa ...

Fast away the old year passes. Fa ...
Hail the new, ye lads and lasses. Fa ...
Sing we joyous all together. Fa ...

Deck The Hall (Spanish)

Navidad. Navidad.
Tra la la la la. la la la la.
Todo el mundo canta. canta. Tra ...
Que alegria. que alegria. Tra ...
Todo el mundo canta. canta. Tra ...

Es el tiempo de alegria. Tra ...
Todo el mundo esta contento. Tra ...
Que alegria. que alegria. Tra ..
Todo el mundo esta contento. Tra ...

O Come All Ye Faithful

O come, all ye faithful,
Joyful and triumphant,
O come ye, O come ye to Bethlehem.
Come and behold Him,
Born the King of Angels,
O come, let us adore Him,
O come, let us adore Him,
O come, let us adore Him,
Christ the Lord.

Sing, choirs of angels,
Sing in exultation,
Sing, all ye citizens of heaven above,
Glory to God in the highest,
O come let us ...

Yea, Lord, we greet Thee,
Born this happy morning,
Jesus to Thee be glory given.
Word of the Father
Now in flesh appearing,
O come let us ...

(Latin)

Adeste, fideles, Laeti triumphantes,
Venite, venite in Bethlehem,
Natum videte, Regem angelorum,
Venite adoremus, Venite adoremus,
Venite adoremus Dominum.

Dantet nunc Io! Chorus angelorum,
Cantet nunc aula coelestium,
Cloria, Gloria in excelsis Deo.
Venite adoremus, Venite adoremus,
Venite adoremus Dominium.

Ergo qui natus die hodierna,
Jesu, tibi sit gloria,
Patris aeterni Verbum caro factum
Venite adoremus, Venite adoremus,
Venite adoremus, Dominum.

White Christmas

I'm dreaming of a White Christmas
Just like the ones I used to know,
Where the treetops glisten
And children listen
To hear sleigh bells in the snow.

I'm dreaming of a White Christmas
With every Christmas card I write.
May your days be merry and bright,
And may all your Christmases be bright.

White Christmas (French)

Oh! quand j'entends chanter Noël
J'aime à revoir mes joies d'enfant,
Le sapin scintillant,
La neige d'argent,
Noel! mon beau rêve blanc.

Oh! quand j'entends sonner au ciel
L'heure où le bon viellard descend
Je revois tes yeux clairs, maman,
Et je song a d'autres Noel blancs.

Silent Night

Silent night, holy night.
All is calm, all is bright.
Round yon Virgin Mother and Child
Holy Infant, so tender and mild
Sleep in heavenly peace.
Sleep in heavenly peace.

Silent night, holy night.
Shepherds quake at the sight.
Glories stream from heaven afar,
Heavenly hosts sing, Alleluia,
Christ, the Savior, is born,
Christ, the Savior, is born.

Silent night, holy night.
Son of God, love's pure light,
Radiant beams from Thy holy face,
With the dawn of redeeming grace,
Jesus, Lord, at Thy birth,
Jesus, Lord at Thy birth.

Silent Night (German)

Stille nacht, heilige nacht,
Alles schläft, einsam wacht,
Nur das traute, hoch heilige Paar,
Holder Knabe im lokkigen Haar,
Schlaf in himmlischer Ruh,
Schlaf in himmlischer Ruh,

Stille nacht, heilige nacht,
Hirten erst kund gemacht,
Durch der Engel Halleluja,
Tont es laut von fern und nah,
Christ der Retter ist da,
Christ der Retter ist da,

Stille nacht, heilige nacht,
Gottes Sohn, or wie lacht,
Lieb' aus deinem gottlichen Mund
Das uns schlagt die rettende Stund'
Christ, in deiner Geburt,
Christ, in deiner Geburt.

Away In A Manger

Away in a manger, no crib for a bed,
The little lord Jesus laid down his sweet head,
The stars in the sky looked down where he lay,
The little Lord Jesus asleep on the hay.

The cattle are lowing, the poor Baby wakes,
But little Lord Jesus no crying He makes,
I love Thee, Lord Jesus, look down from the sky,
And stay by my cradle till morning is nigh.

Be near me, Lord Jesus, I ask Thee to stay
Close by me forever, and love me, I pray,
Bless all the dear children in Thy tender care,
And take us to heaven, to live with Thee there.

Angels We Have Heard On High

Angels we have heard on high,
Sweetly singing o'er the plains,
And the mountains in reply
Echoing their joyous strains.

Gloria in excelsis Deo,
Gloria in excelsis Deo.

Shepherds, why this jubilee?
Why your joyous strains prolong?
What the gladsome tidings be,
Which inspire your heavenly song?

Gloria ...

Come to Bethlehem and see
Him whose birth the angels sing,
Come, adore on bended knee,
Christ, the Lord, the newborn King.

Gloria ...

Angels We Have Heard

(French)
Les anges dans nos campagnes
Ont entonne l'hymne descieux;
Et l'echo de nos montagnes
Reditce chant me lodieux

Gloria ...

Bergers, quittez vos retraites;
Unisses-vous à nos concerts;
Répétez sur vor musettes
Ce chant qui vibre dans les airs.

Gloria ...

Apprenez tous la naissance
D'un Roi sauveur en Israël;
Que dans sa reconnaissance,
La terre change avec le ciel.

Gloria ...

O Christmas Tree

O Christmas tree, O Christmas tree,
Thou tree most fair and lovely.
O Christmas tree, O Christmas tree,
Thous tree most fair and lovely,
The sight of thee at Christmastide
Spreads hope and gladness far and wide,
O Christmas tree, O Christmas tree,
Thou tree most fair and lovely.

O Christmas tree, O Christmas tree,
Thou hast a wondrous message,
O Christmas tree, O Christmas tree,

Thou has a wondrous message,
Thou dost proclaim the Saviour's birth,
Good will to men and peace on earth,
O Christmas tree, O Christmas tree,
Thou hast a wondrous message.

O Christmas Tree (German)

O Tannenbaum, O Tannenbaum,
Wie treu sind deine Blätter,
O Tannenbaum, O Tannenbaum,
Wie treu sind deine Blätter,
Du grünst nicht nur zur Sommerszeit
Nein, auch im Winer, wenn es schneit
O Tannenbaum, O Tannenbaum,
Wei treu sind deine Blätter.

O Tannenbaum, O Tannenbaum,
Du kannst mir sehr gefallen,
O Tannenbaum, O Tannenbaum,
Du kannst mir sehr gefallen,
Wie oft hat nicht zur Weihnachtszeit,
Ein Baum von dir mich hocherfreut,
O Tannenbaum, O Tannenbaum
Du kannst mir sehr gefallen.

O Christmas Tree (French)

Noble sapin, Roi des forêts,
Tu braves la nature.
Quand des l'automne comme un regret
Les bois perdent tous leurs attraits
Toi, beau sapin, Roi des forêts
Tu gardes ta verdure.

Noble sapin, Roi des forêts,
Constance est ton emblème;
Tes feuilles vertes,
Hiver, ete,
Enseignent la fidelite,
A toi sapin, Roi des forets,
Je dedie mon poeme.

Joy To The World

Joy to the world, the Lord has come,
Let earth receive her King;
Let every heart prepare Him room,
And heaven and nature sing,
And heaven and nature sing,
And heaven, and heaven and nature sing.

He rules the world with truth and grace
And makes the nation prove
The glories of His righteousness
And wonders of His love,
And wonders of His love,
And wonders, and wonders of His love.

We Wish You A Merry Christmas

We wish you a Merry Christmas
We wish you a Merry Christmas
We wish you a Merry Christmas
And a Happy New Year.

Good tidings to you wherever you are,
Good tidings for Christmas and a Happy New Year.

We wish you a Merry Christmas
We wish you a Merry Christmas
We wish you a Merry Christmas
And a Happy New Year.

A Muffin of a House

Nothing on the outside of this place prepares you for the enchanting variety of nooks and crannies inside. It stands well back along a typical Carmel street, about six blocks south of Ocean. A low wall leads along the curving drive and up to a demure little covered porch. The exterior is rustic, a broad dormer window projects from the right front corner, and one guesses that here is another of those quaint little Carmel cottages.

It has elements of that, but no way can you "type-cast" it. It's a glorious mixture of Carmel cottage, country house, Manhattan apartment and Gothic cathedral. And curiously, it all fits together.

The living room is hip-roofed with a complex structure of beams demanding your attention. The corner dormer is revealed as a pillowed window seat, an inviting nook. A fireplace dominates the south wall. At your left, running straight down the center of the house, is a long dining room, lighted by two giant skylights in its peaked roof, and ending at a beckoning door to a brick patio at the rear.

Five doors open from this cathedral-like chamber: living room at front, patio at rear, kitchen at left front, and bedrooms left and right. The left bedroom is the master suite, a sizeable boudoir plus a two-room bath that would be at home in New York. The first room has two great picture windows looking out to the private patio, a giant skylight and a magnificent Jacuzzi tub! The second room contains a vanity with triple mirrors, commode and many cabinets.

The other rear bedroom is smaller, with another dormer window seat, and would serve either as an intimate den or bedroom. Still another dormered bedroom and skylighted bath lie between this and the living room.

The kitchen might have been lifted intact from a European country home. It's done in Delft blue and cream, has double sinks, a flush range set in a projecting counter, conveniently placed washer, dryer and refrigerator, and a completely charming breakfast area facing the front. Another nook, probably one where every party will wind up.

Architecturally, this defies every attempt to give it a name. It's fascinating proof that the finest taste is a blending of flavors.

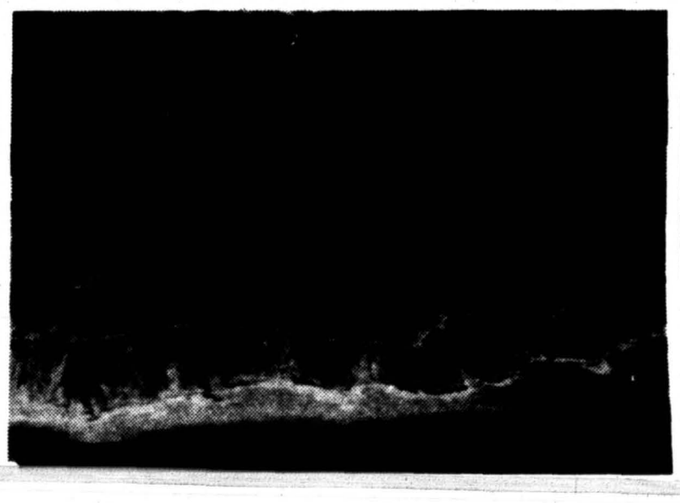
BEAUTIFUL UNTAMED BIG SUR LAND

The sweep of majestic, rugged coastline above, from Cooper Point southwards past Pfeiffer Point, with Post's Rancho Sierra Mar in the background, captures many prominent historical landmarks of Big Sur. Within this area, a few exceptional parcels of choice land are available. To the south of Cooper Point is moon shaped, white sand Cooper Beach, touched by 40 acres of wild, remote land extending across Deer Ridge. This land is contiguous to Los Padres Nat'l. Forest on two sides. Price is $485,000. Immediately east, on Clear Ridge, are 15 delightful ocean view acres of meadowland for $235,000. On the skyline to the south of the Big Sur River Gorge, are 57 magnificent upland acres for $375,000.

Famed Pfeiffer Beach's white sand silhouettes its wave engulfed rocks, with Sycamore Canyon running 2½ mi. eastward to the Scenic Highway. Beyond is Big Sur River's Gorge, extending into the vast Ventana Wilderness Area. Immediately south of Sycamore Canyon, on Pfeiffer Point, rests an exceptional 10 ocean front acres, including existing barn and building permits, with 70 mile outlook down the coast for $390,000. Northward, and across Sycamore Canyon, 25 acres look out at the world's largest ocean — $150,000, including building permit.



Partington Point, above, has been a famed location for Sur Coast inhabitants over the ages, as witnessed by Indian middens, homesteads of the last century, along with artists, musicians, educators, writers and scientists of this century. Near the end of the visible portion of the Partington Ridge Road are 2+ fine ocean view acres for $195,000. Further up, astride the ridgeline, 13 acres command incredible outlooks at $365,000. Above, near the Los Padres Nat'l. Forest, is a 14 acre parcel for $181,500 and 10 acres for $148,500, both to be sold with permits.

CITY COUNCIL
CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA
ORDINANCE NO. 85-35
AN ORDINANCE AMENDING SECTION 17.24.070 AND ADOPTING SECTION 17.24.075 TO CONFORM TO ARTICLE 1.5 OF THE SUBDIVISION MAP ACT.

WHEREAS, a majority of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea was subdivided prior to 1910; and

WHEREAS, the original City subdivisions were accomplished by laying a grid of blocks and lots over the land without due consideration of topography or drainage; and

WHEREAS, the common size of lots established by this subdivision was only 4,000 square feet which by today's standards is recognized as being relatively small for meeting the needs of single family residential use; and

WHEREAS, the original subdivisions included many lots of even smaller size, some only 2,500 square feet which present even greater difficulties for meeting single family residential needs; and

WHEREAS, in 1948 the City, recognizing the inherent difficulties presented by small lots, adopted an ordinance which merged small lots into larger lots to correct some of the deficiencies of the antiquated subdivision; and

WHEREAS, the State Legislature enacted amendments to the State Subdivision Map Act in 1984 which set forth strict procedural requirements for lot merger ordinances; and

WHEREAS, the Subdivision Map Act as amended will nullify the City's 1948 Lot Merger Ordinance on January 1, 1986 unless the City readopts said ordinance and complies with the new procedural requirements; and

WHEREAS, the City's General Plan in Policies 21, 22, 23 and 25 of the Land Use Element directs the City to protect its residential neighborhoods by controlling the intensity of land use, by preserving open space and natural topography and by discouraging out-of-scale new development; and

WHEREAS, allowing the Subdivision Map Act to void the City's 1948 lot merger ordinance would conflict with the General Plan by allowing development on extremely small lots, increasing residential density and disrupting the established character of many of Carmel-by-the-Sea's residential neighborhoods;

NOW THEREFORE, the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea does ordain as follows:

Section One. PURPOSE. It is the purpose of this ordinance to establish standards for legal building sites and to provide a means of merging substandard lots in compliance with the State Subdivision Map Act.

Section Two. Section 17.24.070 of the Municipal Code shall be amended in its entirety to read as follows:

Section 17.24.070, LOTS, PARCELS AND BUILDING SITES.

A. Standards

A parcel of land within any R-1 Land Use District shall meet all of the following standards to be considered a legal building site:

1. Slope. All building sites shall have less than a thirty percent (30%) slope as measured between any two property lines, or shall have been granted a use permit in conformance with Section 17.46.040(F).

2. Water Supply. No parcel shall qualify as a legal building site unless an adequate water supply exists to serve the site as established in Section 17.08.060.

3. Plan Conformity. A building site must conform to all applicable provisions of the City's General Plan, Local Coastal Program, and any adopted specific plan applicable to the property.

4. Site Configuration. Each building site must meet one of the following additional standards:

a. A lot of record on February 4, 1948, having an area of not less than 2,500 square feet, excepting a lot of record of 2,500 square feet which on February 4, 1948 was in the same ownership as one or more adjoining lots of record.

b. A parcel of land in the form of a rectangle having an area of not less than 3,750 square feet composed of 2,500 square foot lots of record and/or portions thereof which existed on Feburary 4, 1948, and which have been reconfigured either by an adjustment of lot lines approved by the City, or by a merger of lots in conformance with Section 17.24.075.

c. A parcel of land in the form of a rectangle having an area of not less than 5,000 square feet composed of one or more whole 2,500 square foot lots of record which existed on February 4, 1948, and which has been formed by a merger of lots in conformance with Section 17.24.075.

d. A parcel of land having an area of not less than 4,000 square feet, composed of one or more whole lots of record, or composed of portions of lots of record which have been reconfigured either by an adjustment of lot lines approved by the City, or by a merger of lots in conformance with Section 17.24.075, and which has been recorded as a lot of record.

e. R-1-C-6: Building sites within the R-1-C-6 Land Use District as shown on the official map of the City shall be lots of record with an area of not less than 6,000 square feet.

f. R-1-C-10: Building sites within the R-1-C-10 Land Use District as shown on the official map of the City shall be lots of recrd with an area of not less than 10,000 square feet.

g. R-1-C-20: Building sites within the R-1-C-20 Land Use District as shown on the official map of the City shall be lots of record with an area of not less than 20,000 square feet.

h. R-1-C-FP: Building sites within the R-1-C-FP Land Use District shall be lots of record not less than one acre in size located in a recognized flood plain which has been granted approval by the City as a building site.

B. Prohibition on Subdivision

No further subdivision of land shall be permitted between the first public road and the Pacific Ocean due to the extraordinary terrain and scenic characteristics of this area and lot line adjustments shall only be allowed where no new building site is created and the minimum lot size is not decreased below 6,000 square feet in area. Those blocks covered by this section which can have no further subdivision are: Block C-2, City beach lands, and any lands west of North San Antonio or San Antonio between Second and Ocean Avenues.

C. Multiple Lots in One Building Site

No developed building site composed of more than one legal lot of record may be reduced in size by establishing one of said component lots as a separate building site if such action would cause any structure on any of the building sites involved in the action to exceed the allowable site coverage (17.24.180) or floor area (17.24.170).

D. Certificates of Compliance

Parcels not meeting the standards for legal building sites established in this section shall not be issued any building permits, other than permits for demolition, until the parcel has been brought into compliance with this section. Upon finding that a parcel complies with the requirements for legal building sites, the Director of the Department of Community Planning and Building shall issue a certificate of compliance and shall record said certificate with the Recorder of the County. The City may, as a condition of granting a certificate of compliance, impose conditions deemed necessary to bring the parcel into compliance with the building site standards contained in this section. Compliance with these conditions must be met prior to approval of any permit for development of the parcel.

Section Three. The following Section, 17.24.075, shall be added to Title 17 of the Municipal Code:

Section 17.24.075, LOT MERGERS

A. When Lots May Be Merged

The City may merge two or more contiguous parcels or units of land if both parcels or units of land are held by the same owner and any one of the contiguous parcels or units does not conform to the building site standards contained in this chapter, and if all of the following requirements are satisfied:

1. At least one of the affected parcels is undeveloped by any structure for which a building permit was issued or for which a building permit was not required at the time of construction, or is developed only with an accessory structure or accessory structures, or is developed with a single structure other than an accessory structure that is also partially sited on a contiguous parcel or unit.

2. With respect to any affected parcel, one or more of the following conditions exist:

a. Is comprised of less than 5,000 square feet in area at the time of the determination of merger.

b. Was not created in compliance with the applicable laws and ordinances in effect at the time of its creation.

c. Does not meet current standards for domestic water supply as established in Section 17.08.060.

d. Has a slope in excess of thirty percent (30%).

e. Has no legal access which is adequate for vehicular and safety equipment access and maneuverability.

f. Its development would create health or safety hazards.

g. Is inconsistent with the applicable General Plan or any applicable specific plan, other than minimum lot size or density standards.

B. Merger Procedure

The procedures outlined in this section are intended to implement the procedural requirements contained in the Subdivision Map Act of the State of California. Any discrepancy between these procedures and those contained in the Subdivision Map Act shall be resolved by using the procedures set forth in the Subdivision Map Act.

1. Notice of Intention to Determine Status. Prior to recording a Notice of Merger with the County Recorder, the City shall mail a Notice of Intention to Determine Status to the current record owner of the property to be merged. The Notice of Intention to Determine Status shall also be filed for record with the Recorder of the County on the same date that notice is mailed to the property owner.

2. Request for Hearing. At any time within thirty days after recording the Notice of Intention to Determine Status, the owner of the property may request a hearing on Determination of Status. Upon receiving a request for hearing, the City shall fix a time, date and place for the hearing and shall notify the property owner. The hearing shall be conducted not less than thirty days following the City's receipt of the property owner's request for hearing unless a postponement has been arranged with the mutual consent of the City and the property owner. All hearings shall be conducted by the Planning Commission.

3. Determination of Status. At the scheduled hearing on the Determination of Status, the property owner shall be given the opportunity to present any evidence that the affected property does not meet the standards for merger specified in this ordinance. At the conclusion of the hearing, the Planning Commission shall make a determination that the affected parcels are to be merged or are not to be merged and shall so notify the owner of its determination. Any determination of merger shall be recorded within thirty days after the conclusion of the hearing.

4. Recording Mergers. If, within the thirty-day period specified in subsection (2) above, the owner does not file a request for hearing, the City may at any time thereafter make a determination that the affected parcels are to be merged or are not to be merged. All mergers of parcels shall become effective when the City causes to be filed for record with the Recorder of the County a Notice of Merger specifying the names of the record owners and particularly describing the real property. If the City determines that the property shall not be merged, it shall cause to be recorded a release of the Notice of Intention to Determine Status recorded pursuant to subsection (1) above, and shall mail a clearance letter to the current record owner of the property.

Section Four: Severability. If any part of this ordinance is found to be unenforceable, such finding shall not affect the enforceability of any other part.

Section Five. Effective Date. This ordinance shall take effect on December 26, 1985.

FUTONS AND SUCH now features an entire line of cold-weather gifts from flannel sheets to down comforters. Pictures here is a cotton futon topped with the luxury of merino lambswool and a down comforter. Come in and experience the alternatives! Futons and Such, 639-B Lighthouse in New Monterey.

Sleeping easy at Futons and Such

During the cold Christmas season, gifts of goose down comforters and other bedding items from Futons and Such, the alternative sleep center, are sure to warm the heart.

You or your friends will love the high-quality goose down comforters by White. Made of 100 percent cotton, they come in three sizes and carry a five-year warranty. Best of all, they're very competitively priced.

For an extra warm sleep in the winter and cool sleep in the summer, pick up a merino lambswool mattress pad by Down Under. They're the last word in luxury because the all natural material allows the skin to breathe. It works like this: the high loft of the lambswool fills in the spaces between you and the mattress pad, trapping the body heat to keep you warm, while, in the summer the wool absorbs body perspiration and allows the skin to breathe. The Down Under mattress pads come in four sizes and are machine washable.

Other great gift ideas for the bed include 100 percent cotton flannel sheets from Belgium, and the hard-to-find 100 percent cotton mattress pads.

Of course, you'll find a large selection of futons, the traditional bed of the Japanese for more than 2,000 years. A futon (which is the Japanese word for bed) consists of a stack of two-inch mattresses of all-cotton batting — a naturally firm and therapeutic sleeping surface. Because of the pliability, futons can be covered in beautiful decorator fabrics, folded, and placed in frames to be used for seating.

You'll find these, and many other unusual gift ideas at Futons and Such, 639-B Lighthouse Ave. in New Monterey. Hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday. During the holidays the store will be open until 8 p.m. on Wednesdays and from 1 to 5 p.m. on Sundays.

Dress for success at Dick Bruhn's

If you're dressing for success, finely-tailored suits and shirts from Dick Bruhn will take you to the top in style.

Boasting a staff of four full-time tailors, Bruhn's offers the finest in custom-made dress shirts. Ten measurements are taken to ensure a perfect fit with neck size fitted to one-fourth of an inch and sleeve length to one-half inch. In addition, customers may choose cuff and collar style and have the shirt monogrammed free of charge.

This holiday season, team up your made-to-fit shirt with stunning ultrasuede jackets by Halston, hand-tailored suits and coats by Hickey-Freeman or suits and sportcoats by Lanvin and Burberry. Complete the look with a pure silk tie by Talbot, classic shoes by Johnston and Murphy or Bostonian and accessories by Burberry. Bruhn's carries an extensive selection of Burberry accessories including blankets, luggage, neckwear, golf bags and scarves. Ladies, remember that the scarves and ties would make excellent stocking-stuffers.

For more casual moments, Bruhn's offers pure cotton and cotton blend sportswear by Thompson.

You'll also find pure wool slacks by Asher and Handelsman, along with wash and wear slacks by Jaymar, and, to top it off, 100 percent Merino wool sweaters by St. Croix. Available in 13 colors, St. Croix sweaters make popular Christmas gifts.

And, remember, Bruhn's has one of the finest big and tall departments on the entire Central Coast.

Dick Bruhn, where customer satisfaction is of primary concern, is open special holiday hours for your shopping convenience. The store will be open 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Friday, Dec. 13, Dec. 16 through 20, and Dec. 23. On Saturdays, hours are 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.; Sundays 10:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. The store will close at 5 p.m. on Christmas Eve.

Couroc service ware is popular worldwide

If you live on the Monterey Peninsula, you needn't go far to find distinctive gift and serving ware by Couroc.

Known world-wide, Couroc is produced exclusively at a plant in Sand City. That means locals can take advantage of the factory outlet store, 510 Broadway in Seaside. There you'll find, at discount prices, factory seconds and discontinued items that literally can't be purchased anywhere else in the world.

In 1948, founder Guthrie Courvoisier devised an ingenius way of inlaying original artwork into a black resinous compound. Today, he takes the original design of natural materials by famous artists and fuses them into trays and other serving pieces, which are then buffed repeatedly to bring out the luster and satin blackness. Because each piece of the artwork is inlaid separately, the results always differ, giving each Couroc item an individual character.

Couroc serving pieces include ice buckets, glasses, napkin holders, trays and nine varieties of bowls.

This Christmas, give the gift of distinctive Couroc serving ware from the factory outlet store. Hours are 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday; noon to 5 p.m. on Sunday.

La Reina produces wines fit for royalty

This holiday season, give yourself and your guests the royal treatment with world-class Chardonnays from Monterey County's newest wine producer, La Bodega De La Reina (The Winery of the Queen).

Produced from the fruit of the company's own Monterey County vineyards, the company's first wine, the 1984 vintage, introduced in September, is full-bodied with an excellent balance between fruit and oak.

Because La Reina produces only Chardonnays, they strive for perfection. "We're absolutely nuts about attention to detail," says Jerry McFarland, one of the winery's four owners. "We feel, for example, that you must pick the grapes while they're still very cool. We then like to rush them to the winery before daybreak," he said.

The wine itself is produced in the time-honored, traditional method of 100 percent fermentation and aging in Limousin Oak barrels from France, under the watchful eye of gold medal-winning winemaker Brian Pendleton.

The winery, owned by fourth-generation California grape growers Myron and Jerry McFarland, and partners Charles and Sandra Chrietzberg of Houston (Chrietzberg is founder of the highly-successful Sam Houston Mortgage Company in Houston), is the culmination of years of hard work and preparation which began with the planting of the grapes in 1971.

"Our primary objective is to produce a great California Chardonnay," says Chrietzberg, a wine connoisseur. "I know we have all the ingredients for a great wine...maybe we'll have it right here in our very first vintage."

SIM AND FRIENDS is the only place to go for the latest in hair fashions, because a talented team has been assembled by Sim, an award-winning hair stylist, including Julie, Tammie, Nouri, Micky, Catherine and Lisa.

Sim and Friends: Hair fashion pros

For the latest in hair fashions, there's only one place to go, that's to Sim and Friends, a talented team of hair care professionals dedicated to keeping you looking beautiful and stylish.

Trained in some of the top salons in the world, award-winning Sim and his staff are on top of the latest trends in cuttng, coloring, perming and contemporary styling. Ongoing educational classes and group attendance at beauty shows and seminars ensure that Sim and his friends know what is happening in the hair fashion industry.

Sim, owner and founder of the salon, is one of only two California hairstylists to ever win the United States Coiffure Creation championship. He has been a beauty school owner as well as a top hairstylist in Hollywood television studios.

Julie, special assistant to Sim, is an expert in foil weaving, perms, styling and coloring. Julie plays an important role in relieving some of the stress of Sim's heavy bookings. "With Julie's help I can give better service and now, my clients won't need to wait two months for an appointment," Sim says.

Tammie, also known as "the voice on the phone," is the beautiful girl at the front desk of Sim and Friends.

Nouri studied haircutting under Vidal Sassoon in Los Angeles. As a makeup artist for some of the top models in London, she's learned how to create the best "total look" for her clients. She was also selected as hair coordinator for the Miss California Pageant in 1983 and 1984. Sim says, "She's as talented as she is charming."

Micky is a haircutting and perming specialist who spends many hours perfecting his craft. During the past 11 years, Micky has studied with such world-famous stylists as Kennith of London, Paul Mitchell and many others.

Catherine, as Sim puts it, is a pro-cutter for both men and women, and one of the sweetest ladies you could ever meet. After 12 years as a salon owner in the Palos Verdes area, Catherine traveled throughout many countries studying the various styles and trends at each stop.

Finally, meet Lisa, Sim and Friends resident nail expert. Sim starts this introduction by saying, "It was a lucky day for Carmel when this beautiful and talented nail artist moved to this area." Lis is a specialist in all areas of nail sculpture and design and is constantly attending nail seminars to keep abreast of this rapidly expanding art.

And remember, Sim and Friends, located on the upper level of Carmel Plaza, is a full-service salon featuring the Wolff Tanning System, facials, waxing and the most complete selection of retail products in Carmel.

Call Tammie at 624-1570 for an appointment with Sim or any of his talented friends. You'll walk away looking beautiful.

What better way to recapture a bit of the old-fashioned Christmas than to wrap up something old like an antique or collectible from Front Row Center.

At Front Row Center, shopping is as much fun as giving, because owners Kate Holland and Anne Geeck have put together such an incredible variety of merchandise. There are no ho-hum gifts here.

"The idea is that you don't have to know about or even want to know about antiques or collectibles in order to find a wonderful, unusual gift for someone," Kate explains. "We don't want people to be intimidated or feel like they have to know a lot about antiques to come into the store."

Located at 663 Lighthouse Avenue (next to Bookworks) in Pacific Grove, Front Row Center is the only antique collective in Pacific Grove. As a result, you'll find a large variety of furniture from Victorian times to the '50s — and all at very reasonable prices.

There's also stuffed animals, toys, dolls and European American vintage jewelry and collectibles too numerous to name.

The store is open daily through Christmas or call Kate or Anne at 375-5625.

Top-quality fashions guaranteed to take you through the holidays in style are what you'll find at M'Lady Bruhn, Ocean and San Carlos in Carmel.

There you'll find suits, blazers and skirts by Burberry's, available in the traditional signature plaid, navy blue, gray, red and brown plaid, as well as this season's popular Burberry raincoat.

A great gift idea are Diane Frez dresses. Made of wrinkle-free polyester, these unique dresses are great for traveling and they're guaranteed to fit because one size fits all.

Just in time for the holidays, M'Lady Bruhn has put together a fabulous selection of sweaters from Nannell, IB Diffusion, Joanie Char, as well as cashmeres from Pringle. Available in bright Christmas colors and soft pastels, they make great gifts.

There's also a wide selection of holiday sweaters sparkling with sequins and beadwork. Teamed with M'Lady Bruhn's coordinating silk pants, they make beautiful holiday outfits.

Some other gift ideas include lambswool and suede Shearling coats in long and short styles, jumpsuits and plush terry cloth robes.

Ideas for stocking stuffers include Bon Bons, luxurious hose in a variety of fashion colors; wallets, umbrellas and silk scarves by Burberry's; and belts in many unusual styles by Ginnie Johansen.

No matter what the season, you can depend on personalized, one-on-one customer service at M'Lady Bruhn as well as a no-hassle Green Frog return policy which states, "If by chance this doesn't fit or the color makes you look green like a little frog...please bring it back."

Other conveniences are fast, free gift wrapping and free alterations.

There's really no reason to shop anywhere else. Store hours are 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday (Fridays until 7:30 p.m.) and 10:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Sundays.

M'LADY BRUHN has top-quality fashions and traditional suits, blazers and skirts by Burberry's as well as a fabulous selection of sweaters.

GEPETTO'S at The Crossroads is a wonderland of toys, and is THE adoption center for Cabbage Patch Kids and Furskin Bears. They also carry imported handcrafted gifts and collectibles, including a large porcelain doll collection and a wide variety of teddy bears and stuffed animals, in short, just about everything for the child (and adult) on your Christmas shopping list.

Gepetto's: Wonderland of toys

Be warned that once you step into Gepetto's at The Crossroads in Carmel, you may never want to leave. Gepetto's is literally a wonderland of toys guaranteed to capture the imagination of children and adults alike.

You'll also find an outstanding collection of imported, handcrafted gifts and collectibles guaranteed to delight even that hard-to-please person on your gift list.

Gepetto's carries a large selection of handcrafted and handpainted Nao-Lladro figurines from Spain, as well as Sorrento design Italian music boxes with Swiss-made Reuge sound systems.

The store also features limited edition pewter sculptures of the Western American genre — all of them signed by the artist and a large selection of paperweights from art deco to traditional design including some by Caithness of Scotland.

New for the holiday season is a collection of magical carousel horses, some of them musical, is a variety of sizes and types. What a treat!

Perhaps Gepetto's is best known for its porcelain doll collection. Handmade in Old World tradition here on the West Coast, each doll is intricately detailed and costumed, and signed and numbered. Along the same lines, you'll also find Harlequin and Pierrot design clowns. Created by several different artisans, these antique reproductions are limited edition and signed.

This holiday season, or anytime, come experience the magic at Gepetto's, 208 in The Crossroads, or give them a call at 625-6162. Christmas hours are 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Friday; 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday; and 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Hilda of Iceland

Local customers and visitors to Carmel can now find those beautiful Icelandic woolens from Hilda Ltd. that were once only available in select department stores.

New on Ocean Avenue (between San Carlos and Dolores streets), this Hilda Ltd. store is truly one of a kind — the only store devoted exclusively to Hilda Ltd. woolens outside of Iceland, where owners Tom and Hanna Holton make their home.

"In fact, everything about these incredible jackets, sweaters, capes, coats and accessories is unique," says store manager, Diane Swayne.

The secret, you see, is in the sheep. Or more specifically, in their fleece. Introduced into Iceland 1,000 years ago by Vikings, the sheep have evolved a long outer coat for protection against wind and rain, a thick inner fleece for warmth, and a wool rich in moisture and soil resistant lanolin.

The centuries of breeding have produced hundreds of subtle earth and dark sky tones in the wool's color — all natural shades created by mother nature herself. The result is 100 percent natural warmth and beauty, without the weight.

The story behind this highly successful business is just as intriguing, and takes us back to the sheep. Those strange, shaggy looking creatures gave Tom Holton (local boy, Pacific Grove, class of 1950) and his Icelandic-born wife Hanna, the idea to produce beautiful woolens to share with the world. That was nearly 20 years ago, and what began as a "living room operation" has grown to become one of the world's largest cottage industries.

Everything you find at Hilda Ltd. will make you anxious for the least excuse to bundle up in the lightweight, beautiful warmth of these Icelandic woolens. And if it's a fire you want to snuggle by, don't miss the beautiful sheepskin rugs — in natural shades of those "funny looking sheep." You can hardly ask for anything better.

General Manager Diane Swayne invites you to visit Hilda Ltd. from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday and on Sunday from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Other Hilda Ltd. stores include those in San Francisco, Boston, Pittsburgh, and St. Thomas, Virgin Islands.

HANSON GALLERIES offers an exciting and outstanding selection of modern paintings, rare prints, sculptures and original objects d'art. In addition to art, the gallery prides itself on its personable and professional staff. The gallery is located at the corner of Ocean and San Carlos in Carmel.

Fine art prints at Hanson Galleries

Founded in 1974, Hanson Art Galleries is one of the foremost fine art organizations in the United States with locations in Carmel, San Francisco, Sausalito, Los Angeles and New Orleans. The Carmel gallery offers an exciting and outstanding selection of modern paintings, rare prints, sculpture, and original objets d'art.

Hanson Art Galleries is known worldwide as a distributor of signed, limited edition fine art prints created by some of the world's most reknowned artists. Many of the works of Azoulay, Calder, Chagall, Dali, Erte, McKnight, Miro, Neiman, Otsuka, Picasso, Ross, Rothe, Tamayo and Zjawinska are represented exclusively by Hanson Art Galleries.

In addition to rare works by the best names in modern art, Hanson Art Galleries prides itself on the personable and professional staff. Each art consultant in the gallery is very well trained to work with both beginning and experienced collectors. Gallery Director Fred Holmes explains that "our staff takes a tremendous amount of pride in their service. We feel that art collecting should be fun and completely pleasurable. So we're very aware that every potential collector will receive an educational experience to enhance the collecting experience."

So whether you're a visitor to Carmel or an experienced "local," make Hanson Art Galleries an important part of your itinerary. The staff of professionals will be more than happy to share with you the pleasure of enhancing your life through art.

Smith & Hook, where Cabernet is king

Thinking of serving red wine for holiday entertaining and celebrating? Then you need to know about the Cabernet Sauvignon produced by Soledad winery Smith & Hook.

Producing the best red wine possible is the goal at Smith & Hook because that's all they produce. To ensure the highest quality, Smith & Hook grow their own grapes in their 15-year-old vineyard, age the wine in small oak barrels for two years, bottle it and age it for an additional year.

Apparently the hard work is beginning to pay off for this six-year-old winery because Smith & Hook's 1981-82 Cabernet Sauvignon captured several medals this year, including a gold at the West Coast Wine Competition in Reno, a silver at the Riverside fair and a silver at the San Jose Mercury News Wine Tasting.

Business has also been good with the 10,000 cases produced annually distributed throughout California and 17 other states. In fact, business has been so good that six months ago, Smith & Hook began marketing their second label, Polo, a less expensive red wine.

Unfortunately, the people at Gallo wines have a label with a similar name, and although the trademark is cleared, the people at Smith & Hook didn't want to engage in a costly legal battle to win the right to use the Polo label. Instead they are going to change the name and that's where Smith & Hook needs your help. They are asking for you to submit ideas for the new label name.

A prize will be awarded to the one whose idea is chosen. Submit your suggestions to Smith & Hook, Drawer C, Soledad, Calif., 93960, or take them to the winery in person and enjoy a glass of wine in their wine-tasting room. Open 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays and 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on weekends, the winery is located at 37700 Foothill Road. The entrance is adjacent to the old Mission Union School.

"A Family of Stores"

The Company Store: A Forest favorite

Delightful and delicious gifts are what you'll find in the cozy, country atmosphere of The Company Store at The Lodge at Pebble Beach.

Great gift ideas this Christmas are pre-packaged or made-to-order gift baskets filled with all sorts of tempting goodies like meats, cheeses, wines, jams or candies.

Speaking of candies, The Company Store has some adorable ceramic Santa Claus and snowman figurines filled with goodies, as well as all-candy wreaths.

For the discriminating palate, the gourmet section includes sauces, toppings, oils, vinegars, a full line of mustards, jams, jellies, candies, cookies and Hillside Gourmet and Jamaica Blue Mountain coffees.

The deli section features a large selection of meats and cheeses, as well as mouthwatering sweets from Creme de la Creme. They also offer party and hors d'oeuvre trays to help with your holiday entertaining.

The liquor department features a large selection of California and imported wines and liquers as well as the popular Pebble Beach lable champagne, Chardonnay, Cabernet and Sauvignon Blanc.

Other gift ideas include sweatshirts with Christmas designs or the Pebble Beach logo, as well as picnic baskets, aprons, pot holders, logo-designed glassware and accessories.

There's even a grocery section including cold beer, soft drinks, a produce department and a full selection of sundry items, and for your convenience the store is open 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. every day. During the holidays, or anytime of the year, The Company Store is truly everything you could want in a store and much, much more.

CARMEL DOLL Shop and Hospital offers the ever-popular Cabbage Patch dolls as well as the new Rambo and Karate Kid dolls and hundreds of accessories. They also carry antique dolls, which is their specialty. They're located at Lincoln and Ocean at the rear of the Court of the Golden Eagle in Carmel. Call them at 624-2607.

Nothing like a doll to make a child smile

There's nothing like a doll to make a little girl's eyes sparkle on Christmas morning and when it comes to dolls there's no place quite like the Carmel Doll Shop and Hospital.

Of course you'll find the popular Cabbage Patch dolls here as well as the latest in costumes including Rambo and Karate Kid as well as doctor, nurse and clown outfits. There are sailor, ballerina, bikini and Santa outfits, too, complete with accessories.

In fact, shop owners Harvey and Adrienne Zisser are giving away a Cabbage Patch bride and groom doll set as first prize in a drawing to be held Dec. 20. Three other prizes, Madame Alexander "Elise," "Scarlett," and "Ballerina" dolls will also be awarded. Anyone, including children, may register. You need not be present to win.

Speaking of Madame Alexander dolls, The Carmel Doll Shop has one of the largest selections in the state.

Antique dolls are really the specialty here and you'll find a large selection of French and German models. These include Brus, Jumeaux and French S.F.B.J. character dolls as well as K star R, and Kestner German dolls.

Carmel Doll Shop has baby doll layettes, high chairs and baby buggies, too, as well as stuffed animals and stocking stuffers.

The Zissers also give appraisals on the value of dolls as well as giving old dolls a new lease on life with their "doll hospital" repair service.

This Christmas, put a sparkle in your little girl's eyes with a visit to the Carmel Doll Shop and Hospital. Located in the rear of the Court of the Golden Eagle on Lincoln Street near Ocean Avenue in Carmel, the store is open 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily. The phone number is 624-2607.

SEVEN SEAS is THE name for handcarved sculptures, including beautiful Anri woodcarvings, shorebirds by Jospeh Morin and stoneware sculpture by John H. Seymour. But that's not all, there's also trays and trivets from Charles Wysocki and music boxes by Pauline Ralph. One of the few reamining "Old Carmel" stores, you can find them at Dolores and 7th in Carmel.

Seven Seas offers imported sculptures

Imported handcarved sculptures are just a few of the outstanding gifts you'll find at Seven Seas, located on Dolores Street near Seventh in Carmel.

For 31 years, Bruce and Olive Grimes have been supplying locals and visitors to Carmel with beautiful Anri woodcarvings. This year is no exception: the Grimes have an extensive collection, including several from the Ferrandiz line. And, they'll even be able to tell you how the carvings are made because they've toured Anri's European factory and met the master carvers themselves.

Seven Seas other featured carvings include Shorebirds by Joseph Morin and stoneware sculpture by John H. Seymour. These durable animal sculptures are suitable for outdoor or indoor display.

Trays and trivets in Charles Wysocki's American Primitive design are another great gift idea, as are the cottage design music boxes by Pauline Ralph. Handmade in England, they are fashioned of wood and other natural materials.

You'll also find a wide selection of paperweights by John Deacons and handcrafted pewter plates and figurines by Hudson.

Throughout Seven Seas, you'll find a wide selection of unusual cards by Suzi Zoo, Gordon Fraser, and Caspari, just to name a few, including boxed Christmas cards.

Wrap up your Christmas gifts in some of the beautiful gift wrap you'll find at Seven Seas, or, if you prefer, have them canned (the Grimes have a canning machine in the store).

Visit Seven Seas, one of the few remaining gift stores of "old Carmel," where old-fashioned quality and service are bywords. The store is open 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday or give the Grimes a call at 624-4128.

QUAIL AND THISTLE has put together a selection of women's separates that mnakes shopping a virtual treasure hunt. Sweaters, vests, handknits, denim skirts, pants and jackets, chalais skirts and even baseball jackets, make the store, which is housed in an old bank building and is filled with antiques and baskets, a true treasure trove. They're at The Lodge at Pebble Beach.*

Quail and Thistle: A true treasure hunt

There's only one thing more fun than Christmas and that's Christmas shopping at the Quail and Thistle, located in The Lodge at Pebble Beach.

For 18 years owners Diane Daube-Ditty and Mel Yocum have put together a selection of women's separates that virtually make shopping a treasure hunt.

One of the best finds this time of year are the pullover style Christmas sweaters and vests. Red with black trim on the bottom, the front of the vest features a Christmas tree, complete with gold trim and star, Santa's pouch with gifts spilling out and snowflakes. The back of the vest shows Santa and his reindeer traveling through the sky by the light of a full moon. The sweaters have a hearth with stockings attached and a chimney pocket. They're simply irresistable and guaranteed to disappear by Christmas.

Sweaters, especially fun sweaters, are a specialty at Quail and Thistle and Diane (pronounced Dion) features handknits from several companies. You'll find lace-trimmed sweaters, oversized sweaters featuring Mother Goose, Cinderella and other storybook characters, and sweaters with handmade ceramic buttons in the shape of tigers, zebras or fish.

Quail and Thistle also carries a full selection of denim skirts, pants and jackets, as well as chalais skirts and baseball jackets fashioned from antique quilts.

But it's not just the clothes that make shopping at Quail and Thistle fun — it's the shop itself. Housed in a former bank building (the fitting rooms are actually the vault), the shop features a beautiful bay window (a perfect place for husbands to perch while you shop), and a warm decor created with antiques and baskets. As a special treat this holiday season, the shop will be ablaze with pink azaleas.

Then there's the friendly, helpful sales people, dedicated to giving you lots of personal service.

Make Christmas shopping a treasure hunt at Quail and Thistle. They're open 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday; 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday.

You want movies?? MVM Video's got 'em

This holiday season, how about getting together as a family and watching a movie from MVM Video?

Of course you'll find all the latest movie releases in the inventory of more than 700 tapes, but because MVM is a family video store you'll also find an especially complete selection of movies for children and families. The folks at MVM will even give you popcorn to enjoy along with the movie.

For Christmas gifts, MVM has a special selection of movies for sale including "Beverly Hills Cop," "White Christmas," several Walt Disney movies, as well as exercise videos.

Another great gift idea or stocking stuffer is the $20 discount card which allows the holder to rent 10 movies.

MVM also sells video accessories such as head cleaner and blank tapes, and rents video cassette recorders.

Call MVM at 624-2270 or stop by the store located in Mid-Valley Shopping Center (across from the Valley Cinema). Hours are 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday through Thursday or 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday.

MVM VIDEO not only has an inventory of 700 of the top videptapes, but also offers a complete selection of movies for children and families. The folks at MVM will even give you popcorn to go with the movies! For Christmas gifts what could be nicer than finding "Beverly Hills Cop" or "White Christmas" in your stocking. Call 624-2270 or drop by the store at the Mid-Valley Shopping Center.*

TRIGGER HILL is the place to go when it comes to firearms, because the folks there are technicians first, merchants second, combining an extensive background with a wide selection, reportedly the largest in the Central Coast area, making it the most comprehensive service available to the sportsman or collector on your shopping list. Drop in at 1162 Market St. in Salinas.

Trigger Hill: Knowledge and supply

If you or someone you know is a collector of firearms, then you need to know about Trigger Hill, a shop in Salinas specializing in antique guns and collectibles.

The folks at Trigger Hill are technicians first and merchants second with 25 years' experience in technical fields such as gunsmithing, museum restoration and display, machine technology, and antique and collectible firearms research.

They combine this background with market knowledge and a broad source of supplies to provide you with the most comprehensive service available for virtually every aspect of firearms interests.

Best of all, their extremely knowledgeable and friendly staff is available seven days per week to trade, appraise, buy, sell and accept firearms on consignment. They'll also be glad to show you the largest selection of firearms in the Central California area (they have more than 300 in stock).

Location at 1162 S. Main St. in Salinas, Trigger Hill is open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday; noon to 5 p.m. on Sunday. Stop by or give them a call at 757-1188.

A stitch in time for the holidays

If you're thinking of stitching up your Christmas gifts this year, then you need to know about the exceptional fabrics available at Saks Fabrics in Salinas.

There the emphasis is on providing the highest quality fabrics as well as unusual or hard-to-find materials such as imported woolens, ultrasuedes, silks and top-of-the-line polyester blends, just to name a few.

If you have questions or need a little help, the staff of Saks Fabrics is more than able to help. All of them are excellent seamstresses producing more than 80 percent of their own clothes.

For even more help, Saks offers one-day classes on a variety of subjects such as blazers, sewing with ultrasuedes or furs. For the beginner, basic sewing classes are ongoing.

Finally, Saks also sells and services (Harry Curtz is their expert repairman) sewing machines by Elna of Switzerland, Riecar, and White, both of Japan. Models range from basic to top-of-the-line.

If you sew, you'll love Saks. The store, at 914 S. Main (next to the Baby News store) is open 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday; 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday.

SAKS FABRICS in Salinas puts the emphasis on the highest quality fabrics as well as unusual or hard-to-find materials such as imported woolens, ultrasuedes, silks and top-of-the-line polyester blends. Also for children, there's a fabulous selection of classic books and educational toys and games, as well as motif and cartoon school supplies.

For gifts or entertaining, Surf 'n' Sand offers an extensive selection of domestic and imported wines, featuring many local varietals such as Durney, Jekel, Chateau Julien, and the miniature liquers you'll find make great stocking stuffers.

Some other gift ideas are lanterns, candles and gorgeous decorator baskets by Palocek, as well as a wide selection of gourmet goodies and accessories for the book at your house.

No time to shop? Well, Sandy and her staff can take care of that, too. They'll be glad to do some shopping for you by putting together a gift basket of some of the wonderful things they carry in the store.

Of course there's beautiful gift wrap and ribbon available, as well as a wide variety of boxed and individual Christmas cards, festive placemats, napkins and table accessories for the holidays.

For your shopping convenience, there's lots of parking right in front of the store and very flexible hours. They're open 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. 365 days a year. This holiday season, discover why Surf 'N Sand is the greatest drugstore in Carmel.

Swing into holidays at the Back Pocket

You can get into the swing of the holiday season or find a fabulous gift with the new upbeat fashions for men at The Back Pocket on San Carlos between 5th and 6th in Carmel.

There's a whole new fashion flavor in store for you, and some great ways to dress for festive holiday parties and dinners. You'll find tweeds, double breasted gabardine blazers, Raffenate sport coats and dress slacks by Fiano Pardini, as well as classic dress shirts by Hathaway and Sero, and sports shirts by Basic Elements, Lauren Scott and Bon Homme. Sweaters to suit every occasion in various colors and styles will appeal to any age or fashion preference. Coats and jackets are by Authentic, Members Only and Rocky Coast.

Okay, ladies, start lining up. The Back Pocket also carries some wonderful accessory items to make stocking stuffers, such as silk handkerchiefs, argyle socks, wool knit Talbott ties and assorted colognes and aftershaves.

The Back Pocket is also moving into some new lines like the Green Line collection, which features pleated, casual slacks in lightweight blends and sport tops in solids and stripes. It's a fairly conservative fashion look that appeals to all age groups.

You'll also find some great casual fashions such as Guess jeans and Provision pants — for looking good while you dash around town.

As part of the Bruhn family of fine stores, The Back Pocket also offers the unique "Green Frog return policy," which basically says: "If it's not right for you, bring it back!"

Check out what's new at The Back Pocket; manager Tom Noble and his staff will give you fabulous, personal service with a smile from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday, and from 11 a.m. until 5 p.m. on Sunday.

Shelley and Mom: A mother-daughter team

Shopping at Shelley and Mom is a real treat, not only because of the original design gifts you'll find there, but because you can actually watch this mother-daughter team at work.

Looking through a window, you'll see them sewing like elves in Santa's workshop to produce the beautiful appliqued and soft-sculpture items that fill the store.

Of course, everything in the store is beautiful, but it's the wall hangings that are most eye-catching. In a variety of colors and always-new designs, Shelley Aliotti and her mom Virginia (Ginny) Smith, create a three-dimensional effect by leaving parts of the soft-sculpture (like the flipper on a whale) hanging loose.

You'll also find coordinating appliance covers, aprons, and pot holders; pillows; tote bags; and a new line of appliqued vests for ladies and children.

For kids only, there are quilts, hooded towels and wash puppets.

Literally everything in the store can be custom-made in materials or sizes of your choice, or can be personalized with names or dates. Great for wedding gifts are Shelly and Mom pillows, personalized with the couple's name and wedding date.

The idea for the creations began with Shelley, an artist and avid seamstress, who started making hooded towels as gifts for children.

At Christmas, or any time of the year, you'll be able to find new and different gift ideas at Shelley and Mom, because they are constantly coming up with beautiful new creations.

Visit the store from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday through Thursday, and 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Friday and Saturday. Treat yourself or someone you love to something from Shelley and Mom.

SHELLEY AND Mom offer a real treat because you can not only find original wall hangings and quilted items, but you can watch this talented mother-daughter team in action. Shelley Alliotti and Virginia Smith are the dynamic duo and you can find them above the Outrigger at 700 EE Cannery Row.

Scotch House: A bit of old country

Can't decide what to buy the Scotsman (or woman) in your life? Wrap up a bit of the old country with an authentic Scottish gift from Scotch House, located in The Barnyard in Carmel.

There you'll find the largest stock of men's and women's Scottish-made sweaters in the country including traditional shetlands, lambswool and Ballantyne cashmere in one-, two- and four-ply. There are also some beautiful handknits from Ireland and England.

For men there are hats, tartan scarves and ties featuring several of the Scottish clans. For ladies, the always classic kilts and pleated skirts. It seems there's something for everyone here.

The true Scotsman will be especially pleased because Scotch House supplies Highland dress — from the kilts and kilk jackets to the Sporran, Dirk, Skean Dhuf and plate.

But, Scotch House offers much more than clothing. There are specialty items like pith helmets (designed by Lord Kitchener for the British Army to wear in India), the collector's item Marlborough military models (handpainted miniature tin soldiers from Wales), Buchan handpainted stoneware from Scotland, Pimpernel placemats and coasters, along with bagpipe records, tapes and equipment, and books on Scotland and England.

Discover the old country at Scotch House. Holiday hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday, and 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday.

SCOTCH HOUSE has the largest selection of mens and womens Scottish-made sweaters, including shetlands, lambswool, and Ballantyne cashmere in one, two, or four-ply. They carry not only hats and scarves, but kilts and kilt jackets, as well as specialty items such as pith helmets and handpainted stoneware. Find them at The Barnyard.

Polo Ralph Lauren: Variety & selection

Whether it's a Christmas gift for someone special, or just the right ensemble for a festive holiday gathering, the Carmel Polo/Ralph Lauren Shop has an excellent selection of Polo for men and Ralph Lauren for women for any holiday season occasion.

"We're really pleased with the selection and variety of clothing available for the Christmas season," said Carmel store manager Tim Young.

The Carmel Polo/Ralph Lauren Shop, located at the corner of Mission and Sixth, across the street from the fire station, is featuring a variety of silk blouses and skirts with matching scarves in beautiful maroon, gray and burnt orange colors. Also featured are new items from Ralph Lauren's 1985 Cruise Collection for women including flamingo print skirts and jackets and cardigans in a variety of colors.

The men's collection features a fine selection of suiting and sport coats which can be special ordered in favorite fabrics, colors and styles. New clothing being featured from the Cruise Collection includes Hawaiian print sweatshirts, madras plaid shorts and striped chambray and plaid pants.

These and many other fine items, including jewelry, fragrances, luggage, shoes and much more can all be found at the Carmel Polo/Ralph Lauren Shop. For more information contact Tim Young, Polo/Ralph Lauren, (408) 625-0562.

CARMEL POLO Ralph Lauren shop not only offers the world-renowned Polo line of clothing (from shirts to shoes), but also jewelry fragrances, luggage, and accessories. New items include print shirts and jackets from the Cruise Collection. You'll find the store at Mission and 6th across from the Carmel Fire Station.

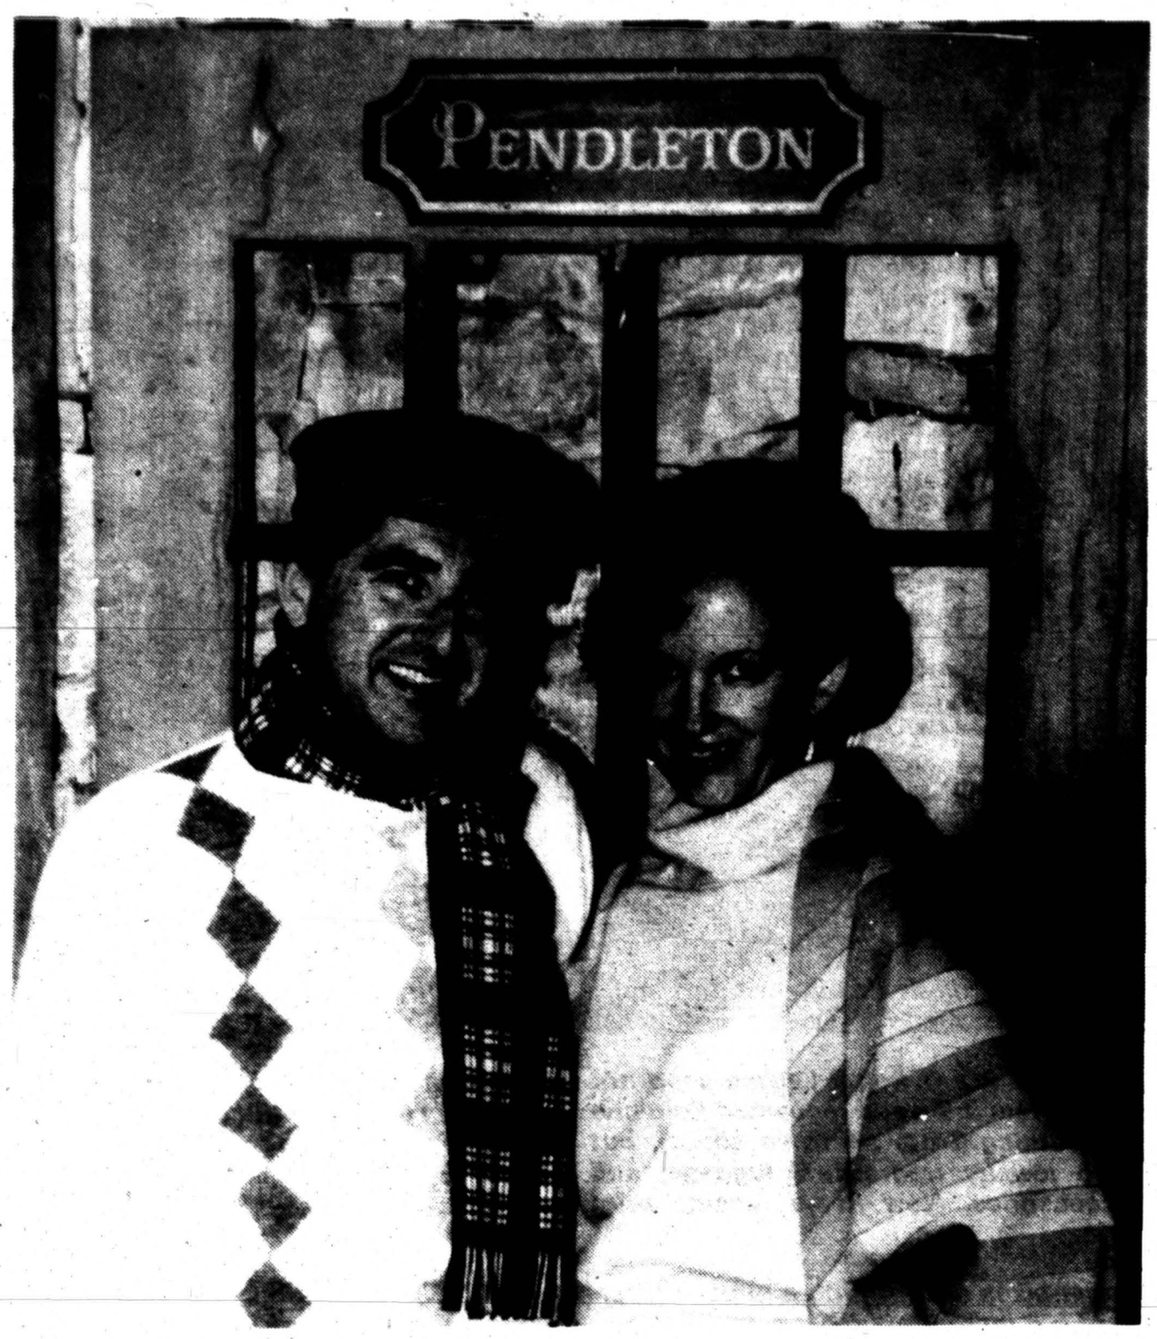
Gift Guide



CARMEL PENDLETON offers an eye-catching array of wool clothing, including sweaters and skirts for women, and shirts, pants and sports jackets for men, all carrying the world-famous Pendleton label of course. Treat yourself or a loved one to Pendleton this Christmas.

Capture the spirit with Pendleton wools

It's Christmas and Carmel Pendleton at Sixth and San Carlos has captured the spirit of the season with an eye-catching selection of separates for men and women. Beautiful wool clothes sure to please that special someone on Christmas morning.

For ladies, there are sweaters and skirts in holiday pastels — delicious colors like sky blue, jewel plaid, jewel green and French plum. There are also trench coats, cuffed trousers and newly-proportioned linear blazers.

By tradition, Pendleton is once again featuring authentic Scottish tartans, but, this year, they're available in a variety of beautiful colors and textures just right for holiday dressing.

Men will find shirts (including the plaid Pendleton is so famous for), pants, sport jackets and a marvelous selection of sweaters including a giant black and white argyle as well as an abstract argyle pattern.

The clothes are beautiful, but, best of all, they carry the Pendleton label — a label that represents the highest quality in 100 percent wool products.

This Christmas, treat yourself or someone you love to Pendleton woolens.

Signatures: Exclusive fashions

If you're a woman who loves high fashion clothing, you'll love Signatures, located on San Carlos and Seventh in Carmel.

Exclusive clothing manufactured under Signatures' own label, is perfect for holiday dressing or gift-giving.

There are two-piece outfits in fine silk, as well as beautiful beaded dresses, perfect for holiday parties.

And, for those cold Carmel nights, wrap yourself or someone you love in a luxurious, stylish fur coat. Made of mink, beaver, or fox, the coats, in long and short models, are always exclusive, one-of-a-kind designs.

This season, Signatures has put together one of its most exciting collections of hand-made sweaters in European and American designs. Priced from $250.

Great clothes mean little without customer service, but there's no need to worry. Signatures offers friendly and very personal service. Let them help you go put together the perfect holiday outfit — one that's guaranteed to get you noticed.

Signatures is open 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday; 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Sunday.

CATS, is a new store in The Crossroads that pays special attention to color and comfort; many of the styles are made of cotton and cotton blends, in all colors and styles, from bright to muted, flashy or subdued. Cats is also dedicated to producing happy, as well as fashionable customers.

Cats: For purr-fect fashions

Cats, a new store in The Crossroads, has comfortable, fashionable clothing you just can't wait to get into.

Located across from Rodier Paris, Cats is the only store in Carmel to carry clothing by Laise Adzer, a Moroccan line of garments in easy-care cotton and cotton blends.

You'll also find fashionable, soft knits by Rosemary Brantley and the latest in sweaters, cardigans and full-cut stirrup pants by Marie Koutskikou of New York, just to name a few.

Best of all, Cats offers fashions in a wide range of colors, recognizing that not everyone looks great in this fall's popular fuschia and royal blue. You see, Cats pays close attention to color, providing a great selection of clothes for every color season.

For accessories, Cats offers Laise belts in six styles. These wide belts made of brass and silver on leather are a fashion essential for fall — they look wonderful with just about anything. You'll also find Joseph Boris' handcrafted belts in silver and brass, along with a large selection of necklaces and bracelets.

Great merchandise means little without customer service, but there's no need to worry. Cats is dedicated to producing happy, as well as fashionable customers.

You own it to yourself to stop by Cats. Special holiday hours for your convenience.

Marielle: Beauty solution

In a dilemma over what to buy the woman who has everything? Marielle in The Barnyard in Carmel has a beauty of a solution: gift certificates for a variety of personal services to help that special woman to look and feel her best.

During the hectic holiday rush (or any time of the year), Marielle's "A Day of Beauty" is a special treat. The five-hour regimen begins with a deep cleansing facial, followed by a relaxing body massage, French pedicure, a manicure, hair treatment and styling, and a makeup consultation and application. There's even time for a snack of fresh fruit, yogurt and herb tea. It's truly a day to remember.

For the younger lady, there's the three-hour teenage beauty package which includes a facial, hair treatment and cut, and makeup application.

Beauty care classes are also available for individuals interested in skin care, makeup, hair and color consulting.

You see, Marielle and her eight-member staff have built a reputation as a full-service beauty salon, dedicated to making you look and feel great. Call 625-5588 today for an appointment or gift certificate information.

MERONA believes that comfort doesn't mean you have to sacrifice style. From its inception in 1978 they have combined 100 percent natural fibers and contemporary colors and stylings to produce clothes that are comfortable yet stylish.

New for the holidays is a line of "cruise wear," featuring bright colors and easy-to-care cotton fabric. They're located directly across the Lodge at Pebble Beach.

Merona: Style and comfort

Can clothes be stylish and comfortable at the same time? At Merona, located directly across from The Lodge at Pebble Beach, the answer is a resounding "yes."

From its inception in 1978, Merona has been successfully combining 100 percent natural fibers and contemporary styling to produce clothes that are as comfortable as they are stylish. But, there's even more good news: what began as a five-piece collection for men has grown to include fashions for women and children, too.

New for the holidays is a line of cruise wear. Designed for mild weather, the clothes come in bright colors and are made of easy-care 100 percent cotton.

There's Merona for Sports, a line of sweats and sportswear for the man the woman on the move, and for the less active, Merona Sportswear, a casual line of weekend wear.

The company's fall collection features a beautiful collection of sweaters in 100 percent cotton or wool, and cotton-wool blends.

You'll also find an assortment of practical, yet stylish accessories including machine washable heavy canvas tote bags, biking-style hats in solid colors and patterns, as well as ladies 100 percent Italian leather shoes in mostly casual and some dressy styles. Here again the emphasis is on comfort.

The atmosphere at Merona is as comfortable as the clothing with a customer-oriented staff waiting to serve you. Stop in for a visit from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily.

Kazoos to pianos, Abinante has it all

Christmas is a joyful time, a time for music. This holiday season, for all your musical needs, from kazoos to grand pianos visit Abinante Music, 425 Alvarado St., Monterey.

If you're looking for holiday sheet music, Abinante's has it, ranging from the traditional to the contemporary. In fact, they boast the largest selection of sheet music south of San Francisco, so there's music for virtually every instrument and every sound under the sun from classical to pop, as well as a variety of instructional materials.

They carry a large selection of musical instruments and accessories including Carlos, Yamaha, Fender and Ovation guitars, C.B., Yamaha, Ludwig and Gretsch drums, band instruments, amplifiers and synthesizers.

In the keyboard department, Abinante's is well-stocked, able to provide you with everything from electric keyboards to grand pianos and organs. Featured brands include Steinway, Kawai and Wurlitzer.

Also, it's worth noting, Abinante's provides all the technical services necessary for keeping your instrument in perfect tune.

Abinante's friendly and knowledgeable staff (most of them professional musicians) are waiting to serve you. Stop by from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday; or 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday or call them at 372-5893. Gift certificates are available.

Dream weavers: Navajo rug exhibit

Christmas isn't the only big event happening this December on the Monterey Peninsula. There's also the third annual Navajo Rug Exhibition, Dec. 8-10 in the San Carlos Room at the Monterey Sheraton.

Presented by Becky Hammond and associates, the show features 200 of this year's best rugs by famous weavers such as Nanabah Harrison and Alice Begay, as well as promising young artisans.

This collection includes the best rugs from three trading posts (at trading post prices), award-winning rugs from the 1985 Inter-Tribal Indian Ceremonial, as well as creations from weavers who have worked with Becky since she lived on the Navajo Reservation from 1977 until 1982.

Woven rugs have been a Navajo tradition for more than 300 years. During that time the structure of the simple non-mechanical upright loom has remained virtually unchanged, yet the weaving quality and the intricacy of the patterns have steadily improved.

There are no knots in a Navajo rug and the pattern is usually identical on both sides. Each rug is unique and takes several months to complete.

Unique to this particular show are the number of large weavings — the most ever assembled in the Bay Area. Large rugs are quite rare because it often takes a weaver a year or more to complete one.

Becky Hammond, a recognized authority and lecturer on contemporary weaving, has been presenting shows since 1978, and is currently writing a book about famous Navajo weavers. She will be sharing her insights in a series of lectures scheduled for 7:30 p.m. each night in the San Carlos Ballroom. The lectures and exhibitions, set for noon to 9 p.m. daily, are free to the public.

The show will also feature a large selection of Zuni carved table fetishes and fetish jewelry, plus sterling silver Navajo and Hopi jewelry.

NAVAJO RUGS will be the featured attraction at the third annual Navajo Rug Exhibition, Dec. 8-10 at the San Carlos Ballroom at the Monterey Sheraton. The show features 200 of this year's best rugs by famous weavers such as Nanbah Harrison and Alice Begay. Becky Hammond, an authority on contemporary weaving, will be presenting the show.

Village Golf Shop for the avid golfer

Need some winning gift ideas for the golfer in your life? You'll find just about everything you can imagine (except a hole-in-one) at the Village Golf Shop, located in Del Dono Court (corner of Fifth Avenue and Dolores Street near the Post Office) in Carmel.

Owners Larry and Belle James have stocked the store well with a $60,000 inventory of clothes, accessories, and gifts with a golf motif (there are a few for the tennis player, too). There are gifts of pewter, cookie tins, tees, candy, pot holders, bookends and even some gorilla head covers that are so ugly they're cute.

In the clothing department, you'll find a full selection of fashionable golf wear for men and women by Aureus, Izod, Leon Levin, David Smith, and Vogin of Scottsdale. Featured for Christmas are T. Barry Knickers in every conceivable color, pattern and texture. They're not only great for golfing, but for bicycling and cross-country skiing, too. Shoes are by Foot Joy and Dexter.

Some great stocking stuffers are argyle knee socks by Byford and the popular Golf Tee Trivia.

The store is open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on weekends. During the holidays, the shop will be open until 9 p.m. on Fridays.

Sculpt your likeness by special computer

Fine sculpture by computer. Impossible, you say? Not at Echo where art is fast becoming a science.

At Echo, located at 2062 Sunset Drive in Pacific Grove (right across from Hayward Lumber), bronze busts, the kind artists have been chiseling and carving for centuries, are produced with the convenience and speed of portrait photography.

It works like this: the subject poses in front of a specially designed camera in a darkened studio. In 15 seconds, as the seat (a potter's wheel) turns around once, the camera makes 500,000 measurements of the shape of the person's head and shoulders.

The measurements are instantly stored in a computer's memory and the computer then uses these measurements to control a precision machine which carves the sculpture from a solid block of material. The result is a bust that's as perfect in likeness as a photograph — an echo of you.

Developed by locals Lloyd Addleman, a retired electrical engineer; his wife Pat, a freelance artist and photographer; and son David, a computer programmer, the invention is the only one of its kind in the world and is literally causing a revolution among sculptors, plastic surgeons and many others. As the process is refined, the applications seem to keep growing.

The finished busts, available in one to three weeks, are cast in bronze or bronze finish and are available in sizes from three inches high to life-size. They are mounted on a base of marble or wood.

What a perfect gift for the person who has everything. Call 373-6224 or 373-1441 for an appointment or information on gift certificates. The studio is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

ECHO OFFERS fine sculpturing by computer. Yes, computer. Bronze busts are rendered as lifelike as possible because the computer takes 500,000 measurements directly from your likeness and translates that to a solid block of material. The sculptures are available from three inches high to life-size. Call 373-6224 or 373-1441 for appointment or information.

Prima Facie means personalized service

High quality clothing coupled with a unique concept in completely personalized service, should put Prima Facie at the top of your list of favorite shops.

At Prima Facie, located on the north side of Fifth Avenue, between Junipero and Mission in Carmel, you're not only a client, but an honored guest. The store's limousine service is available for private transportation to appointments and you'll receive complimentary refreshments while you view the latest in European fashions for men and women.

Other services include wardrobe consultation and a private updated client file which includes tailoring measurements, custom patterns, appointment schedules, wardrobe profile and charge account service.

At Prima Facie, the service is equalled only by the quality of the clothing. Here you'll find British, Italian and French designs in all-natural fabrics by Adolpho, Robert Alexander, Evan Picone, Nicole Miller, Radius, Andrew Marc, Dino Baldino, Tony Lambert, Georgio Bianconi, Phillipe Badek and Basco. The styles are timeless to allow for creative and progressive options.

Custom tailored men's and women's suits are also available in your choice of wool, camel hair, cashmere or silk. Still to come are exclusive European and limited edition designs, French design shoes, and computerized custom suits direct from Europe.

As a special gift the shop is offering a $250 credit with each $1,000 purchase.

With Prima Facie in town, there's no need to wear ill-fitting clothes again. Call 625-6500 for an appointment or stop by the shop, open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily.

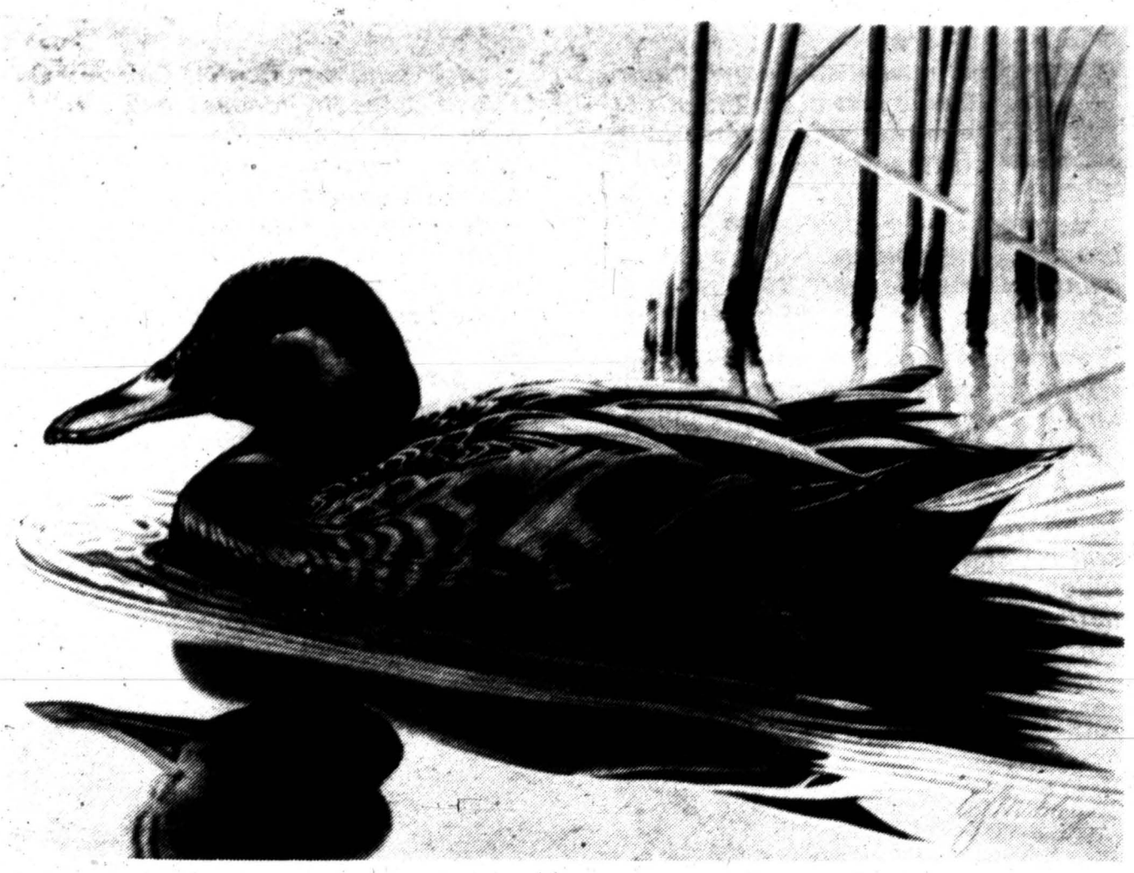
Bird lovers flock to Decoy Gallery



THE DECOY Gallery and Gift Shop has — what else? — the widest selection of waterfowl, gamebirds and songbirds, on a variety of wood carvings, oil paintings, watercolors, and glassware, to name but a few. Ducks? They've got ducks galore, including a wide selection of new and antique duck decoys. They're at the Carmel Plaza, fountain level. Call them at 625-1881.

Beautifully detailed wood carvings, pewter miniatures, fine watercolors, oils, glassware — even fine English bone china — all emblazoned with waterfowl, gamebirds and songbirds, abound at the lovely Decoy Gallery on the fountain level of Carmel Plaza.

Treat yourself to a quick tour around the spacious gallery; you'll be astonished at how many items bear bird motifs! And if the man in your life just happens to be a sportsman, this is the most perfect place to find a gift for any occasion!

The gallery takes its name from genuine duck decoys which repose in a special corner in the shop. Antique decoys, which may cost in excess of $2,000, became an important collector's item some year ago when the prestigious Park-Bernet Galleries first began to auction them as folk art.

Decoys that were carved on the East Coast from the early 1900s to 1932 are most sought after because they were carved by "market hunters," according to gallery owner Bill Toth. Signed decoys by known carvers, those still bearing the original paint and species that were not carved in large numbers are the rarest and most valuable, Bill explains.

Should you want to try your hand at carving a duck decoy, there are basic decoy forms in solid wood just waiting for your embellishment, or do-it-yourself decoy kits, plus paints, a complete line of carving tools and a rather comprehensive library of how-to books.

Watercolorists Jim Killen and William Tyner are among the fine artists represented at the Decoy Gallery.

Fur is the word at Carmel Dress Shop

Gordon and Lucille Winge of the Carmel Dress Shop have a reputation for assembling some of the most beautiful clothing available under one roof, and this holiday season is no disappointment.

This Christmas dress yourself or someone you love in luxurious fur. The Carmel Dress Shop has gorgeous fox-trimmed leather jackets, corded mink jackets that reverse to leather (how beautifully versatile), as well as fox and mink-trimmed dresses, perfect for holiday parties.

There's also a great selection of Lilli Ann dresses in beautiful ultrasuedes and comfortable Castleberry knits, as well as styles by Pierre Cardin.

Check out the gorgeous leather slacks and blazers by Lony G as well as the slacks and skirts by Vivanti.

On cold December days, snuggle up in a warm sweater. The Carmel Dress Shop has a multitude of eye-catching sweaters in a variety of styles and colors. There's at least one just right for you.

Some great ideas for stocking stuffers are Bon Bons, durable, long-wearing hosery from Italy, available in a variety of colors, as well as jewelry by Napier and Christian Dior, colorful scarves, belts and some new and different styles of ultrasueded purses.

Along with the beautiful merchandise comes great customer service (maybe the best in town, Gordon says). Visit the Carmel Dress Shop, located on Ocean Avenue and Dolores Street in Carmel, from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday; noon to 4 p.m. on Sunday, or give them a call at 624-3389.

Cannery Row Fudge Company brought its Michigan-style fudge-making to 700 Cannery Row this September.

President Terri Lunt knows well the enduring appreciation many people have for sweet things such as fudge. Especially fudge.

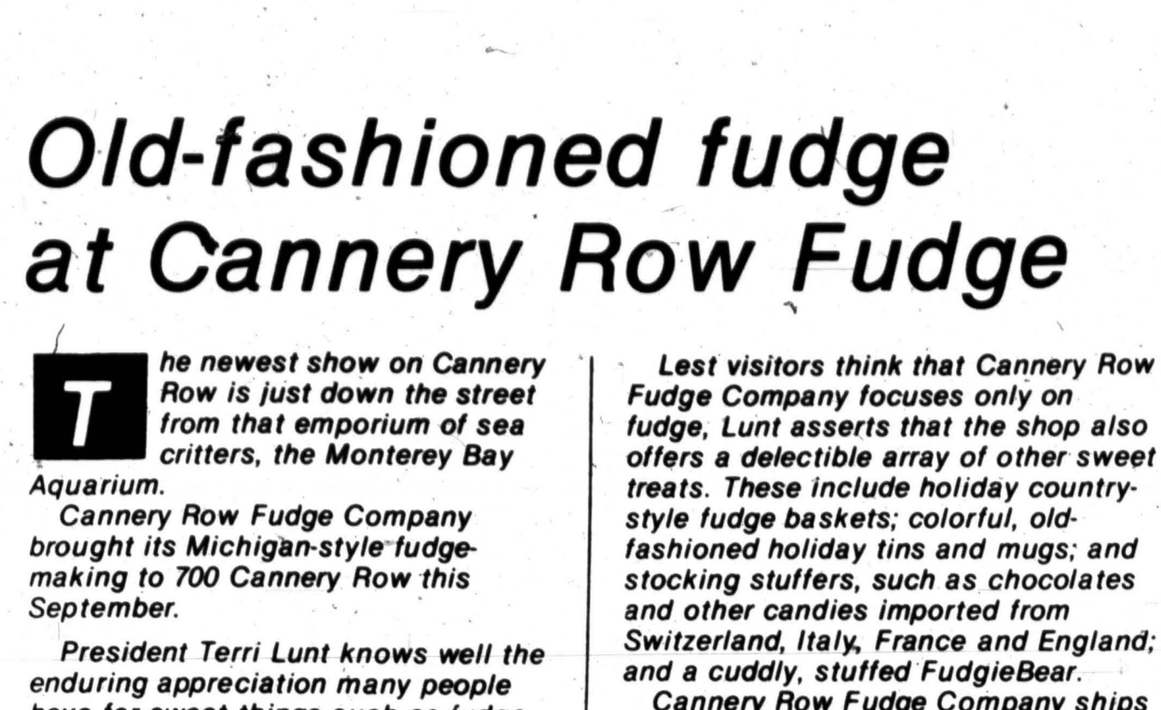
"Our creamy, homemade fudge is made fresh daily in our great copper kettle," she says. "Our old-fashioned fudge recipe uses only the purest, all-natural ingredients, including real dairy butter and fresh cream."

Lest visitors think that Cannery Row Fudge Company focuses only on fudge, Lunt asserts that the shop also offers a delectible array of other sweet treats. These include holiday country-style fudge baskets; colorful, old-fashioned holiday tins and mugs; and stocking stuffers, such as chocolates and other candies imported from Switzerland, Italy, France and England; and a cuddly, stuffed FudgieBear.

Cannery Row Fudge Company ships gift packs anywhere, and encourages people to call for its free mail-order catalog.

Or as Terry Lunt says, "Come see the show for yourself. And be sure to bite off as much as you can chew."

The shop is open daily from 10 a.m. until 9 p.m.



CANNERY ROW Fudge Company brings its Michigan-style fudge-making to Cannery Row using old-fashionbed recipes using only the purest, all-natural ingredients, including real dairy butter and cream, all made in a huge copper kettle. They're located at 700 Cannery Row.

VINTAGE HOUSE is a gourmet specialty shop that shouid be on the top of your shopping list with their full deli, large selection of California and imported wines and gourmet goodies, from pates and cheeses to teas, coffees, jams and jellies. You'll find them at 213 Forest Ave. in Pacific Grove.

It's Vintage House: For tasty gift ideas

When you're thinking of places to do your Christmas shopping, a gourmet specialty shop probably isn't at the top of the list, however Vintage House at 213 Forest Ave. in Pacific Grove is just packed with tasty and unusual gift ideas.

Here you can fill a decorator basket with mouth-watering gourmet goodies such as teas, cheeses, pates, jams or coffees, or, if you're in a hurry, pick up a pre-packaged basket. What a delicious gift idea.

Or, choose a gift from Vintage House's array of select California wines including Carmenet and Sonoma-Cutrer. While you're at it, pick up a few extra bottles for holiday entertaining. Not sure which one to choose? Ask for a sample glass at the store's wine bar.

The full deli features fresh meats, specialty cheeses, pates, coffee beans, teas, as well as a selection of spices. Let the deli staff make your holiday entertaining easier with custom party trays.

You'll find many more edible and non-edible gifts (check out the new line of French-Country style porcelains) at Vintage House. It really does deserve to be at the top of your "places to shop." Give them a call at 649-6091 or stop by the store from 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday, and, during the holidays, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Sundays.

Reyna's devoted to Native American art

REYNA'S GALLERIES, 108 3rd St. in San Juan Bautista is the only art gallery in the area devoted exclusively to Native American artists. Everything from Two Gray Hills tapestries and Apache carvings to Pueblo pottery and Zuni jewelry is housed under one roof at Reyna's. Whether you're a collector or just an admirer it's worth the trip.

Native American art by award-winning artisans is what you'll find at Reyna's Gallerias, 108 Third St. across from La Casa Rosa (the pink house) in San Juan Bautista. In fact it's the only art gallery in the area devoted exclusively to Native American artists.

Owners Sonny and Elaine Reyna, the originators and sponsors of the annual Friends of California Indian Market in San Juan Bautista, a juried invitational fine arts show by award-winning native artists, have put together what has to be one of the best and most extensive collections housed under one roof.

Here you'll find Two Gray Hills tapestries by internationally-known weaver Barbara Teller Ornelas; Apache mountain spirit dancer carvings by Philip Titla; as well as Pueblo pottery; Hopi, Zuni and Navajo jewelry; paintings and limited edition prints; wood, stone and bronze sculptures; Hopi Kachinas; and beadwork in contemporary and traditional designs by California natives Dorothy Young, David Ipina and Gary Markusson.

Featured painters include Navajo Mark Silversmith, the AICA Artist of the Year, Rance Hood, Sheila Hill, Elsa, Simon Nava, Yermo Aranda, Urshel Taylor, and Anthony Honahnie, as well as works by Casein painter Beatien Yazz, a 28-year-old Navajo.

There's also finely-etched vases by Norman Lansing; Commanche wood and bronze sculptures by Wolfhawk; Santa Fe and Acoma pottery by Doroth Torivio and Mary Lowden; soapstone sculptures by Santiago Tofoya; and moccasins and leather work by Carol Kingston.

Whether you're a collector, or simply an admirer of Native American art, you'll enjoy visiting Reyna's Gallerias, open 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily.

Gifts from bygone era at Tancredi & Morgen

Discover Christmas the old-fashioned way, the way it was 150 years ago, with a visit to Tancredi and Morgen, an antique and gift shop next to Quail Lodge in the Valley Hill Center on Carmel Valley Road.

Each year owner Sharon Tancredi turns her charming little shop into an old-fashioned Christmas store, with a special collection of gifts and toys from a bygone era. You'll find handmade teddy bears and authentic antique toys like rocking horses from the late 1800s, Noah's Ark, a Steiff donkey, an old red firetruck, a church with lithographed bricks, and a Bliss stable, just to name a few.

There's also a wonderful selection of carved Santas — perfect for beginning or expanding a collection.

You'll find a great collection of antique furniture (1850 and earlier), because Tancredi and Morgen is a shop specializing in authentic Early American antiques. From large pieces of furniture to small decorating items, everything in the store is hand-picked by Sharon to ensure that it's one-of-a-kind, something you won't find anywhere else.

She combines this excellent selection of antiques with contemporary folk arts and crafts.

Sharon packs a lot of goodies into 500 sq. ft. of shop.

Visit Tancredi and Morgen from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday or call 659-4015 for an appointment and have yourself an old-fashioned Merry Christmas.

Spark your creativity at Creative Spirit

From paper goods to custom-made greeting cards, you'll find everything you need to make the season brighter at Creative Spirit, a contemporary paper goods store, located in The Crossroads in Carmel (adjacent to the Crossroads Cafe).

Here you'll find one of the best selections of greeting cards around, 3 to 4,000 of them to be exact, from some 20 different companies. But, if that's not good enough, Creative Spirit has a computer poet who custom makes greeting cards on the basis of your answers to several questions. You'll love the results, but wouldn't Shakespeare be horrified?

If you're planning a party, get some inspiration from the people of Creative Spirit. They just love helping people produce creative, well-coordinated parties using the store's wide selection of invitations, paper plates, napkins and streamers. For the finishing touches, there are confetti and balloons (Creative Spirit even has a helium tank to fill them).

For the holidays, there are lots of boxed Christmas cards, gift wrap, tags and bows, as well as paper plates and napkins in a Christmas motif.

You'll also find some great stocking stuffers here, including colorful sidewalk chalk for children, pens, pencils, rubber stamps and stickers.

Visit the store from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. every day or call for an appointment at 625-5637. Let the friendly folks at Creative Spirit spark the creativity in you.

CREATIVE SPIRIT offers everything from paper goods, such as napkins, paper plates and decorations to a full line of greeting cards, more than 3,000 of them! If you're planning a party or just sending a card, Creative Spirit is the place to be, at The Crossroads, or call them at 625-5637.

The focus is on Carmel Camera Center

Whether you need a new camera or simply a repair; film developed or portraits taken, Carmel Camera Center at the corner of Fifth and San Carlos has what you need.

If you're in the market for a new camera, don't buy until you visit Carmel Camera Center. Owner Dave Muston offers the best selection of cameras in the area with all makes and brands available, and, best of all, he guarantees great prices.

"We're Monterey County's number one discount camera store because we care about the customer and we give the best service and guaranteed lowest prices," Dave says.

Muston believes in individual attention because he wants his customers to be satisfied with their camera purchase, so he has put together a highly trained staff just to help you figure out which camera will best suit your particular needs. You see, Muston knows that the best-selling camera on the market is not necessarily the best one for you.

To complement your purchase, there's a great selection of camera lenses and accessories as well as a camera repair service.

Carmel Camera Center also houses a one-hour processing lab where they guarantee the best quality prints. You'll also be able to get a four-by-six-inch jumbo prints as well as enlargements in as little as two hours.

There's still more — a portrait studio offering high-quality portraits with prints ready the next day! (It's still not too late to send pictures along with those Christmas cards.)

Carmel Camera Center is open 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday with gift certificates available.
